CPS Test Poses Sabbath Conflict

Tests for Certified Professional Secretaries have been changed back to Friday and Saturday, according to the secretarial studies department at Andrews University.

For a number of years, various teachers and General Conference personnel worked with the National Secretaries Association for permission to give these tests on days other than Saturday.

Andrews University and Walla Walla College were designated as special testing centers to administer the tests on Thursday and Friday.

In 1976, the dates were changed to Monday and Tuesday, which made the special testing centers for Seventh-day Adventists unnecessary. But there were so many complaints from other sources that the tests will be scheduled for Friday and Saturday again next year. Unless the special centers can again be set up, Seventh-day Adventist secretaries will not be able to take these tests in order to earn this highest rating in the secretarial area.

The secretarial studies department is hoping that a sufficient number of Adventist secretaries will request the privilege of taking these tests on Thursday and Friday that clearance will once again be given. They suggest that applications be clearly marked "Seventh-day Adventist," even though there is no space provided for this on the application.

Applications for CPS tests must be in the Kansas City headquarters by December 1, 1976, in order to qualify for testing in May, 1977. Requests for application forms may be sent to Certifying Secretaries, G-10 Crown Center, 2440 Pershing Road, Kansas City, MO 64-108.

For further information, write to Secretarial Studies Department, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

FFT Gets Programming Director

James Hannum has accepted the invitation to be Faith for Today's new Director of Programming.

Taking over the position of Don Dick who returned after sabbatical leave to his post as chairman of the communications department at Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, Mr. Hannum had been interim chairman of that department while Mr. Dick had been with Faith for Today.

Assisting Hannum is Gary Haynes who was recently promoted from assistant producer to program producer. Together they are working with the FFT Program Department in preparing quality programs appealing to unchurched viewers yet featuring a Christ-centered message.

ENROLLMENT AT ADVENTIST Indian Mission School totals the same as last school year, but with more high school students and fewer elementary than before among the 140. Many of these in grades 7-12 are again in need of sponsors—those who sent $25 and other amounts monthly in previous years. Can you assist one of the 94 elementary or 46 secondary students? Write Principal Earl Spaulding, Box 880, Holbrook, AZ 86025.

Hannum began work in communications as a 12-year-old actor for "Your Story Hour" in Berrien Springs, Michigan. Following his graduation from Southern Missionary College in 1965, Hannum was hired as an instructor in the communications department where he was active as director of broadcast-

Allied Health Missionaries

Sister Team Leaves for Africa

A sister PT-OT team left Denver this summer to become Loma Linda University's first Allied Health missionaries to Africa. Nancy Smith and her sister, Tina Hoagland, will work for the next two years at Yuka Mission Hospital in Zambia.

Miss Smith's role as a physical therapist will continue the work that she, along with Pamela Bright, began three years ago. In July, 1973, the two PT graduates arrived at Yuka Hospital to set up a complete physical therapy program.

The two girls had to design much of the equipment themselves. Leg braces were made out of reinforcing rods; "shoes" were made out of flat boards; old automobile tires became sandals; and parallel bars were constructed from old wooden rods.

Miss Hoagland will add to the already-existing program by donating her skills as an occupational therapist. She will assist disabled patients in gaining their independence in self-care and work patterns through the use of daily living activities.

The sisters are anxious to support a rehabilitation team concept with medical, nursing and health education personnel. Their objective is to train nationals in health care skills that will be useful to Zambia's cultural and environmental needs.

The enthusiasm of these young women is reflected in Miss Hoagland's words as she and her sister made final preparations to leave.

"After waiting and searching my soul for the past six months, I find it just short of exhilarating to know finally that I am leaving. Better still, I am not just leaving, I am going to a life that's right for me. At this juncture, I say, 'Praise the Lord.'"

The Missions Committee, and faculty and students of the School of Allied Health Professions, are supporting this team. Many other allied health students and graduates are willing to serve in mission fields, but lack financial support.

