Thirteenth Sabbath

Sabbath Schools Give to Foreign Missions

From earliest days of our denomination, the Sabbath school has been a channel to spread the third angel's message around the world.

The first gift to missions from the Sabbath school was made in 1885 by the Upper Columbia Conference, which at that time comprised the states of Oregon and Washington. During the following year, California Sabbath schools followed the example of their northern neighbors and raised $700 for missions.

Last year — 90 years after that first Sabbath school giving—the California conferences sent on to the General Conference $3,299,139. Add to this amount the Sabbath school offerings sent from Arizona, Hawaii and Nevada-Utah, and the amount swells to $3,667,111.

Other growths are noted for the entire North American Division of the Church. In 1887, $10,615 was given by all the Sabbath schools in North America for the world mission program. North American Division Sabbath schools in 1975 contributed $15,422,105.

Penny boxes for Sabbath school missions were adopted in 1878. The box and its use are thus described in the Review and Herald of that year: "A neat, brown, tin safe, to be fastened by screws upon the wall near the door, so that each one entering can easily reach it. Each box is furnished with a padlock which securely holds the cover."

Through the years, pennies have changed to dimes, quarters, half-dollars, dollars, and now checks by the thousands. These funds so faithfully given by our Sabbath school membership through the years have helped the Seventh-day Adventist Church build the largest mission program of any Protestant church in the world.

Thirteenth Sabbath this year is December 25. The South American Division is to benefit this quarter in the special projects offering that you will be giving on that date. To show our appreciation for your dedication to the world mission program, the Sabbath schools of the Pacific Union will be distributing bookmarks to everyone who visits Sabbath school December 11.

There is yet much to do throughout the world before

Christ can return. Your liberal, systematic giving through Sabbath school to missions is a way to aid your local program. "To show a liberal, self-denying spirit for the success of foreign missions is a sure way to advance home missionary work; for the prosperity of the home work depends largely, under God, upon the reflex influence of the evangelical work done in countries afar off." Gospel Workers, 465.

If you desire to see your local church program grow, develop a sincere burden to see the work finished also in fields afar. Let's wholeheartedly support with liberal gifts the Thirteenth Sabbath Offering, Sabbath, December 25.

Pacific Union Sabbath Schools

Bible School Requests Gift Bible Donations

This Christmas give a gift that lasts forever. Give the gift that brings eternal life — the Words of Jesus, the Message from God—the Holy Bible.

The Faith for Today Bible School is in need of new and used Bibles in good, clean condition. All versions of the Bible and New Testament are desperately needed for use in distribution to Bible students who have no Bibles to study from.

An average of 10-15 Bibles are sent out each week, but Faith for Today is fast running out of Bibles to send.

Won't you help make Christmas and the coming year a little more special to some needy individual? Please send your Bibles to: Faith for Today, Box 1000, Thousand Oaks, CA 91360.

PROPHETIC SYMBOLS, ILLUSTRATING THE PROPHECIES OF DANIEL AND REVELATION USED BY EVANGELIST WM. SIMPSON

How "Aware" Obtained Public Service Time on Radio

Awareness is a key word in obtaining public service time, according to John Robertson, radio producer of "Aware" radio spots at The Voice of Prophecy. Robertson was recently interviewed by Fund Raising Management Magazine about the concept of public service advertisement.

According to Robertson, "Aware" is a radio and print program designed to encourage people to think carefully about social issues. The 30- and 60-second spots suggest trust, courtesy, respect and compassion as appropriate attitudes in tackling the human dimension in society's problems. An address is given on the spot where one can obtain a free booklet on the subject.

In the interview, Robertson related key elements of his campaign and how the "Aware" project was developed.

The campaign was divided into two phases: production and marketing.

On production, Robertson said, "We decided that we ought to try to create a sound and content package for radio that was designed for people not ordinarily caught listening to anything religious. Standard religious radio broadcasting over the years has been quite predictable and quite traditional."

Marketing was initiated by a Western Union Mailgram with a "teaser" sent directly to the program director of each radio station on the "Aware" list. The "teaser" told the program director to look for the "Aware" spots coming to his desk soon.

