KINDERGARTEN, PRIMARY and JUNIOR divisions of the Camarillo. California, Church went beyond their Christmas money giving last Thirteenth Sabbath. Hearing that children in Uganda were wishing for English books, they sorted through their own libraries for reading materials to share. Associate Superintendent Helen Clarke shipped 60 pounds of books to C. M. Aliddeki, executive director of the Western Uganda Field, for distribution. Former missionaries anticipate that parents will also share in the reading-that they would welcome even old Reader's Digests, just to have materials to read in English.

Review Announces Book Contest

Prizes of up to $750 are being offered in the Review and Herald's Write Now II book contest.

Submissions are now being accepted for book manuscripts in the category of practical Christian living. New and published authors are encouraged to share their ideas on how to stay healthy spiritually, physically, emotionally, socially and mentally.

"We have found that most Christians are interested in these areas. We want to publish what our church members need, and we are looking for new and exciting approaches to how to live the Christian life," explains Richard

Parts Needed for Braille Watches

Has your non-digital watch stopped ticking? If you're thinking about discarding it, please DON'T. The parts can be used to repair braille watches for blind persons.

In cooperation with the Pros and Cons Braille Unit, a program at the Nebraska State Penitentiary, Christian Record Braille Foundation is contributing springwound watches so that parts can be utilized to repair braille watches.

The Braille Unit, manned entirely by inmates, produces textbooks and other reading materials in braille, in addition to repairing braille typewriters and watches.

Send your non-digital watches, working or not, to Wendell Carpenter, Christian Record Braille Foundation, 4444 South 52nd, Lincoln, NE 68506.

Two South American Countries To Benefit From March 31 Special Projects Offering

Two countries of South America will benefit from the special projects offering to be taken in Pacific Union Sabbath schools March 31.

Secondary schools will be erected in north Chile and east Brazil, and new chapels will house the burgeoning congregations in northern Chile, especially.

On the eastern coast of Brazil, which occupies almost half of the land mass of this Division, the new boarding school near Salvador will be known as Minas Gerais Academy. Situated in the northern portion of the strip of land which runs much of the length of South America, the Chilean construction will replace an inadequate day school operated by the Central Church in Antofagasta.

Chapels for Chile are a necessity in this country which, though still predominantly Roman Catholic, is attracting increasing numbers of evangelical Christian groups. In fact, in all of the South American Division there is need of beginning construction of one new chapel each day to house the growth during these Thousand Days of Reaping.

Brazilians credit widespread church schools for a large portion of their growth and membership. Marking the establishment of Brazil College in 1915, the year Ellen White died, they point to the fact that they have followed her counsels for the erection of schools even though she had no specific admonitions for their nation. They now have 10 boarding schools and hundreds of day educational centers built up over the past 63 years.

UNDER THE MOTTO "Build stations where possible and lease time where necessary," Adventist World Radio is attempting to cover the world with a message of hope. Providing programming to accommodate a multiplicity of languages and cultures demands a utilization of help wherever it can be found. Here African students at Andrews University prepare programs in French for Francophone countries in Africa. It is not too late to give in support of AWR's unending ministry.

Sunspot Productions, the Voice of Prophecy spot ministry headed by John Robertson, received a "Certificate of Excellence and Merit" for a collection of "commercials" emphasizing Christmas. This was the only Adventist award in the radio category.

Of the 10 listings in the albums category, four went to Adventist artists. An "Angel" went to Big Jim McDonald for "A Brand New Love for Christmas." "Certificates of Merit' were given to "Spirit of Praise" by the Heritage Singers and "Favorites through the Years" to The Heralds quartet sponsored by the Spoken Word of Oxnard, California.

"Secrets of the Kingdom," the creation of Jeff Wood and E. J. Irish and produced by the William Jeffrey Group of Camarillo, California, was judged the best children's record.

George Vandeman and all the artists involved expressed pleasure at being used by God to bring this recognition to His work.