Calls and inquiries are solicited at (714) 796-7311, extension 2015. A description of therapy roles and functions in mission work is available on request.

A front-page reprint from Liberty magazine in the issue of September 13 was not intended as an endorsement of a presidential candidate. It appeared in answer to a request for information regarding what the candidates believe, and Liberty editors who supplied it thought readers of the Recorder are already familiar with the philosophy of the President. Moreover, it was not printed at the request of the Union's Religious Liberty Department. In keeping with our policy, it was an endorsement of another denominational publication—one of a series of reprints which have and/or will appear. We trust you are reading our national journals and know the stated intentions of all political candidates and will follow your own convictions regarding voting. The only conviction the staff supports is gratitude that the Lord saw fit to let us live in this free nation.

Nursing Update Offered

Home Study Institute has released its first "refresher" nursing course, entitled Procedure Update: Blood Pressure.

Requiring about 10 hours of study to complete, this course contains a collection of the latest articles on the methods and equipment used in modern hospitals for measuring and monitoring blood pressure.

Lucille Lewis, RN, MS, a professor of nursing at Loma Linda University, is the author of the course, which is approved for continuing education of nurses who need to maintain their licensure and have had no other opportunities to qualify.

Upon completing the study, the student will send the test to HSI for evaluation by Frances Fickess, a nursing professor at Columbia Union College.

HSI has entered this field as a service primarily to Seventh-day Adventist nurses in those states requiring a nurse to show 15 clock hours of continuing education each year.

Cost for Procedure Update: Blood Pressure is $42.

Write to Home Study Institute, Takoma Park, Washington, D.C. 20012.

INSPIRATION SAYS

"How little you know the bearing of your daily acts upon the history of others. You may think that what you do or say is of little consequence, when the most important results for good or evil are the consequence of our words and actions. The words and actions looked upon as so small and unimportant are links in the long chain of human events. . . . Every step you take may have a lasting and controlling influence upon your own lives and the characters of others. Oh, how much need, then, of communion with God! What need of divine grace to direct every step and show us how to perfect Christian characters!

"Christians will have new scenes and new trials to pass through where past experience cannot be a sufficient guide. We have greater need to learn of the divine Teacher now than at any other period of our lives. And the more experience we gain, the nearer we draw toward the pure light of heaven, the more shall we discern in ourselves that needs reforming."

Picturesque Sedona Adventist Church Is Opened

Sitting on a red clay hillside, nestled among scrub juniper and pine trees, the newly-completed Sedona Seventh-day Adventist church affords one of the most magnificent panoramas of God's creation of any place in Arizona.

The Sedona Adventist church is a beautiful addition to the sisterhood of Arizona churches.

Almost 200 persons attended the special opening day services for the church, Sabbath, September 11.

Special speakers for the four services held that day included Elders E. Frank Sherrill, Tom Bledsoe, Lee Hadley, and Ed

Clifford from the Arizona Conference office. Pacific Union Conference President Cree Sandefur and retired Union secretary Elder W. D. Walton, represented the Pacific Union.

Thirteen years ago, as a result of faithful Adventists living in the area, the five-acre plot where the church is located was donated by non-Adventist friends.

In 1970 at the request of Adventists living in the area, a church company was organized. Previously it was necessary for the group to travel each Sabbath to Cottonwood for worship. Elder John Stevens, then Arizona conference president, held evangelistic meetings in January and February and the company was organized February 14, 1970.

In early 1971 the company was organized into a regular church. Until the sanctuary was built, the church group met in the Church of the Red Rocks.

Present membership stands at 71. Of the original 46 members, 19 still hold membership in Sedona.

Dental Screening Held

A recent children's screening dental clinic was held in connection with Hawaiian Mission's Community Services program and the Samoan evangelistic crusade conducted by Elder Nuuialii Neru.

The new mobile van was used in the one-hour screening. Dr. Howard Kim, a dentist from Kailua, checked 43 children at Dole Intermediate School.