Later, the first spots were mailed to the station. Robertson chose record disks over tape because they are less ex-

FFT Witnesses for 10 Cents Per Viewer Home

Faith for Today is reaching each of its weekly half-million viewing households for less than the cost of a postage stamp.

Nielsen ratings indicate that the total amount of money spent on production, promotion, and purchasing of television time, divided by the number of households actually watching the program, equals the approximate cost of 10¢ per household. In other words, Faith for Today reaches each of these TV homes with Bible instruction and the message of Christ and holds their attention for a full half hour for only a few cents.

"This is a tremendous bargain," says Director of Programming James Hannum. "In a time of escalating costs, the realization that we are reaching so many homes for so little per capita is encouraging in our church-assigned task of presenting God's message and love to unchurched TV viewers."

pensive than tape, easier to cue in radio stations and they allowed more "descriptive and image work on the jackets than a tape box would allow."

A flap on the first disk jacket allowed the station manager to respond to the mailing. Inside the jacket was included a copy of the book sent out by request from the spot. In subsequent mailings, the book and flap were not used, but a response card was included.

In all, five disks were sent in five mass mailings during a period from September, 1974 to January, 1976. Mailings occurred every three to four months.

Over 2,900 stations out of the 5,200-station target list responded favorably to the "Aware" program.

Robertson concludes: "We measure our success by our objective and our objective has been, primarily, to encourage people to think about those issues. . . . Other organizations have wanted to use the paperback book in classroom settings, in city-sponsored seminar projects and library sessions.

"There have been other settings in which the material has been used that we didn't anticipate when we first began the project. There are quite a number of indications of that sort that encourage us that what we were doing is making some difference to people."

INSPIRATION SAYS

"Self-denial means to rule the spirit when passion is seeking for the mastery; to resist the temptation to censure and to speak faultfinding words; to have patience with the child that is dull and whose conduct is grievous and trying; to stand at the post of duty when others may fail; to lift responsibilities wherever and whenever you can, not for the purpose of applause, not for policy, but for the sake of the Master, who has given you a work to be done with unwavering fidelity; when you might praise yourself, to keep silent and let other lips praise you. Self-denial is to do good to others where inclination would lead you to serve and please yourself. Although your fellow men may never appreciate your efforts or give you credit for them, yet you are to work on."

Special IIW Telecast Is Scheduled for December 19

A holiday atmosphere, special Christmas songs and stories and several surprises will combine to make It Is Written's first special Christmas telecast a memorable moment in the It Is Written series.

All major Arizona cities will carry the It Is Written Christmas Special December 19. With TV stations in Phoenix, Tucson, Yuma and Flagstaff airing the special, viewers in all areas of the state will see the program.

Appearing with Elder Vandeman will be his wife Nellie and 20-year-old daughter Connie. This program will mark the first time ever Mrs. Vandeman has appeared on It Is Written.

In addition to the Vandemans, all of the singers currently appearing on It Is Written — Walter Arties, Marilyn Cotton and Ben Parrish—will be featured along with their families. Orchestration will highlight the Christmas melodies which will showcase the singers.

Walter Arties, currently the producer of the Breath of Life television program, will sing "Sweet Little Jesus Boy." Walter will be joined on the program by his wife Beverly.

Marilyn Cotton is a long-time singer on It Is Written and records for Chapel Records. She will be joined on this program by her four daughters, Patti, Jenny, Beth and Laurie, for a medley of "Away in a Manger" and "There's a Song in the Air." Marilyn's husband Dan will also appear.

Ben Parrish, president of Memorial Bibles International and a singer on It Is Written for over three years, will present a baritone solo medley of "O Come, O Come Immanuel," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" and "O Come All Ye Faithful." Ben's wife Murl and son Todd will also be seen.

Connie Vandeman, who is now attending Newbold College in England, will sing "What Child Is This?" Connie has been appearing on It Is Written for several years.

Another feature of the program will be Elder Vandeman's presentation of "The Story of Roaring Camp." This unique Christmas story is about a mining camp in the old West, and the changes which took place in the lives of the men when a blue-eyed baby boy was born in the camp.

Used Greeting Cards Can Help in Missions

Why not use your used greeting cards and Christmas cards for a needy mission project this year?