PLANS FOR THE ANNUAL ASI CONVENTION are being finalized for April 25-29 at the Soquel Adventist Convention Center near Santa Cruz. Special speakers include Sang Lee, M.D., an allergy specialist and Weimar health educator; Bruce Boyer, an Escondido economics adviser; and William Johnsson, editor of the Adventist Review. Officers and board members invite ASI members and those who would like to be to share the weekend. Concluding leadership for the current year are (kneeling) Sara Deacon, Oceanside; Robert Fillman, Weimar; Tom Zapara, Irvine; Russ Potter, Arroyo Grande; and Dale McBride, El Cajon. Standing are Caris Lauda, Desert Hot Springs; Rose Marie Borris, Castro Valley; Calvin Osborn, Riverside; Paul Damazo, Riverside; Art Wilson, Carson City, Nevada; Juanita Boyson, Modesto; Jim Cunnington, Westlake Village; Helen Hickok, Santa Cruz; Max Torkelsen, Glendale; Ora McLean, Glendale; and John Weidner, Temple City.

AS AN ACT TO CLOSE the officially proclaimed YEAR OF THE BIBLE, President Ronald Reagan has been presented the 28-millionth copy of the Living Bible. Making the presentation was Dr. Kenneth N. Taylor, the man who prepared the contemporary version of the Bible that first appeared at book stores in August 1971. President Reagan declared that every year should be The Year of the Bible, when Dr. Taylor made the presentation in the oval office of the White House. Several Biblical groups chose Dr. Taylor to present a Living Bible to the President because of the impact the easy-to-read version has made on the public, and because the publication of 28 million copies in 12 years is a water-mark number for any book. Shortly after The Living Bible hit the bookstores, it became the number one non-fiction best seller, and remained in that category for more than a year.

The first prize is $750; second prize, $450; and third prize, $200. According to Elder Coffen, regular royalties will be paid in addition to the prizes. Royalties will also be paid on manuscripts published that do not win a prize. However, the Review and Herald reserves the right not to award prizes if submissions are not acceptable for its needs.

All entries should be typewritten, double-spaced, on 90-160 sheets of 8½" x 11" paper (no easy-erase paper). Each author may submit an unlimited number of entries, but each manuscript should be accompanied by return postage. New authors should write for "AHEM . . . as You Write Your Manuscript" before starting, which Elder Coffen says will give them useful tips.

All manuscripts on practical Christian living should be sent to: Write Now II, Review and Herald Publishing Association, 55 West Oak Ridge Drive, Hagerstown, MD 21740.

Women To Be Nominated for Awards

The Association of Adventist Women is seeking nominations for women who will be recognized for their outstanding contributions to the Adventist Church in the role they have been called to fill; for example, mother, wife, missionary, church officer, professionist, active retiree or other. Nominees must be utilizing their talents and spiritual gifts in the home, church, work place and community without the neglect of any area.

These women will be honored in a special meeting at the national convention of the Association of Adventist Women at Andrews University July 13-15.

The purpose of the Women of the Year Awards is to promote and encourage women in the Adventist Church to reach their highest potential and provide role models for all women. In addition to publicity in the Review, communications will be sent to union papers and local newspapers.

Please use the following format for nominations: Your name, address, telephone number (including area code); nominee name, address and telephone number; why nominated and category (homemaker, secretary, musician, writer or other). Each nomination must include three reference names, addresses and telephone numbers,

"Elder Bustamante preaches with the fervor and enthusiasm of a young minister," says Hearley Roscher, pastor at Tucson. "We were really blessed; and the church appreciated the ministry of Elder Bustamante," added Elder Roscher. There were 11 baptisms and, on the eve of the baptismal service, nine decisions.

The night of February 18 coincided with Elder and Mrs. Roschers' 25th wedding anniversary; and so, with Elder Bustamante presiding, they renewed their vows. Church members and visitors participated in a banquet celebrating the occasion.