This was the first of several health programs planned for using the Community Services van.

Nutrition Is Taught on Kauai

Beverly Bottsford, wife of Kauai Pastor Ron Bottsford, conducted a vegetarian cooking class in both churches on the island of Kauai. The meetings were conducted before prayer meeting for seven weeks.

Besides being able to sample the nourishing casseroles and breads, many people attended the prayer meeting sessions that followed.

At the conclusion of the cooking classes, the person in charge of a community center in one of the towns on Kauai called and asked Mrs. Bottsford to conduct a class there. The response was surprisingly good!

People are looking for a healthier way to eat, and Kauai members are trying to help them find it.

Beverly Bottsford demonstrates simple recipes based on foods first mentioned in Genesis.

Summer Is Good One at Redwood Creek Camp

The summer of 1976 was historic for the Redwood Creek Camp. For the first time ever three camps were held, and a record number of campers attended—233. Already plans are being made for an even greater camping season in 1977.

There were numerous summer high lights. Among those best remembered were: the Patriotic, Indian and Wagon

Camp campfire programs, the decisions made for Christ, the horrendous and thunderous Friday night electrical storm, the teen all-day river trip, the incomparable food, swimming in "Burden Lake," thrilling stories told by top-notch storytellers—and many, many more.

One of the greatest events in Redwood Creek Camp history had to be the baptism July 24 of junior campers Daphne Meyers and Cindy Galusha. Cindy's mother, Beverly Galusha, had been baptized by Elder Eric B. Hare in the same place.

The exquisite beauty of the fellowship, the songs of praise, the spiritual thoughts presented, the natural surroundings at the river's edge—all combined to make this baptismal service especially memorable.

SCENES FROM THE NEW REDWOOD AREA CAMP MEETING SITE—(1) The audience assembles in "Pepperwood Pavilion" during the evening song service, though unseasonable rain taxed the ingenuity of those present at times. (2) The front of the youth chapel—divisions had beautiful and appropriate meeting places. (3) Robert Dunn, MD, of the Feather River Health Institute, checks a camper's blood pressure while he is undergoing stress testing on the treadmill. Dave Whitaker, also of FRHI, assists.

Arcata-McKinleyville Church

Lynn Belleau Accepts Pastorate

Elder Lynn E. Belleau, recently returned from the Tanzania Union where he was an evangelist, has accepted a call to pastor the Arcata-McKinleyville Church. Before serving in the Tanzania Union, Elder Belleau taught Bible at Bugema Adventist College, East African Union.

A graduate of Pacific Union College, Elder Belleau attended Andrews University where he received his MA and BD degrees. He began his ministry in Northern in 1966 and has served in the Lodi Central, Shingle Springs, Grand Avenue and Willits churches.

Elder Belleau's wife, Carol June, is the daughter of Conference Lay Activities Director J. B. Church. Mrs. Belleau attended Pacific Union College and taught music and home economics while in Africa. The Belleaus have four children—Geoffrey, nine; Raoul, seven; Will, three; and Camille, one.

We warmly welcome this dedicated family to Northern and know you will want to join us in remembering them in prayer as they serve the Arcata Church and community.

What's Vacation Bible School?

"What is Vacation Bible School?" asked six-year-old Garrett. His neighbor, Viola Lang, is director of Napa's VBS and was working on her materials. After she explained, she helped him paste a picture of Jesus on a craft she was assembling.

"Who is that?" Garrett asked. "Jesus," she replied. With solemn, questioning brown eyes he said, "And who is Jesus?"

Garrett was just one of the 170 boys and girls who attended the eight-day VBS in Napa this summer. Mrs. Lang, the pastoral staff and many workers helped the children find answers to profound questions such as Garrett's.

Graduation service was held Sabbath morning. Community parents had been invited to the graduation and a luncheon immediately following. Fern Piner made lasagna and dessert for the group of about 200 persons.

"It was a spiritual treat for all of us," said Mrs. Lang after the VBS was ended. "The Lord's presence was felt, leading in each department. We felt we had been part of an exciting evangelistic outreach."

