Parochial Colleges Get Support from Carter

President Jimmy Carter gave strong backing to church-sponsored colleges and universities in a late December meeting with representatives of 17 denominations involved in Christian higher education.

Elder Frederick E. J. Harder, executive secretary of the Board of Higher Education for the General Conference, reports that the President expressed concern about the future of church-related colleges.

"Mr. Carter told us that our schools have not always been understood or appreciated by the public," Elder Harder said. "He encouraged us to use him and his name as an endorsement of Christian education."

Elder Harder noted that religiously affiliated colleges and universities represent about 800 of the total 3,000 institutions of higher education in the United States. The 13 Seventh-day Adventist colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada have a total enrollment of nearly 19,000 students. Of that number, 2,000 are at Pacific Union College and 4,871 are enrolled on both campuses of Loma Linda University.

Lord's Day Alliance Works for Law Passage

For the past two years the Lord's Day Alliance (LDA) has been putting forth strenuous efforts to gain passage of a national Sunday law. The call for and the need of preparation for strategy to accomplish their goal was made at their annual meeting.

Last spring, President Jimmy Carter was urged to consider an executive appeal to curtail unessential business activity to six days a week on a permanent basis. Another suggestion was passage of a national "Common Day of Rest Act." Sunday law forces have moved from using a religious tone to one which apparently deals with the social, health, and welfare aspects.

The appeal was made quickly on the heels of President Carter's energy crisis speech. It was suggested that such a national Sunday law would resolve energy problems and inflation.

Now, further news reveals that their correspondence was assigned to the Energy Research and Development Administration. Continued efforts by LDA have created a definite interest on the national administrative level, and, consequently, the Justice Department now is representing the president as communication continues.

Books by Adventists Are Selected for International Fair

The United States Information Agency has selected books by three Seventh-day Adventist authors to be included in a special display of American technical publication at the International Book Fair to be held in Cairo, Egypt, January 26-February 6.

Authors and their works are: Raymond Bridwell, Perris, California—Hydroponic Gardening; Jacob R. Mittleider, Salt Lake City, Utah—More Food from Your Garden; Edyth Young Cottrell, Sedro Wooley, Washington—The Oats, Peas, Beans & Barley Cookbook.

All three books emphasize maximum utilization of natural food resources and high-yield home food production methods.

The works are included in a USIA exhibit entitled "Showcase," featuring American books making unusual contributions in the application of technology to contemporary human needs.

All three works have already received significant recognition in the literature of food technology. They are available in book stores, libraries, and the Adventist Book Center.

Thirty-five Decide for Baptism in Las Vegas

Thirty-five individuals took their stand in response to the call Elder Taylor Morris made at the close of the meetings held in Las Vegas. Fifteen of those making decisions have been baptized and others will join soon.

Meetings began in the Convention Center located in the heart of Las Vegas as a kickoff for the crusade. Meeting location was then transferred to the Las Vegas Adventist church for the remainder of the five-week crusade.

Wide publicity was given the campaign through the use of radio talk shows, TV advertising, TV personality shows, newspaper advertising and the Convention Center's $750,000 computerized billboard marquee.

Elder Morris and his wife, Dorothy, both express appreciation for the support the church members gave during the meetings. When the effectiveness of the advertising was analyzed, the interests that came and the individuals who were baptized were primarily the result of the members' one-to-one personal invitation work.

A result of the meetings were the baptisms coming from the recreation program of the congregation. The church carries on a recreation night each week which non-church members are invited to attend. Four individuals made decisions for baptism as a result of this outreach program.

Church Organization Is Slated

Sabbath, January 21, is the date set for the organizing of the second church in the Reno area. This group has been meeting together for a number of months and have functioned, to all intents and purposes, the way a regular church functions.

New members are the result of the effort held last summer by Elder Earl Canson, Elder Gerald Schulze and Harvey Williams. The converts have been joined by a number of members from the Reno Church who are giving the new group the support needed in establishing a new church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Williams have worked untiringly for approximately nine months and have looked forward to this date when this second church would be organized.

The effort held last summer was held for the purpose of reaching the Black community. We appreciate the effort put forth on the part of the Pacific

Union Conference in sending Elder Canson to lead out in this evangelistic series.

The congregation now meets in rented quarters at the First Church of the Nazarene, corner of East 6th Street and Evans Avenue.