Following a revival and reaping series in Tucson by Gilberto Bustamante, 11 were baptized and nine made decisions to take that step. Elder Bustamante is shown at the far left, and on the right are M. Quiroz, first elder, and behind him, Hearley E. Roscher.

Campus Hill Church Celebrated by Giving

At a celebration service Thanksgiving eve, Loma Linda Campus Hill Church members donated enough food for about 100 Thanksgiving or Christmas baskets, according to Greta Berry, director of Campus Hill Community Services.

The Campus Hill pastors, dressed in pilgrim costume for the occasion, received and arranged the food as Thanksgiving celebrants filed row by row to the front of the sanctuary with their love gifts. The pastors then joined their families and other staff members, also dressed in pilgrim or Indian costume, to lead in a program recounting God's blessings.

Following the celebration, Campus Hill deacons carried two truckloads of food to the Community Services Center, and also counted $265 in love offerings to be used for additional food.

According to Mrs. Berry, the food baskets provided a balanced menu for the Thanksgiving or Christmas meals, including the traditional pumpkin pie and whipped cream.

We distribute these baskets to families who otherwise might not have Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner," said Mrs. Berry. "Our baskets are sometimes received with tears of gratefulness. We want the holiday season to be special for everyone."

Paradise Church Goes on the Air

The Paradise Church has gone on the air with "Sounds of Praise," the entire church service, which is now being broadcast each week over local radio station KEWQ (AM 93). The broadcast began February 4 and is heard from 12 noon to 1 p.m. each Saturday.

This is the first time any complete church service has been broadcast in Paradise. Because of technical problems, there is a week's lapse between the taping of the service and the broadcast.

"The members are happy indeed to be able to share their church service with the many who will be able to attend via the air waves," states Ruth Conard, communication secretary of the Paradise Church.

Speaker at the organizational meeting held at the Modesto Parkwood church was Dr. Olov Blomquist, who related experiences relative to Adventist radio work he and his wife are actively promoting in Europe.

Dr. Blomquist told the story of a husband and wife in a small town in northern Italy who, in spite of almost insurmountable obstacles, started and financed a radio program. Soon the bitter opposition of townspeople changed to approval and support. Then their two children, 9 and 11, organized a successful radio program for the children in the area.

Campbell Organizes Kindness Ministry

"It's so sad to grow old and be alone," Helen sighed from her convalescent hospital bed as tears dampened her eyes. Members of the Campbell Church are concerned about Helen and other elderly shut-ins who feel isolated, lonely and neglected.

A Kindness Ministry was organized to reach out to elderly church members. Participating in groups, children and adults visit the elderly in convalescent hospitals and private homes on Sabbath afternoons. They sing songs of praise, share Bible verses and fellowship together.

Church members show kindness in a variety of ways. A potluck dinner was organized to honor elderly members. Each honored guest received a personal invitation by mail, transportation was provided where needed, and each one was given a red carnation corsage. A musical program added to the occasion.

The youth department sponsored a work session at the home of an elderly woman recovering from surgery. Church members are encouraged to visit the sick or to send greeting cards. Others have "adopted" a grandparent from the congregation, extending kindness throughout the week, to include phone calls, helping hands, Bible reading, or sharing home-cooked meals. Several persons carry on a note-writing ministry as part of the program.

"Taking part in the kindness program has enriched my life," says Kathy. "I probably receive a greater blessing than the older folk do."

NATIONWIDE INSURANCE COMPANIES contributed $2,000 in unrestricted funds to LLU La Sierra. Carrying group insurance through NI, the campus has annually received a contribution from the Ohiobased firm. While attending meetings at the General Conference, Provost R. Dale McCune, Ed.D., made acquaintance with some of the executives at the corporate headquarters, thanking them for their past support and encouraging its continuation. In the photograph are (left to right): William Johnston, NI group manager, Ted Uren, campus business administrator, Terry Brown, NI sales manager, Provost McCune, and Darrell Gray, personal lines sales manager.