Offering Surpasses Last Year's

As of September 15, the Inner City annual offering is only $271 short of reaching the $12,000 mark. Hopefully we will reach or even surpass that goal by the time August reports are all in.

I am extremely grateful to our pastors and members for the encouraging spirit you have shown in the Inner City ministry. We are also thankful that much of the effort put forth in this outreach is reaping dividends. A large number of the children and parents are showing an interest in the church and are presently attending Sabbath school and church services. Your liberal contributions have assisted in making this possible.

Offering this year surpasses last year's offering by nearly $2,500. As a result of your support, some 20 academy and college students were able to receive scholarships this summer by working in Inner City programs.

Elder L. B. Baker will begin evangelistic meetings October 9 in Perris. Meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Perris Fifth Street church, 300 East Fifth Street, continuing four nights a week—Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday—until November 29.

L. B. Baker

Elder Baker recently completed a successful campaign in Portland, Oregon, and is now preparing for the Crusade.

Your prayers are solicited for the success of the meetings. All who live in the area are invited to attend.

Names and addresses of relatives and friends to be invited should be sent to Elder Norman Snipes, 300 E. Fifth St., Perris, CA 92370.

Flood Destroys Home of C. B. Harris

A lone fireplace is all that remains of the C. B. Harris home in Ocotillo following the September 10 rain and flash flood.

Elder Charles Harris, a Bible teacher, and his wife, Shirley, a typing-secretarial skills teacher, returned to Ocotillo Friday morning to find their home nonexistent. A huge wall of water had rushed through the town, leveling the Harris home, totaling their car and carrying belongings miles downstream.

Shirley had expected to find damage in and around Ocotillo, but not to this extent. Prior to returning home from the Calexico Mission School Friday she commented, "I'm sure we will have to walk in from the freeway. The road to town will be flooded."

Charles mentioned to school principal Marvin Fehrenbach, "What upset me most is losing all my teaching aids for Bible." Personal belongings could be replaced. But for Charles there will be no slides or fossils for this year's Bible classes.

He lost hundreds of slides, cassette tapes, and a collection of gems, fossil plants and fossil fish, some of which were to be given to the students as souvenirs in their study of creation. Elder Harris also lost his entire library, including many old and rare books.

Shirley also suffered the loss of all her teaching materials. Her four-drawer file cabinet was found battered and bent. Inside were the remains of what were teaching aids for Typing and Office Practice.

Special meetings will be held for Spanish-speaking adults, youth and children.

Brochures will be sent to churches in a few weeks. Plan to attend this spiritual feast.

Bible Study Is Featured during Eight-week Series

"Understanding and Sharing Your Bible" is the title of an eight-week series of studies to be given at the Riverside sanctuary on Wednesday evenings beginning September 22 and running to November 10.

Lynn Mallery, coordinator of Ministerial Studies at Loma Linda University, will present the weekly lectures and lead out in discussions. The series is designed to help the layman understand how he can share his Bible. It is an opportunity to examine, in depth, the nature of Christian witnessing.

Lynn Mallery

Meetings will begin at 7 p.m. and conclude at 8:15 p.m. The church is located at 4850 Jurupa Avenue, Riverside.

MADISON REUNION—All alumni and friends of Madison College, Hospital, and Academy are invited to a potluck supper reunion Sabbath, September 25, at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Loma Linda University Church. Bring food and utensils sufficient for your family. Drink will be provided.

Youth To Conduct Series

Several members of the Lakeside Church, ranging in age 12-19, will be conducting an eight-night evangelistic series beginning October 2.

Under the direction of local church elder Dan Hunt, the young people have been diligently practicing their sermons for several months.

Title of the sermons coming to Lakeside in October include: "You Were Meant to Fly," "God's Radar," "The Mysterious Key," "From the Tub."