On Sabbath, January 21, the congregation will be organized into a full-fledged church. Sabbath school will be held at the regular time. Elder Earl Canson, director of the Pacific Union Conference Regional Department, will bring the sermon at the 11 o'clock hour.

Other meetings are planned for the afternoon. It is anticipated that this will be a memorable event for the new congregation when it is set on course as a full-fledged church, to reach others and enlarge the number of church members.

All are invited to be present at this special occasion.

Church Officers' Meeting Is Rescheduled

The Church Officers' Meeting originally scheduled to be held January 21 in the Reno Adventist church, 1200 South Arlington Avenue, has been rescheduled to Sabbath, January 28, at 3 p.m., in the same place.

This change was made so members in the northwest part of our Conference could participate in the organizing of the new church in Reno on January 21 and also attend the officers' meeting a week later.

Every church officer is strongly urged to attend the Church Officers' Meeting, which is geared to bring help to the various church officers and departments.

Those who are not church officers this year may be called upon to fill in during the year,

"Coat of Many Colors" Inspires Children in Investment Efforts

A "Coat of Many Colors" inspired the members of the Primary Division of the Wasatch Hills Church to earn $102.45 for the Sabbath School Investment Fund for 1977.

The coat was the idea and creation of Primary Leader Nonie Smart. It was sewn of white muslin with various shapes and colors, forming little patch pockets. Into these pockets the children placed their Investment money each week and one or two were allowed to put on the coat because they wanted to see how heavy it was growing.

Finally the day arrived for a party to celebrate the opening of the pockets, finding out how much they had earned in partnership with God for missions. Each pupil shared the happy task of counting all the treasure. Each coin and bill was greeted with shouts of joy and hopes for bigger amounts in the next pocket.

The helping adults were almost deafened by the enthusiasm, but understood that this was a very special occasion for which the children had worked and waited for a long time. And when the total was announced, even the adults cheered loudly!

All this fun took place on a Saturday night in December in the gymnasium of Salt Lake Junior Academy. It began with vespers, favorite songs of the children sung to the accompaniment of two guitars played by Ken Matthews and Ralph Trethewey.

A short history and explanation of the Investment Fund was presented. The children heard the story of Lottie Lohman, who in 1905 gave each of her five children five cents to invest for the Lord. And they earned $11.25 for their investments in vegetable seeds and eggs.

Although the idea has been known as early as 1880 it was not until 1925 that the Investment Fund became a part of the Sabbath School Department, keeping of records was begun, involvement was encouraged and promoted. Since then, over $30 million has been received through this "Miracle Offering."

Having little money of their own to invest, the children invested themselves by giving of their time and energy. They did extra jobs for their parents and neighbors, such as sweeping, cleaning, snow shoveling, running errands and baby sitting.

In addition, they gave up special treats for the money instead and some gave money received as birthday gifts. Some of the adults gave money they earned in overtime or redeemed through coupons.

Escondido To Host FFT Seminar

Prophecy and astronomy are combined in a unique Bible Prophecy Seminar to be presented by Faith for Today's Everett Duncan beginning Sunday, January 29, 7:15 p.m., in the Escondido Junior Academy Auditorium, 1233 W. 9th Avenue at Highway 15, Escondido. The opening message is "Good-bye, Planet Earth."

Elder Duncan reinforces his nightly messages with illustrated presentations on astronomy revealing a divine master plan and God's ultimate direction over human affairs. Other high

Food, Handwork Sale by Community Services Provides Food, Clothing

For over 15 years, Community Services of the Brawley English Church has had a food and handwork sale the first week in December. The ladies work all year, many of them in their homes, making pillows, aprons, quilts and other handmade goods. Other members of the church provide homemade bread, pies, cakes, cookies, and other baked goods. This year the sale brought over $500.

These funds are used to provide food and clothes for needy families, disaster relief, and for other Community Service projects throughout the year.

Tables were set up in front of McDonalds, a department store in downtown Brawley.

Academy students drill holes and drive screws as they make window box planters as Christmas presents for the 256 homes in Waterman Gardens. They were later filled with soil and seed.

Students Make Community Christmas Presents

Christmas presents for the 256 homes at Waterman Gardens in San Bernardino were redwood planters with soil, plants and seeds.