Lucille Brown of Mesa has a special project of sending cards to a poor family in the Philippines. The family makes the cards into beautiful fans and sells them. The money is used to send their children to the Seventh-day Adventist Mission School.

This year, rather than throwing your cards away, why not send them to Mrs. Brown? Only eternity will record the soul-winning results of this "small" project.

Send used greeting and Christmas cards to: Lucille Brown, 2705 E. First Street, Mesa, AZ 85203.

Concert Series Begins

The first of a series of concerts to be performed on the Thunderbird Adventist Academy lawn came on the rainy weekend of October 23. With the decision to move the band to the new unfinished chapel complex came the fulfilled anticipation of several weeks.

Music department chairman Francis Cossentine introduced this first program in the new building as the audience sat cross-legged on the thick blue carpet. Pews are scheduled to arrive for the official opening of the chapel this month.

After only six weeks, 42 members of the TAA band under the baton of instructor Robert Anderson performed a full hour concert of sacred numbers with narration by mathematics instructor Kenneth Albertsen.

Teaches in Winnemucca

Teacher Postpones Retirement

Leafa Finch, a veteran of more than 25 years' teaching experience, retired last spring and headed for her home in Oregon. However, as the new school year approached a combination of events forced her to reconsider her retirement.

Leafa Finch

First, a group of people in Winnemucca, who had a school for only one year, began praying for a teacher.

Second, as a fireman responds to the fire bell, the bells of the approaching school year began to ring in Leafa's ears.

Third, she and her husband decided to themselves that if the Lord wanted her in the classroom this fall, a call would come. The call came and today Leafa finds herself responding to the call of God and the school bell at the Winnemucca school. She now has 13 students and a group of church members who sing her praises and thank God for hearing their prayers.

One-day Cooking Class Draws Local Interest

"Man's concern about diet began 6,000 years ago when God said, 'Thou shalt not eat,' and Satan said, 'Go ahead and eat'."

With these words by Pastor Gerald Schulze to a capacity crowd, the Reno Seventh-day Adventist Church began a one-night cooking class devoted to the preparation of entrees.

The cooking school, under the direction of Janet Curry, received publicity after a phone conversation Pastor Schulze had with Betty Malmgren, Family Living Section Editor of the Reno Gazette Journal. She showed an interest in the Seventh-day Adventist diet and was enthusiastic when she heard of the forthcoming cooking class.

A week and a half prior to the cooking school, Mrs. Curry and her daughter, Brenda, were featured in a half-page interview story concerning the Adventist philosophy on diet and health, plus the benefits from this dietary lifestyle.

Mrs. Curry shared with readers two of her favorite recipes, one for cottage cheese loaf and the other for granola. The time and place of the cooking class were also announced.

As a result of the publicity, the phones began ringing and reservations began to pour in. Soon almost 80 persons were packed into the Camlu Apartment lounge, where the cooking class was held.

Those assisting Mrs. Curry were Tomi Cheatham, Charlene Walker, Frances Horning, Darrel Strait, Arrah Curry, and Pastor Schulze.

Besides the demonstrations, pre-session samples of various entree dishes prepared by many of the Reno church members also contributed to the response by the mainly non-Adventist group.

The next cooking class is planned for January.

McCoy Joins Reno Staff

With five years of teaching experience in Napa Adventist Junior Academy, Ronald McCoy has joined the teaching staff at Reno Junior Academy.

Ron and his wife, the former Rondalyn Hurst, of Colorado, graduated from Thunderbird Adventist Academy in Arizona. Ron graduated from Pacific Union College; Rondalyn graduated from Glendale College School of Nursing.

The McCoys have one child, Randy, age one year. Ron enjoys gardening, all athletic sports and, of course, flying holds a very special interest, since he has his private pilot's license.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE TO PLANT CEDARS OF LEBANON

The famed cedars of Lebanon of Bible times are about to take root at Pacific Union College. A seedling plant of the trees made famous during the time of King Solomon has been brought to the college by Lloyd Eighme, professor of biology. Solomon, king of Israel, cut down many of the giant trees for use in constructing the temple in Jerusalem. Others continued to cut the trees until today there are only a few cedars left in native Lebanon.

Youth Convene at Bible Conference to Learn of God

A Bible conference is a very special event. It's not a time to plan for any particular project, or to become familiar with the details of some organization, or even to have fun.