Although directed toward the younger generation from the Lakeside area, people of all ages are invited to attend these Christ-centered meetings at the church, 10404 Jennings Park Road, Lakeside. Call (714) 443-4009.

U.S. SENATOR JOHN TUNNEY took time to spend an hour visiting the Vacation Bible School at the Casa Blanca Community Center in Riverside. The six-week VBS has been sponsored by the La Sierra Spanish Church under the direction of Juan R. Vélez from Loma Linda University.

Workers Join Conference Staff

A National City, California girl, Carol J. Morris, directs the mail order desk at the Adventist Book Center.

Carol Morris

Mrs. Morris took her secretarial training at Valley Junior College 12 years ago. She worked at the VOP as a keypunch operator, as a secretary at Glendale Academy and did the emergency room billing at White Memorial Medical Center before joining the conference office staff.

Her husband, Don L. Morris, is the security officer at Glendale Academy. They have a daughter, Carol Joann.

Karen Torres is assisting in Child Evangelism at the ABC. She was born in Oakland, received her degree in secondary education from Loma Linda University (1972) and taught at La Sierra, Modesto and Armona, California before coming to Glendale.

Karen Torres

Her husband Dennis, who was born in Long Beach, is taking the medical technician's course at White Memorial Medical Center.

David Paul Moore of Glendale has come to operate the machines in Southern's workroom and to be Mrs. Stark's assistant. His major in Industrial Arts from Southern Missionary College (1976) well qualifies him for this position.

David Moore

Moore also has a major in aviation, has worked in the laundry and as a messenger at Glendale Adventist Medical Center.

Marlene Mays has come from Camp Cedar Falls to work in the Accounting Office. She worked in our youth department two years ago. Marlene has taught school and been a secretary at The Voice of Prophecy. She was born in Bakersfield and attended Pacific Union College.

GLENDALE ADVENTIST MEDICAL CENTER—The new main building is nearing completion and should be ready for occupancy before the end of the year. The old main building with administrative office and kitchen, cafeteria, etc., was damaged by the 1971 earthquake and has been used since that time on an interim basis. The old building has fortunately been usable during this extended construction period. We are grateful Glendale Adventist Medical Center has sufficient financial strength that with their own resources and heavy borrowing this new building can be constructed without appropriations of Conference funds. It is a credit to our medical work that it is financially self-supporting. Recent affiliations with Loma Linda University have strengthened the training program for family practice physicians. Let us pray that this wonderful institution will continue to be the right arm of the Adventist message in the Los Angeles community.

Soul Food Cooking Is Taught

Southern's first Vegetarian Soul Food Cooking School was held at the Berean church under the sponsorship of the Conference Inner City Department.

The instructors for this pioneering adventure were: Mary Burgess, author of the cookbook Soul to Soul, and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel De Shay, retired missionaries from Africa on study leave at Loma Linda University.

Each of the 17 delegates from five Black churches received a certificate to teach cooking school classes. Many students have already shared what they learned with their own churches and their non-Adventist friends.

Mrs. Burgess, affectionately called Mary by her students, is a good example of what God can do through a committed member. Baptized only three years ago, her presentations and cooking classes have touched the hearts of many in Southern.

TWO MORE CRUSADES—Southeastern California Conference Evangelist Merrill Enright is holding an evangelistic campaign that will run until October 22. They are meeting in the Schrillo Memorial Auditorium at Simi Valley. The Ventura Church invited Elder E. E. Duncan of Faith for Today to hold a campaign which started September 11 and will run until October 16 at their church address, 6300 Telephone Road.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH BRINGS RESULTS—This year VBS Leader Molly Rausten and her helpers wrote invitations for youngsters who have attended previously to come to Vacation Bible School at the Ridgecrest church. The number who came to the nine-day session, through their efforts this year, totaled 115 with 85 of them non-Adventists. Of special interest was the visit of a 4-H Club leader with two of her children and the guide dogs they are training. On closing day, Dottie Mott, a teacher of the visually handicapped, who is also blind, demonstrated how she has learned to cope with the problem.