Under the supervision of Werner Lehmann, 12 Loma Linda Academy students and six community youth made the window boxes on weekends and had them ready to deliver by Christmas Eve.

The project was sponsored by the University Church Lay Activities Department.

"The rough redwood lumber lights include the sacred music of Faith for Today's vocal-keyboard team, Bernie and Carol Paulson, and five of the latest Faith for Today television films.

The Faith for Today Bible Prophecy Seminar will be conducted Sunday through Wednesday nights during the first week and every night except Sunday and Thursday the following weeks. The series will run through February 25 and is designed to appeal to Adventist and non-Adventist audiences alike.

A FULL WEEKEND of activities is planned for Adventist singles culminating with a boat trip on Sunday to watch the California Gray Whales as they migrate south. This annual event, sponsored by the San Diego Philo-sda Chapter, is planned for January 19-21. The Whale Watch on Sunday is by advance reservation. Contact Kathy Thompson, 214 S. Ridgecrest Drive, San Diego, CA 92114, phone (714) 475-9165 or 469-0357.

SB 143 Is Major Breakthrough

Effective January 1, California Senate Bill 143 enables private and parochial schools to obtain authorization from the district public school superintendent to issue their own work permits. According to Jonathan Mills, Southeastern California Conference director of career education, this has been a major breakthrough for the Work Experience Education Program.

Formerly, all students had to go to their public school of residence to obtain work permits. These permits were very restrictive, allowing only four hours of work per day. Now students signed up for Work Experience Education can receive from their own junior or senior academy the more permissive permits allowing up to eight hours of work per day during weekends or vacation and four hours per school day if needed. There are other restrictions, such as not working after midnight.

Ed Anderson, Pacific Union director of career education, has been working with various state agencies, officials, and legislators for quite some time to effect this very important legislation. While SB 143 was not written to specifically assist the Adventist schools, it has given all private and parochial schools more latitude in the work permit area.

Les Carney Leaves Victorville

Elder Lester Carney recently accepted a call to the position of ministerial director in the Indiana Conference. His last evangelistic campaign in the Conference was conducted in the Victorville church.

Eighteen persons have already been baptized. Others have already signed certificates for the next baptism. Eight have come forward during the meetings and signed commitment cards requesting baptism when they have had a chance to study a little more about Adventist beliefs.

Alyce Pudewell

Elementary Supervisor Completes Education Staff

With the addition of Alyce Pudewell to the education department as elementary supervisor, the staff was recently completed. Her major responsibility is working closely with 18 small schools as well as with the principals of all Conference schools.

Alyce received her BA degree from Pacific Union College and is presently engaged in the master's degree program at Loma Linda University. She has also done work at the University of Utah in the Exemplary Center for Reading Instruction Clinic.

In the U.S. she has taught at Foothills Elementary School, St. Helena, California, and came to us from Orangewood Junior High.

She taught overseas in the mission school in Saigon where she also prepared special materials and trained other teachers. During 1964-1966 she was administrator in charge of the English language school in Bangkok, Thailand.

Since coming to the department she has edited the new printed, tabloid-size journal Staff Meeting.

This year there is a total enrollment of 5,269 students in our 22 elementary, six junior academies and five academies.

Mrs. Pudewell has a son and daughter who are graduates of Pacific Union College, and another son who is a senior at the same institution.

Communications Secretaries To Meet

Communication Secretaries, pastors and others interested in the field of Adventist Church communications are invited to attend a Communication Workshop at Pine Springs Ranch February 10-12.

This year the workshop will be combined with the communicators of the Southern California Conference.

If you are interested in attending you should register early, as registrants will be accepted on a first-come first-served basis.

Speakers are scheduled from the General Conference, the Pacific Union Conference and various Adventist radio and television broadcasts. Extensive sessions will be held on news writing and photography, with several slide programs for educational purposes.

Evening sessions will conclude with showings of the motion pictures "Shadow of Silence" and the new film "John Huss," recently produced at the General Conference Radio and Television Center.

Registration fee of $18 covers two nights of lodging and the seven meals. If interested in coming, call or write today for a registration blank to the Communication Department, 9707 Magnolia Ave., Riverside, CA 92503, or call (714) 689-1350.