The 170 academy and high school juniors and seniors and sponsors who gathered at Pine Springs Ranch November 4-6 went to better understand God and His will in their lives.

Several weeks earlier a student group had suggested that the theme be "Christ the Pre-eminent," and that we study how to make Christ first in both the everyday details and the major decisions of life.

Paul Jensen, secular campus minister for The Voice of Prophecy, led in six talk sessions on God's love and the assurance that He has accepted us. Church service included about 20 minutes of silence while each person studied Psalm 85. Students prayed, studied the text carefully, applied it to their lives, and prayed again. This was followed by a sharing time when each person told the other three students in his group what he had learned.

During the weekend, each person spent two and a half hours in small groups studying how to make Christ first in such things as sports, social relations, and careers. These discussions, and others on parents, God, last day events, witnessing, and getting to know Christ personally, were led by academy Bible teachers and youth pastors.

The Holy Spirit was active at the Conference and many students returned home with an assurance of salvation they had never enjoyed, or perhaps had forgotten.

Next Bible Conference, for 9th and 10th grade students, will be February 18-20. We are praying now that, as we focus on God, some of the uncertainties of life will become a little clearer.

Youth Department

Conference Personnel Changes

With Elder Edward White having accepted a call to the North Pacific Union, Elder Horace Barker has been elected to serve as director of Inner City and Black Affairs.

Pastor Brian Neal has been asked to pastor the Valley Fellowship Church.

An exchange of pastorates will take place as Elder R. E. Berry becomes pastor of the Encanto Heights Company and Elder A. G. Lawrence becomes pastor of the Fontana Juniper Avenue Church.

Elder Charles R. Lickey, pastor of the San Bernardino Church, has accepted a call to the Washington Conference.

Elder Ernest L. Broder has been called from the Nevada-Utah Conference to serve as an associate pastor at the Azure Hills Church.

Elder Walt Blehm declares the Corona Spanish a full-fledged company as Elder Daniel Riffel, on his right, interprets.

New Spanish Company Is Organized in Corona

A new Spanish Company of 80 charter members was organized November 13 in Corona.

The Conference was represented by President W. D. Blehm, Assistant Treasurer Rudy Fuss, and Communications Director S. A. Yakush. Elder E. Benavides from the Pacific Union also attended, as did Milton Peverini and J. A. Bonjour from The Voice of Prophecy.

While Elder Merardo León was pastor of the La Sierra Spanish Church, a Branch Sabbath School was started in the home of two members, in June, 1975. Pastor and Mrs. Luis Bolívar led out. Soon the meeting place became too small.

Through the interest of Sally Leiva, a member at Corona, the small group moved in October, 1975 into a building provided by the Corona Church. There, Pastor Bolívar, with the help of lay people like Carlos Ayala, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Polanco and Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Prado, baptized 19 souls.

To accommodate the growing attendance, they moved again last June, and now meet in the Congregational Church at 8th Street and Ramona in Corona. Again the English-speaking congregation provided them with chairs and a piano.

As officers of the Conference we witnessed a fervor rarely seen in these times. Corona members are full of courage, looking forward to soon becoming an organized church.

Of the 80 members, 22 were newly baptized. About 50 families are presently receiving Bible studies, and many of them attended the organization of this new Company of believers.

Daniel Riffel, Director
Spanish Affairs

Farm and Garden Production

Mittleider Institute Will Graduate Its First Class

A Food for Everyone Training Institute, established earlier this year in Hollister, is preparing to graduate its first class.

The six members, from as far away as Georgia and Mexico, came to Hollister last September to learn the Mittleider method of farm and garden production. Students are of both Adventist and non-Adventist backgrounds.

The December 18 Sabbath service, 11 a.m. at the Hollister church, Sixth and Monterey streets, will be in honor of the graduates. Speaker will be F. R. Millard, retired General Conference vice-president and missionary to the Far Eastern Division.

Instructing at the Institute is Jacob R. Mittleider, Ph.D., developer of the technique for increasing crop production. He has authored two books, Food for Everyone and More Food from Your Garden. The latter gives step-by-step instructions for building Mittleider grow boxes and greenhouses and mixing custom soil of sand, sawdust, and chemical fertilizers. These books are available at your Adventist Book Center.