CONGREGATION FINDS CHURCH—In two short years, the 112-member Indonesian-Dutch congregation has moved four times. However, answered prayer has found a $90,000 church in Montebello—a strategic location for most of the members. It seats 240, has six classrooms, a mother's room and a baptistry. Members are sacrificing to raise one-half of the cost before escrow time September 30.

SACRED CONCERT—Michael and Tamara Conlan, gospel recording artists, who were away from Christianity seven years, will sing and tell their conversion story at the Whittier church, 8841 South Calmada, October 9 at 6 p.m. The program is filled with music, meditation and praise. Colored slides accompany some of their songs.

AS THE FIRST WEEK of school came to a close at Monterey Bay Academy, 482 students had enrolled. The freshman class numbers 52; the sophomores, 107; the juniors, 164; and the seniors, 157. For the first time in the history of the school, MBA has more boys than girls. Total boys are 242, and the girls number 240. Above, (1) Dean Rittenbach begins the registration procedure, giving the boys their room keys and a general orientation about dorm life. (2) Elder Ratzlaff and Mr. Rosado help the juniors with their school schedules. (3) Yvonne Cartwright and Joy Northrup aid students in registration, giving them their computer class cards. (4) MBA student body "digs in" at the annual corn roast at the end of registration day. (5) Class of 1977 demonstrates skill in winning the sand-piling contest on the beach at MBA. (6) Principal Harvey Voth and faculty help the freshmen to victory in the traditional tug-of-war contest. Elder Voth's son, David, is a freshman. (7) Back to school, Class of '80 hits the books.

CAMP WAWONA LOST AND FOUND

Is your child missing something from junior camp? The Youth Department has many items that campers left behind, including towels, articles of clothing, books and Bibles. Most of these have no names on them. If you are missing an item, write or come to the Conference office, and a search will be made to try to locate it and return it to you. Any items not claimed by October 15 will be disposed of.

Workers Share Sabbath in Moab

Moab Church members were blessed recently when the Geo-Science tour group, headed by Robert Brown and Harold Coffin of Andrews University, spent the Sabbath in Moab. Eleven carloads of students, teachers and General Conference workers, many with their families, filled the little church for the Sabbath services.

Richard Rice of Loma Linda University, led out in the Friday evening vespers, announcing the speaker, General Conference Vice-president Duncan Eva. Everyone enjoyed the lesson study on Sabbath morning as Elder Donald Johns taught it. Before the 11 o'clock service GC Vice-president W. J. Hackett introduced the 35-member group.

GC Ministerial Director N. R. Dower gave the Sabbath sermon.

After church, members took

Las Vegas Congregation Welcomes New Members

At camp meeting this year Naomi Abbott joined the Las Vegas Church through baptism.

In the natural setting provided by the encircling mountains, Naomi was baptized in the cold mountain stream which flows through the property.

Members and guests from Nevada and Utah witnessed the baptism of this new member. Mrs. Abbott's friend and neighbor, Ruth Pepperakis, was the leading influence leading to her baptism.

One week later Edna Cliff joined the Adventist family through baptism in the baptistry of the new Las Vegas sanctuary.

NEVADA-UTAH

Robert Nickell Begins Work in Monument Valley

Elder and Mrs. Robert R. Nickell have recently moved to Monument Valley. He has assumed the pastorate of the Monument Valley Church. Previously the Nickells served in the Hamilton area of the Montana Conference.

Prior to serving in Montana the Nickells worked in Tehran, Iran, as a pastor-evangelist and in connection with the English language schools there. Earlier Elder and Mrs. Nickell served in the Idaho Conference.

The Nickells have two children. Terri, 21, is a physical therapist at Loma Linda University Hospital. Their son, Gerry, spent the summer working with the maintenance crew at Monument Valley. After the first of the year he will return to Walla Walla College where he is preparing for the ministry.

Right after the Nickells were established at Monument Valley, they went to Andrews University where Elder Nickell was enrolled in the Mission Orientation course offered there.