San Diego Will Get "Breath of Life" Twice Each Sunday

As we go to press, word has reached us that the television program Breath of Life, featuring Elder Charles D. Brooks will be released twice each Sunday morning in the San Diego area for 13 weeks.

At 7:30 a.m. the telecast can be seen on XETV, which is Channel 6. At 8 a.m., a different Breath of Life program will be seen on KCST, Channel 39, a UHF channel.

Please invite your friends and neighbors to watch these telecasts. Very shortly TV logs will be sent to the churches to use in inviting people to tune in.

In February Elder Brooks will come to San Diego to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings in the Gompers Junior High School.

Youth Leadership Convention Is "Big Event"

The Big Event for Central is its 1978 Youth Leadership Convention hosted by Central's Youth Advisory Committee at Camp Wawona, January 27-29.

Local church youth leaders, youth Sabbath school officers and teachers, pastors, parents, senior academy student officers, Bible teachers, principals—and all who work with youth ages 15-30 are urged to attend this annual get-together.

Individuals wishing to attend should contact the youth department immediately as a capacity crowd is anticipated for the event.

This year's convention will continue the popular workshop-seminar format used the last two years. Pace-setters in youth ministry will be on hand to staff the 14 workshops offered and six general assembly sessions.

Convention resource staff includes: Conference President Charles Cook, Pacific Union

Youth Director Paul DeBooy, San Jose State University Communications Professor Ted Benedict, San Francisco Radio Evangelist and Crisis Consultant Dick Jewett, Religious Educator Connie Carpenter, Modesto Academy Principal John Collins, and Concerned Communications Author Dan Day.

"Big Event" participants can attend three of the 14 workshops offered. Workshops cover a broad variety of youth ministry subjects, including Crisis Counseling, Teaching Youth, Use of Drama and related expressions, Youth Evangelism and Witnessing, Youth Adolescent Ministries, Communicating with Teenagers, Youth Adult Ministries, Planning and Goal-setting, How to Develop Creativity, Stress Control, and the Spirit-filled Life in Youth Ministry.

General sessions will feature a "How-to-do-it" youth Sabbath school service, unique "Issues Symposium" highlighting five provocative issues in contemporary youth ministry, morning devotions ideas practicum, and a Saturday night social extravaganza with Paul DeBooy. Elder Cook will deliver the Sabbath morning worship service challenge.

All workshops and general sessions will be recorded. Cassettes will be available for purchase by individual sessions or in convention sets.

An outstanding feature at the Big Event will be a massive resources display. Newsletters, periodicals, books, and cassettes used in contemporary youth ministries will be displayed for leisurely browsing.

Conventioners will also receive an indexed notebook containing outlines on all workshops and other practical materials. These notebooks are available to Big Event delegates only.

The Big Event promises to be just that—a Big Event! It is the most significant training event in youth ministry for 1978. Plan to be part of it!

Write or phone Central Youth Department [Box 580, San Jose 95106; (408) 297-1584] for a reservation. $21 per person for weekend fees can be paid at Wawona, registration beginning at 3 p.m. Friday.

Due to intensive training nature of the weekend, it is suggested that parents not bring small children.

Concert Presented in Glendale

The Adventist Choir of Glendale, Arizona presented its second soul-winning concert, "The Joyous News of Christmas."

A cantata written by Joe Parks, "The Joyous News of Christmas" was presented by adult singers from the Camelback, Central, Glendale, Paradise Valley and Tempe Adventist churches, and the children and Junior choirs of Glenview Adventist School under the direction of Giomar Rojas. The cantata tells of the birth of Jesus through instrumental and vocal music and narration.

Friends from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day

Saints, Church of Christ, and the Baptist Church attended this sacred cantata at the Glendale Adventist church.

"The only reason for developing this choir is to bring people to Jesus Christ," said René Rojas, the choir's coordinator and organist.

Giomar and René Rojas see the development of this choir as a significant step in reaching people in the Phoenix area with the love of Jesus. "We have spent 15 years presenting Jesus to the people of South America and we'd like to do the same for Him in the United States," said René.

McGoldrick Is Pastor at Yuma

Philip McGoldrick is pastoring the Yuma Church. He arrived in the district in September, replacing Elder Paul Gibson who transferred to Tucson.