Mittleider is assisted in the teaching responsibilities by Edmond Henken and Bruce Hammar. Henken, also sales manager, has a BS degree in agriculture from Loma Linda University and has worked with Mittleider for five years in Okinawa, Tanzania, and Honduras. Hammar, in charge of production and greenhouse instruction, has also worked with Mittleider for some time.

The Institute is managed by Virgil Larson, a Seventh-day Adventist expert in farm management.

Food for Everyone has a two-fold objective, according to Mittleider—"to produce quality crops of the highest yields with the lowest amount of investment and expenses under situations formerly thought impossible, and to reach people with a witness who would not otherwise learn to know Seventh-day Adventists."

Delegates from the Mexican Government recently visited the Hollister Institute, reported

Laymen's Congress Held

Bakersfield Spanish Church recently held a weekend Laymen's Congress. Invitations were sent to all Spanish congregations in Central. Happily, the church was filled to capacity.

The opening challenge was delivered by Lay Activities Director James Finn. The Sabbath message was presented by Victor Lee of the Lincoln Heights Church in the Southern California Conference.

Classes in personal witnessing were conducted by Elder Finn (English) and by Elder Lee (Spanish).

Larson, seeking information and help to begin a Mittleider program in Mexico. It is hoped that Fidel Cadenas, a member of this graduating class and native of Mexico, will be able to head up this program.

The Institute has also received letters from Fiji and the Marshall Islands asking for information on the Mittleider method.

The Institute directors envision training students who are capable of teaching Mittleider's methods as a community service sponsored by Adventist churches, and who are also able to follow up with personal Bible studies interests expressed by individuals who become acquainted with Seventh-day Adventists through this program.

A new Food for Everyone Training Class will be organized on January 17. Applications for admission to this program should be sent immediately to Food for Everyone Training Institute, 300 Cienega, Hollister, CA 95023. The class runs for four months and tuition, including the registration fee ($25), is $425. For more information write to the above address or telephone (408) 637-2929.

Jay Hoffman Conducts Seminar

Jay M. Hoffman, a teacher of nutrition for over 40 years, conducted a five-day Nutrition Seminar in the sanctuary of the University Church.

In his series, Hoffman does not recommend any medications. He sticks strictly to the subject of nutrition. Neither does he speak on the subject of cancer. He feels this is the medical doctor's work and not that of a nutritionist.

During the seminar, he showed colored pictures of Hunzaland, better known as Shangri-La of the Himalayas, where people often live over 100 years. The Hunza people live without fear of cancer, heart trouble, arteriosclerosis, high blood pressure, arthritis, diabetes, tuberculosis, mental illness, and many of the other ailments that plague the Western world.

Hoffman's lectures explained why these people live so long and how we, in America, can adapt our way of life to live as they do.

Vallejo Drive Church Builds Tape Ministry

One year ago last month Charlene Shephard began building a tape lending library at the Vallejo Drive church. It now has more than 700 cassettes in circulation.

The entire project includes 31 different speakers, plus the Bible in Living Sound and Story Hour recordings. Many tapes involve Bible subjects not otherwise categorized.

Plans are being developed for producing these tapes in different languages.

Aside from approximately $200 invested by the church, most of the tapes have been donated.

Many non-member families have become interested in Adventist teachings through these tapes alone. Their children especially enjoy the Bible in Living Sound.

Hawthorne Series Is Completed

Elder W. A. Fagal spoke to a full house (500 persons) opening night during the Hawthorne series just completed. At the end of the second meeting 40 interests had been disclosed. By the end of the second week 75 non-members had attended, with 10 requesting baptism.

The four-week series was supported by seven bay-area churches which also had separate meetings for some 60 children.

Some 75,000 promotion pieces were mailed directly in the crusade area and double-page ads and several stories ran in the Daily Breeze newspaper. The trailer on the weekly FFT program brought many who wanted to meet Elder Fagal personally.

In a Nutshell

COME ALIVE RETURNS—The Heritage Singers and Roy Naden have returned to Los Angeles television. The program will be aired weekly on KCOP-13 at 9:30 Sunday evenings for the next six weeks. KHOF-30 began releasing the same program at 6:30 on Thursday evenings effective December 2. Channel 30 will run all 25 programs. Tell your friends.