News Notes

DURING THE PAST THREE YEARS a unique multimedia program has evolved at LLU La Sierra. Entitled "The Ages of Man," the program features Sculptor Alan Collins, FRBS, ARCA, professor of art, as he creates in clay an ever-changing head, passing from infancy to old age. Dorothy Minchin-Comm, Ph.D., professor of English, together with other readers and musicians, provides the background for this procession of life. Several Pacific Union institutions have hosted the performance and only three performances remain on the schedule for California: April 18, 12 noon, Southeastern California Conference Assembly Room, 11330 Pierce, Riverside; April 21, 11 a.m., Arlington Adventist Church, 8778 Magnolia, Riverside; April 27, Friday evening vespers, Pacific Union College, Angwin. A sequel to "The Ages of Man'" will run on May 5 and May 19 as part of LLU's Fine Arts Festival '84. Based on the theme of brotherhood, it will show on May 5 at both the first and second services of the University Church and on May 19 in the first and second services of the La Sierra Collegiate Church.

RICHARD FRATES AND HIS FRIENDS WERE AT IT AGAIN. Over a February weekend, the ministerial studies major from Arizona and about a dozen friends from LLU La Sierra hauled themselves, food, and about a ton of clothing and toys to Mexicali. Mr. Frates had made the same trip earlier with only two others and one vehicle; but this time the trip required two cars, one station wagon, and a pickup truck. The group included Juan Velez, professor of Spanish, Erik Velez (no relation to the professor), Brent Brusett, Oscar Rubio, Mary Lynn Franks, Cyndi Maschak, Ricky Frates (Richard's son), and others.

"Who Cares?" Reaches Wide Audience

The British Union Conference Committee is looking to the Northern European Division and Adventist World Radio for financial support for a broadcast that covers Britain and parts of two divisions.

"Who Cares?"—the successful 15-minute weekly broadcast begun October 24—will end Monday, April 23, unless sponsorship can be found. Air-time rates for the broadcast are approximately $2,000 a program, about one-third of the normal tariff.

Thus, at a cost of only two or three cents per listener, Adventists are reaching an estimated British audience of 50,000 to 100,000 each week (mostly in the 15- to 34-year age bracket) with additional listeners throughout Scandinavia, central and southern Europe and Eire. It would cost ap-

Lesher Appointed Andrews President

W. Richard Lesher, 59, has been appointed president of Andrews University and is expected to take up duties as president of Andrews sometime this spring.

Dr. Lesher is currently one of six general vice presidents of the General Conference, a position held since 1981. Since 1979 he has also been director of the Biblical Research Institute.

Dr. Lesher has a Ph.D. in religious education from New York University, New York City, which he received in 1970. He earned a master of arts degree from Andrews University in 1964 in Old Testament studies and a bachelor of theology degree in 1946 from Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Massachu-proximately $50,000 to keep the program going for another 26 weeks.

For Adventist World Radio, Board Secretary Tulio Haylock indicates that the board can support only the Luxembourg broadcast, as insufficient funds come in to finance this as well as other denominational programs from stations in Gabon, Sri Lanka, Portugal, Spain and Guatemala.

And only with such media as radio can the church reach the five billion people on planet earth. Thank you for your support of Adventist World Radio.

During January only the Hawaii Conference showed a tithe gain and only .697 percent.

Only Northern California showed a gain in missions funds—

4.366 percent.

Remember that 1984 had only four Sabbaths, while '83 had five.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE recently played a role in the planned construction of an Adventist academy in the Marshall Islands. John Clough, shown above, directed the loading of four 20-foot sea containers headed for the Marshall Islands and the academy construction project. Mr. Clough, a former director of physical plant at the La Sierra Campus of Loma Linda University and a current SOS (Sustentation Overseas Service) worker in the Marshall Islands, was helped during Christmas vacation by a number of PUC staff as they loaded one ton of floor tile, 750 gallons of paint, wall board, electrical supplies, lumber, carpet and a piano. The construction project was scheduled to begin in February, aided by a crew of student volunteers from san Gabriel Academy. Oak armchair desks for the new academy