Pastor McGoldrick labored in his homeland of England for two years as a ministerial intern, following study of theology at Newbold College. He had taught on the secondary level for three years, mathematics, music, and religious instruction, prior to enrollment at Newbold.

His wife is the former Connie Smith of Sedona, Arizona. They have a daughter, Sally Ann, age 1½ years.

We are fortunate to have the dedicated McGoldrick family joining the pastoral staff of our Conference. They have received a wholehearted welcome to the fellowship of the church in Yuma, and they are giving fine leadership to the Lord's work in that area.

GGA Library Gets $600, Dictionary as Donation

Mrs. Alma Hopkins has made a donation of $600 in addition to a copy of Webster's New Universal Dictionary to the library of Golden Gate Academy.

The gift was presented to William Wright, principal, out of Mrs. Hopkins' love for children and her concern for their Christian education.

Over the years, Mrs. Hopkins has paid tuition for eight GGA students, none of whom were her own children.

A resident of Berkeley, 75-year-old Mrs. Hopkins has been a member of the Market Street Church for more than 50 years. In fact, she helped give Bible studies when Market Street first opened its doors.

During 1977

Sacramento Central Holds Monthly Nutrition Class

The year 1977 found Sacramento Central Church involved in nutrition and health education through a monthly class for the community on these subjects.

Marylois Gibson, the 1977 program director, stated the class goals: To instill an appreciation for wholesome foods and health habits, to provide education that reinforces selection of healthful recipes and popular food ideas and fads, and to develop a whole approach to health (diet, exercise, attitude).

These were accomplished by discussing several aspects of general ideas which included discussion of current scientifically sound ideas on nutrition, weight control through total eating pattern, and discussion on how to stimulate an adventurous, creative attitude toward using fewer refined foods or meat.

Classes met once a month, were open to the public, and covered each subject with a lecture, demonstrations, samples.

Gary Nosler, "Captain Carrot" of TV and radio, began the year as guest with soups and cultured milk foods. February's class covered high fiber foods with instruction by Nutritionist William Green. April and May dealt with cardiovascular preservation. Proper exercise and low cholesterol foods were presented by Dinah Gibbs and Nancy Bardos, physical therapists, and Zane Kime, MD, discussed the concept of very low fat intake.

Current ideas about protein and vitamins as well as high consumption levels particularly, were discussed in May by Marylois Gibson, dental hygienist and nutritionist. Catherine Gearing, RN, presented wilderness foods in June. Marylois Gibson gave an overview of health factors and presented healthful gourmet foods in September.

For a grand finale, Dorothea Van Gundy Jones spoke to an enthusiastic audience of 150-200 during a four-evening seminar. Interest was also generated in the local media.

Mrs. Jones was interviewed by "Captain Carrot" for both his radio and television shows. She was also interviewed for a morning television program, and a local TV station sent a crew to the church to film her in action for five short presentations on their evening shows.

Those involved in the year's program received a blessing in the appreciation and enthusiasm expressed by people who attended. What a privilege God has given each of us to share in some way something of the "good life" He offers us.

Santa Rosa Church Hosts Dinner

The social committee of the Santa Rosa Church recently hosted a dinner in honor of newly baptized members and those preparing for baptism as a result of an evangelistic series conducted by Evangelist John Klim.

Held in the dining room of Rio Lindo Academy, the dinner was prepared and served by Versitron Industries.

Hazel Osborn and Mary Wong were in charge of decorations, and Marvin and Joanne Wilson with Edgar and Vashti Jackson seated the guests. Ray Heathman and Pastor and Mrs. J. W. Wood planned the program.

Dressed as a clown, Manuel Pajon was the high light of the evening. Pajon climaxed his clowning with a beautiful rendition of "Vesti La Guibba" from Pagliacci. Don Lunt and Dolores Brooker presented vocal and instrumental numbers. The program closed with a congregational sing-along.

A dinner was held recently in honor of those baptized and those who continue to study at the Santa Rosa church.

Calistoga Crusade in Progress

The Bible Speaks Crusade with John and Ellen Klim began in Calistoga Saturday evening, January 14 at 7:30.

Meetings are held in the Adventist church at 2064 Grant Street and will continue Saturday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights until March 3.

Elder Klim travels "From Eden to Eden" in his presentations with special emphasis on "God—the Designer and Restorer." Messages are designed to bring new inspiration to church members and new light to non-members.