This course is offered to individuals planning to go into overseas mission work, but because of the unique nature of work at Monument Valley it would be beneficial for Elder and Mrs. Nickell to spend June 12-July 25 as Andrews University in the program. They found the experience to be very rich and rewarding, and may prove to be invaluable to them as they work in the Navajo community.

Associated with Elder Nickell at the present time is Elder Tom Holliday. Later on, Pastor Bud Joe Haycock will also be associated with him.

Pathfinders Take Trip down River in Canoes

On August 24 Moab's Pathfinders with their leader left the dock in Moab to paddle 20 miles down the Colorado River in canoes. Several hours later the weary travelers made camp on a sand bar which stretched almost across the river.

After supper, sleeping bags were rolled out on the sand and even the mosquitoes couldn't disturb the slumbering group. Next morning, Pathfinder leader Iris Skowbo cooked a huge pancake breakfast. Then once more the group took up their paddles and finished the last 10 miles of the trip.

The trip was the first canoe ride for many. Most said they enjoyed the adventure, but none escaped aching muscles.

The Pathfinders were happy to climb into the waiting truck for the return trip to Moab. Even so, another canoe trip is already on next year's agenda for the Pathfinders. Would you like to join them?

his first campaign in the Conference, to be held in the South Lake Tahoe area. Meetings will begin Saturday night, September 25, for the church family. The public phase of the evangelistic effort will begin October 2.

Pastor Charles Phelps and Associate Pastor Alex Brown are engaged in a program of visitation, preparing the way for the evangelistic meetings that will soon begin.

There are four daughters in the Morris family, all married.

We strongly encourage all of our members to help in every way possible when Elder Morris holds evangelistic meetings in your area. As our constituency becomes acquainted with these fine folk we know they will be pleased that Elder and Mrs. Morris are making Nevada-Utah their field of labor. Our prayers are with them.

A front-page reprint from Liberty magazine in the issue of September 13 was not intended as an endorsement of a presidential candidate. It appeared in answer to a request for information regarding what the candidates believe, and Liberty editors who supplied it thought readers of the Recorder are already familiar with the philosophy of the President. Moreover, it was not printed at the request of the Union's Religious Liberty Department. In keeping with our policy, it was an endorsement of another denominational publication—one of a series of reprints which have and/or will appear. We trust you are reading our national journals and know the stated intentions of all political candidates and will follow your own convictions regarding voting. The only conviction the staff supports is gratitude that the Lord saw fit to let us live in this free nation.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE

Parcourse To Aid in Campus Physical Fitness

If you heard the words "par" and "course" associated with the number 18, you would probably think of golf, but Pacific Union College's new 18-station parcourse is anything but a putting green.

Pacific Union College is the first Seventh-day Adventist college to install a parcourse, a series of exercise stations that has been called "a playground for adults with a purpose."

That purpose is to get people in shape, and it may be one of the most strenuous conditioning programs of all, combining jogging, calisthenics and coordination.

The 1½-mile course at PUC begins behind the old tennis courts in back of Clark Hall, winding through the forest in a figure-eight pattern past the new men's residence hall, out toward Cold Springs Road and back to the start.

At each exercise station a plexiglass sign framed in wood tells the jogger what exercises to perform and even illustrates how to do them. Stations are spaced approximately 300 yards apart.

Three different fitness levels are listed on the signs: starting, sport and championship. Par is the number of repetitions one should be able to do at each fitness level.

Five of the stations are straight exercises such as toe touching and jumping jacks, while the other 13 have different exercise apparatus constructed of heavy timber and pipe. Typical apparatus exercises include chinning-up on a bar, skipping along a low balance beam and vaulting a rail.

The parcourse is ready for use, according to Bob Sanders, a 1976 PUC graduate who constructed the course using plans from Parcourse Limited of San Francisco.

Sanders says the equipment should last at least 20 years with minimal maintenance.