SANTA BARBARA CRUSADE TOTALS—Elder Bill Hoffman of the VOP recently conducted a three-week series in Santa Barbara and added 28 new converts to the Church. Some 200 individuals attended nightly. An around-the-clock prayer circle was effective and the door-to-door distribution of Focus on Living plus the 52,000 crusade announcements mailed to the homes helped find several families who otherwise might not have become members right away.

Update . . . from the president

PASTORS, ELDERS, AND ALL church officers are invited to the White Memorial church Sabbath, January 8, 3-6 p.m. for a Conference-wide officers meeting. This will be a session of planning, inspiration and counsel for the 1977 church organizations.

ON DECEMBER 18 at 3:30 p.m. the Monterey Park Bilingual Company will be organized into an official church of the Conference.

HOLIDAYS: Thanksgiving to Christmas is a season of gratitude and giving. Seventh-day Adventists traditionally put God first at this season. Reports from the churches for October indicate an encouraging pattern in tithes and offerings. As we plan toward the holiday season let us make sure all accounts are square with God, with our offerings for the local church and for the important needs of education.

SOUL-WINNING: For the first three quarters 1,540 individuals united with God's commandment-keeping Church by baptism and profession of faith. This last quarter many evangelistic campaigns are in progress. The Breath of Life meeting has just finished with over 100 being baptized. Many pastors report more interests coming to the churches than they can effectively instruct. We must have more lay leaders giving Bible studies and instructing new believers in the faith. Thank you for helping reap the harvest the Lord is bringing into the Church.

Members To Go as Missionaries

Ernest "Duke" and Eleanor Jean Estey, members of the Napa Church, have accepted a call to medical mission service at the Bella Vista Hospital in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

A clinical laboratory technologist, Estey previously served 4½ years at the Bella Vista Hospital with his late wife Mary. For the past 17 years he had worked at the Napa Medical Group.

istered nurse and has been employed by the St. Helena Hospital and Health Center. Before her marriage to Duke, she, with her children and former husband, served 10 years in mission hospital work in Karachi, Pakistan, and in South India.

Yountville Signs Memorial Newsnotes

• WAS THE 1976 VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL A SUCCESS? Ask the little 9-year-old boy who heard the Ten Commandments for the first time—or any one of the 36 children who has never had any church affiliation before; or the 27 helpers who saw many miracles among the 45 children involved—80 per cent of whom were non-Adventists. Bea Ackerman was the busy leader, assisted by her husband, Barney, and son, David, who made the flag stand and backdrop for the theme device. Her daughter taught in the Junior Division and LaVerne Russo told the students Bible and nature stories. Julia Wacker played the piano and taught them songs.

• TWO YEARS AGO, Ethel Tuell's Sabbath school class sponsored two literature racks in Yountville. These were so successful that two more have been added; one in Rutherford, and another in Oakville. Magazines and pamphlets numbered 177 taken in October, which included 50 El Centinelas.

• ALLENE HARDIN was honored at a farewell party October 30. The Hardins have moved to Monument Valley where Malcolm Hardin is serving as lab technician.

• PATHFINDER LEADER DICK ROTH, assisted by Jerry Reed, took the Pathfinders to the Camporee at Leoni Meadows. They are hopeful of being in full uniform by Pathfinder Day, December 11, when Conference Youth Director Winston De Haven will be guest speaker for church service.

• A LOVE OFFERING is taken each Sabbath morning by the children who go down the aisles of the church and collect all the money their little hands will hold. Then they drop it in the wooden model of the unfinished sanctuary. This offering averages over $100 a week, and is above any other monies given for the final phase of the building program. The church members are praying for the first sermon in the completed sanctuary by mid-1977.

Gets Job in Maine

Simi Administrator Will Leave

After 13 years as administrator of Simi Valley Adventist Hospital, Bill Gosse has accepted the job of administrator at Parkview Memorial Hospital in Brunswick, Maine.

Bill Gosse

and said it will be effective next month.

Gosse went to Simi Valley in 1963 after the citizens of the community—less than half the 73,000 who live there now—appealed to the Adventist Church to build a hospital there.