Ellen Klim, who has done many scenic oil paintings of Hawaii, will present blacklight chalk drawings almost every night.

Please send names of persons whom you would like to have invited to: Pastor Harold Keehn, 63 Brannan St., Calistoga, CA 94515.

Fort Bragg Dorcas Prepares Baskets for Needy Families

Dorcas ladies and Christmas baskets go hand in hand.

Ladies of the Fort Bragg Church prepared six baskets for needy families. They also decided to check with the various relief agencies in town for additional names of needy families. Dorcas Leader Esther Thut was stunned when asked to prepare 23!

Faith led the Dorcas Society to make an appeal to the congregation on Sabbath; $75 came in, with many families pledging to donate produce and canned goods.

The faith of these ladies was rewarded with the knowledge that 23 families would have a happier Christmas this year.

Southern's Constituency Supports Media Outreaches

Financial support of the radio-television ministry in Southern California shows not only the generosity of the members, but also solid faith in these denominationally sponsored programs.

Just prior to the closing of the accounts for the year, $44,000 had been given to The Voice of Prophecy. Harold Richards, Jr. commented, "This has been an exciting year with numerous fruitful evangelistic crusades across the country, including right here in Southern California. Our people have never let us down and we appreciate their dependable support."

NBC Graduation Held

A Neighborhood Bible Club graduation was viewed by Wilmington Church members on December 3.

Sponsored by the Youth of Wilmington, the NBC under the big, shady trees in Dana Strand Village has been active for four years. This is the third graduation.

When interviewed by Mrs. E. Fauni, NBC leader, one of the 18 graduates said, "My Mother said that if I attended the Neighborhood Bible Club, it is one way of learning about God, and that we learn how to be good kids."

Already there is another group of 12 getting ready to graduate.

Taylors Sing for Celebration

December 16 some 70 persons gathered in a Beverly Hills home for a private celebration of Christmas. Included in this group were Stan Mooneyham of World Vision International, musician Fred Bock and his wife, and evangelist Oral Roberts and his wife.

From the Alhambra Church, Pat and Calvin Taylor were invited to present the entire musical program for this occasion. "It was a fantastic opportunity to witness as Adventists while

Pasadena Homecoming Set

Pasadena Church homecoming Sabbath will feature General Conference Vice-president for North American Division, Elder Neal Wilson.

All members, former members and friends of the Pasadena Church are invited to bring food to a reunion dinner at 12:45 p.m., Sabbath, January 21.

Elder Wilson will speak at 2 p.m. on the signs of growth in the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The hour will close with time for questions from the audience.

One mile north of Freeway 134 on Hill Street to Washington Boulevard. Turn left to 1280 East Washington (1½ blocks).

Faith for Today received $27,000 through church treasurers. FFT Director W. A. Fagal gratefully observed, "Without such liberal support we could never keep pace with media's escalating costs. Right now we are waiting for word regarding a public service outlet on one of Los Angeles' leading independent stations. We pray and ask for your prayers that we may be able to recommence telecasting on a leading channel shortly."

It Is Written received $4,000 through church treasurers, but many additional amounts were sent in direct to the It Is Written headquarters in Thousand Oaks. Last week alone, one special sacrificial gift of $10,000 was given to support the new prime-time release for It Is Written. With this gift a sponsor's club was begun for those who will give amounts of $3,000 or multiples of that amount for the evening release of a 30-minute program.

Breath of Life was remembered by only a few—so few, in fact, it would be embarrassing to print the amounts given. Producer Walter Arties commented when contacted this week, "We would like our members to know that Breath of Life is an intimate part of the radio-television complex in Thousand Oaks. Our work is expanding and we are grateful to God that already we have baptized over 1,000 souls in the North American and Inter-American divisions and raised up one completely new church. As support, both in prayer and with finances, build, we know that our ministry is going to build and expand too."

Some individual churches have registered amounts up to $7,000 for the year, showing that it is not the once-in-a-lifetime, single gift that keeps media on the air, but rather, regular, faithful support month in and month out.

The spread of the Word via media depends on systematic giving throughout 1978.

Conference Gets New Health Van

Last December 25 Conference Inner City Director José Chavanz Q. took delivery of a mobile medical unit for the Southern California Conference.