The student senate voted last year to install a parcourse to promote physical fitness on campus. Total cost for the project is estimated at $8,500, says Dean of Student Affairs David Iglar.

The parcourse was invented in 1968 by the Vita Life Insurance Company of Zurich, Switzerland, and the idea soon spread to the United States. The first parcourse in America was installed in 1973 in San Francisco's Mountain Lake Park as a sales demonstration by Parcourse Limited.

The college will have one of the few parcourses in Northern California. Others are located at San Francisco and the Northstar ski resort area in the Sierras near Truckee.

Weekend Will Emphasize Prayer

"A Call to Prayer" will theme a series of worship services on the Pacific Union College campus the first full school weekend, September 24 and 25.

According to Campus Chaplain Ted Wick, the purpose of the emphasis on prayer is "to call attention to the need for prayer in the lives of the entire campus community."

Beginning the series at the Friday evening vespers in the Church Sanctuary will be Student Association Religious Vice President Bill Baker with a talk entitled "Who Prays?"

Both the 8:15 and 11 morning church services will be given by Church Pastor Morris Venden. "A Call to Prayer" is his sermon title.

Five prayer seminars are slated for Sabbath afternoon at 2, 3, and 4 p.m. Each seminar will be held three times.

Speakers and topics include: Elder Morris Venden, "Prayer in the Devotional Life," in the Church Sanctuary; John McIntosh, "Parents Pray," in the church choir room; and Paul Hawks, "Small Group Prayer," in Paulin Hall Auditorium.

Elder Paul Quimby will relive his escape from China with a seminar entitled, "Prayer in Crisis" in the Youth Chapel, and Chaplain Wick will present "Praying Your Way through College" in the Campus Center.

According to Elder Wick, the emphasis on prayer will be continued the following week in the morning student worship services. All church members are welcome to attend.

Students Complete Internships

Five Pacific Union College communications students have recently completed summer internships in broadcasting, public relations and journalism.

Senior public relations major Scot Roskelley worked for the Paradise Post in Paradise, California.

Senior journalism major Jim Fly wrote news copy for the College Relations Office at PUC, and manned PUC's booth displays at local fairs and camp meetings.

Robert B. Wareham, a senior journalism/broadcasting major, worked in the newsroom of radio station KIOI in San Francisco.

Margo Aparicio, a senior public relations/commercial art major, spent the summer at KNBR, NBC's powerhouse radio station in San Francisco.

Randy Cullen, who graduated with a BS in public relations this summer, did television production at KVVN, a cable TV station located in Napa.

ONE CHURCH MEMBER TO ANOTHER

"October 2 means what to you?"

"You're a poet."

"No, I'm serious. Do you know what happens October 2?"

"I really don't know but the calendar says October 2 is Sabbath, so what?"

"Right, and that's the beginning of Health Emphasis Week for all Seventh-day Adventist churches throughout North America."

Check with your local conference health director for details. Let's make October 2-9 something special in all our churches by promoting healthful living.

FROM SINGING TO SPEAKING—Wayne Hooper, long-time baritone with the King's Herald's Quartet and now director of music for The Voice of Prophecy, has found a new dimension of musical service. Hooper has prepared a new series of radio programs called "Music Scrapbook" featuring gospel music and musicians. Here he records a script for the new series, which will be released next year.

Taiwan Acrobats To Open Series

The Chinese Acrobats of Taiwan, an 11-family troupe of 65 with live Chinese music, will open the 1976-77 Concert Series at Pacific Union College, September 30 at 8 p.m. in Pacific Auditorium.

The Acrobats are making their second tour of the United States and have performed before millions of TV viewers with their performances on The Mike Douglas Show and ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Chinese acrobatics is based on an ancient Chinese goal to achieve perfect harmony between mind and body.

Single general-admission tickets are $5, and a limited number of reserve-seat tickets will be available for an additional $1. For information about season tickets, write Concert Series, Pacific Union College, Angwin, CA 94508, or call (707) 965-7362.