The hospital was planned and built under Gosse's direction and opened in August 1965.

The hospital began with 50 beds; in 1967 it was expanded to a 67-bed facility. In 1970 a pediatric unit and intensive care unit were added, and the number of beds was increased to 197. A convalescent facility was also added on Sycamore Drive.

The soft-spoken administrator also has been busy in local community affairs throughout his years of service at Simi.

Historic Beasts Arrive at AU

The Andrews University Heritage Room has recently received seven papier-maché beasts representing the creatures of Daniel and Revelation and a model of the figure of Daniel 2. They were donated by Fred M. Ramsey, Jr., an alumnus of the University.

The creatures were originally commissioned by Elder W. W. Simpson, who paid a Hollywood company $600 for them. Simpson, one of the first city evangelists in California, used them during his campaigns in the early part of this century.

After Simpson's death in 1907, the beasts were in storage, where they suffered serious decay. Winea J. Simpson, MD, daughter of the evangelist, had them completely restored in the 1960s by the Loma Linda University Art Department. They were used in a 1971 evangelistic series by Pastor Fred Ramsey, grandson-in-law of Elder Simpson.

Elder Simpson's evangelistic method was commended by E. G. White, who wrote:

"These beasts are made of papier-maché, and by an ingenious invention, they may be brought at the proper time before the congregation. Thus he holds the attention of the people, while he preaches the truth to them." Evangelism, 204

The creatures, rigged to rise up out of an earth or sea background, did not always keep to the evangelist's plan, reported Simpson's daughters. "If one beast would rise inadvertently, he would say, 'What are you doing here? It's not time for you yet!' and cause the contrivance to disappear until called for. This was much to the audience's delight." (Fred M. Ramsey, Jr., "A Study of William Ward Simpson's Evangelistic Personality," unpublished term paper on file at Andrews University, 1971, p. 17.)

The donor, Fred Ramsey, received his Master of Divinity degree from Andrews University in 1972 and is now a pastor in Crescent City, California.

Drama Dedicated to Evangelism

A drama-evangelism troupe from Pacific Union College will present a full-length production on the life of Mary called "Mary's Song" at a Napa Valley theater this Christmas season.

Company One, under the direction of James Pappas, will depict Mary's life from before the birth of Christ to His ascension, in the Napa Valley Theater at Yountville's Vintage 1870, December 16-23.

"The theme of the play will be to show how God dealt in Mary's life, which will give the audience special insights into the life of Christ," Pappas says.

Pappas wrote the play's script, which he researched by reading the gospel accounts of Mary and the Desire of Ages. To make the production as authentic as possible, he spent hours pouring over commentaries on Jewish life at the time.

The young author-director, who is also a professional photographer, holds a BA in communications from PUC and an MA in oral interpretation from Brigham Young University.

The musical score for the Christmas play was composed by Jeff Wood, who is currently the musical director for PUC's radio station KANG. Wood toured several years with the Heritage Singers and has orchestrated albums for Chapel/Bridge Records.

Muth Earns Doctorate

The University of California at Davis will confer a doctorate degree on a Pacific Union College professor this month.

Gilbert Muth, assistant professor of biology, studied a shrub-like oak species in the Klamath Mountains of northern California and southern Oregon for his degree.

The shrub, quercus Sadleriana, grows in the Klamath Mountains but is not supposed to be there. According to Muth, all of its 13 relatives are located in the deciduous forests of the Eastern United States and Asia.

"My study determined the shrub's closest relative and postulated how it became anomalously distributed. Also, since chestnut oaks are informally recognized, my task was to define the species," says Muth.

The formal title of the thesis was "The Taxinomic and Floristic Relationship of quercus Sadleriana to other Chestnut Oaks."

Muth received a BA in biology in 1961 and an MA in biology in 1937, both from PUC. He has taught biology at PUC since 1966.

Christian College News Service reports conservative Protestant colleges have record numbers of students on their campuses this fall. Director of the Christian College News Service Dale Hanson says many private colleges have exceeded earlier projected enrollment statistics. Spokesmen for conservative Christian colleges believe the "firm Christian commitment, personal attention, and academic quality found in Christian liberal arts colleges makes them attractive."