The 37-foot-long unit is air conditioned, fluorescent lighted, with full kitchen and bathroom, and is filled with all the accessories of a medical clinic: scales, bed, examination table, cabinets and basic software.

Purchase authority was only granted by the Conference Executive Committee on December 6, so delivery was effected in less than three weeks.

Burbank Offers Nutrition Education Program

A unique nutrition education program is being offered for the Los Angeles area by the Burbank Adventist Church. Continuing over four Monday evenings, the series enables individuals to discover a healthier lifestyle based on modern medical concepts in nutrition and health.

Once the step-child of American medicine, nutrition has now "come into its own," according to the physician's journal Medical World News.

A recent article in the publication quoted Dr. D. Mark Hegsted, professor of nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health, as saying, "There is a great deal of evidence that strongly implicates and, in some instances, proves the major causes of death and disability are related to the food we eat." Hegsted included coronary artery disease, hypertension, diabetes and obesity, as well as other chronic diseases.

Bessie Mae Bellingshausen will present the seminars. Her lectures on diet and nutrition have been well attended in all the West Coast area.

The first lecture analyzes carbohydrates and how to prepare better breakfasts. The second lecture demonstrates how to prepare more nutritious entrees as a practical side to the study of fats and proteins. Seminar three examines simple carbohydrates and sugars, and shows a wholesome approach to desserts.

The final evening features a complete dinner. Guest speaker for this dinner is Dr. Clyde Davis, noted orthopedic surgeon, who achieved a reduction in weight from 220 to 160 pounds and enjoys an overall improvement in health and vitality through the use of the nutritional concepts detailed in the seminar.

The present seminar is being conducted Monday evenings at 7-9, January 9-February 6, at 700 South Glenoaks Boulevard in Burbank. The seminar can include only 150 participants.

The Taylors were invited to perform at the occasion after Calvin had played for Billy Graham's North Carolina Crusade in Asheville and Patti had sung for the American Christian Leadership Fellowship recently.

Maui Mission School Cited as Physical Fitness Champions

Maui Mission Elementary School in Kahului, Maui has been designated the 1977 State Physical Fitness Champions.

The award was announced by Governor George Ariyoshi by letter to Principal Thomas F. Smith. Ariyoshi congratulated the teachers as well as the students for their high achievement.

The Physical Fitness Award is given to the school with the highest percentage of students reaching the 85 percentile bracket in six strenuous tests. After the tests are given by the teacher, the results are sent to the President's Council on Physical Fitness for evaluation.

Susan E. Smith, principal's wife, is the Physical Education instructor at Maui Mission. Although a volunteer, Mrs. Smith takes her responsibilities seriously. Just ask the students!

Twice a week they visit the community pool where she teaches them swimming. The other three days are spent running the mile and mile-and-a-half in preparation for the AAHPER test for this school year, and playing some games. A small, two-teacher school such as Maui Mission is privileged to have the services of Mrs. Smith as part of its program.

Community Pastors Join in Service

Members of the Kahului Adventist Church opened their doors to the community of Kahului and Wailuku for a special Thanksgiving day service. Sponsored by Maui Christian Ministers Association, several churches participated to make the gathering a success.

Pastor Vernon Tom from the Kahului Union Church was guest speaker. His emphasis focused on one's family as "A Source of Thanksgiving Overlooked." He remarked how his children brought him much joy and satisfaction and how he often overlooked them as a source of thanksgiving to God. He challenged all to reacquire themselves with their families in the season of thanksgiving.

Other ministers and churches involved were Milton Fricke from Emmanuel Lutheran Church; Ted Smith from Ala Lani Methodist Church; and Herb Kamada from Kahului Nazarene Church.

Host Pastor Jim Pimentel said that the service provided a bond with brothers and sisters of different faiths to share the privilege of thanksgiving.

Former Union Ministerial Director

John Osborn's Books Are Given to La Sierra Library

John Osborn was a minister's minister, a very organized man who drew upon a vast store of knowledge to illustrate his sermons, according to H. Maynard Lowry, associate director of the La Sierra campus library.

Lowry's conclusions are not drawn from looking at the record of Osborn's life as ministerial director of the Pacific Union and president of several conferences. Lowry speaks of the man revealed by his library.

Marion Osborn recently donated nearly 2,000 books, collected by her husband, to the La Sierra campus library. The volumes focus on every aspect of ministerial duties and come from a wide variety of publishers representing a broad spectrum of opinion.

The collection includes many basic reference materials, a large amount of denominational literature, and many classic books such as 85 copies of the Lyman Beecher Lectures on Preaching given only at Yale University and dating back to 1871.

"Osborn's philosophy was that if you've read something and cannot find it, it's no good," says Lowry. Consequently the library was a model of organization. Not only were books divided into subject areas, he kept a topical index as well. For each book he read, he made cards and filed them, so when he was preparing a sermon he could quickly find the sources he wanted. Illustrations were also catalogued in this way, so the same story was not used for every subject. This analytical index will be preserved in the La Sierra Library Heritage Room.

La Sierra will also honor Elder Osborn's memory with a lecture series for continuing ministerial education. The Pacific Union, Southern and Southeastern California Conferences will join the Division of Religion in the planning of the annual series.

Ken Ritz works on the program for the Monument Valley Hospital computer.

Gets Academic Credit

Student Helps Monument Valley

Mission projects for students usually require that they take a year off from school and travel to a faraway place. Ken Ritz, a junior computing major at La Sierra, is involved in a mission project which he works on via a computer and a telephone.

Ken is the son of Hal Ritz, business manager at Monument Valley Hospital. Recently when the hospital purchased an IBM 5100 minicomputer to assist in the accounting department, Ken was asked to program the computer for the hospital's specific needs.

To his teachers, the project sounded like it would be worthy of academic credit. So Ken is working under the supervision of William Key, associate professor of business, while designing the program.

The summer Ken spent working in the hospital accounting office taught him well the needs for the program. He has learned at school about the capabilities of the machine. When he describes the programming process he makes it sound very simple. "I just figure out what I want the computer to do, and then tell it to do it," he says.

He will have to write a set of instructions for the Monument Valley personnel, too, so they can use the program without him.

So the result of Ken's mission project will be that the hospital will receive the programming assistance it needs, and Ken will earn four units of credit to apply toward his bachelor of science degree.

LLU La Sierra News Notes

AT THE LAST MEETING of the American Association of Presidents of Independent Colleges and Universities, it was voted to invite V. Norskov Olsen, president of Loma Linda University, to be a member of the Executive Board and serve as one of the Directors. He was also asked to serve on the Program Committee for the 1978 Annual Meeting.

TO GAIN A CURRENT VIEW of the Seventh-day Adventist world-field educational needs, Vernon H. Koenig, professor of educational administration, recently accompanied Charles R. Taylor, associate director of the General Conference Department of Education, in a 52-day tour of the schools and colleges in the Southern Asia Division.

Seventeen academies and colleges were visited during the trip, as the men evaluated the school programs, and made recommendations and commendations to the school personnel.

This is the second year the General Conference has requested that personnel from LLU's School of Education accompany them in their evaluation visits. Last year Clifford I. Jaqua traveled with W. J. Brown in the Far Eastern Division.

Lord's Day Alliance

Executive director of the LDA, revealed from the national office in the Georgia Baptist Convention Building in Atlanta, Georgia, that the Justice Department has shown a deep concern over questions raised by the LDA.

The shift from the energy administration to the justice department is one of keen interest and raises concern. The justice department has jurisdiction over the judicial system, including the Supreme Court, dealing with the constitutionality of laws, as well as the law enforcement area, including the office of the U.S. Attorney General and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

Concerted effort on city, state, and national levels for passage of a national Sunday Law must be accompanied by efforts on the part of all freedom-loving Americans, and especially Seventh-day Adventist Christians, to communicate kindly but clearly the dangers of legislation that would establish a religious practice and require society at large to pay homage to a belief and practice contrary to its conscience.

Liberty is having its annual emphasis right now. As your part, you may make both a sacrificial gift, so Liberty can reach those who mold and influence policy, as well as prayerfully make wise and friendly contacts, seeking the preservation of the keystone of this democracy—separation of church and state.

"It is our duty to do all in our power to avert the threatened danger."

I've seen your program only once. It was the episode on the wonders of birds and their ability to fly. It was interesting. I learned a lot about birds I'd never known; but even more important was your refutation of the evolution theory.

I'm sure it blessed anyone who listened with an open mind.
