Special Report on the ASI National Convention

The setting was picturesque Spokane, Washington, headquarters for the Upper Columbia Conference. The convention site was well chosen and it appeared that travel distance to this somewhat isolated part of North America proved not to be an obstacle to those who came from great points afar to attend this series of meetings.

As a first-time attendee, I was very curious about the mission of ASI and the thousands of people who belong to this organization. Standing in front of the registration book I saw numerous retirees with peppy steps and strides, going from one place to another. A host of middle-aged people were there and to my surprise, a goodly number of younger people.

A common element among those whom I watched was a contagious happy spirit. So many people with sparkle in their eyes and wearing such beautiful smiles—and Adventists on top of that! They had come to make reports, participate on programs, attend seminars, enjoy fellowship, and to worship the God of Creation.

ASI members are members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church who have businesses which they own and operate. They are people who are not ashamed to witness about the power and love of God. Many could easily testify about an increase in faith as they took God as the partner in their business enterprises. They know from experience how the Lord blesses those who make Him first in business and in the personal life.

Among the many seminars conducted at this national convention was the Adventist Broadcasters Association, headed by our own Betty Cooney, Communication Director of Greater New York Conference and one of the church's public relations experts in broadcast and television.

How happy I was that Elder A. C. McClure, North American Division President, called a meeting for all the Union Conference Presidents during the ASI Convention. What we saw there made us proud of our lay people who are on fire for Jesus and take Him with them into the marketplace. I overheard someone say "this is the cream of the crop! These people mean business and want to see the work of God finished SOON!"

The weather threatened to disrupt things once but a hand more powerful than the elements moved the hard rains and winds elsewhere. ASI members were in Spokane on a mission. They came prepared for action and when the time finally arrived for the offering appeal, the people were willing, happy, and ready! They give strongly to support the mission of ASI.

Imagine the "amens" when it was announced that over ONE MILLION DOLLARS had been received that morning and they were still counting. Several worthwhile projects will benefit from that love offering.

In 1996, the ASI National Convention will be held in Providence, Rhode Island, right here in ATLANTIC UNION territory. Do you want to catch the vision of being a partner with God and seeing Him bless and use you? Next July 31 to August 4 are the dates to remember.

You can become a member of this energetic group. Why not become a part of the "cream of the crop" and become a happy, willing, and ready person to be used by His Spirit! Give God a chance and He'll never let you down!

KEEPING THE MISSIONARY SPIRIT ALIVE

Continuing our heritage of dedication to our missionary spirit of the South Lancaster SDA Church, two of our young people left during August to teach overseas. Stacie Rose of Clinton, Massachusetts, left August 13 to teach English in Korea for a year. In addition to teaching, she will be involved on Sabbaths with youth ministries.

Stacie graduated from Atlantic Union College in 1994 with a B.S. in Psychology and again in 1995 having majored in Elementary Education. She is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Powell who lives in Clinton.

Matthew Curtis, son of Edgar and Helen Curtis of South Lancaster, Massachusetts, left August 21 to teach conversational English in Moscow, Russia, during the next year. Matthew graduated from Atlantic Union College in 1993 and has been on the faculty of Mr. Ellis Academy, Bozeman, Montana, where he has been teaching music for the past two years.

Accompanying Matthew to also teach English in Moscow, Russia, is John Winslow. John graduated from Walla Walla College, Washington, in 1993 and has been assistant dean of boys and in development at Mt. Ellis Academy.

Stacie, Matthew, and John would appreciate letters and cards from fellow members. Letters may be sent, designating the person addressed, in care of:

General Conference of SDA
International Teacher Service
12501 Old Columbia Pike
Silver Spring, MD 20904

Other young people also have left the South Lancaster Church to serve overseas or in the United States during previous years. David Lay, son of Pastor and Mrs. David Lay now of Florida, served on maintenance in Malawi during the 1980s.

During the next few years, Ruth, Joy, and Mary Roberts, daughters of Alfred and Edna Roberts of South Lancaster, Massachusetts, all served. Ruth taught at Holbrook SDA Indian Mission School in Arizona in 1982, Joy served in South Korea teaching Bible and English in 1991, and Mary was at Ozark SDA Academy, Gentry, Arkansas, as assistant dean of girls in 1992. All the girls enjoyed the varied experiences and found the positions fulfilling.

Also, in 1993, Matthew Seymour, son of Daniel Seymour, South Lancaster, spent a year in Japan teaching English as a second language. Wade McCall, son of Jerry and Pat McCall of South Lancaster, left last year on August 10 to teach Bible in Ekamai International School, Bangkok, Thailand. He returned last July 5 and assisted with the summer program at Camp Lawroweld, Maine.

It surely is a wonderful experience for the young people to participate actively in the missionary programs of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. May the Lord richly bless the efforts of these young people, and may we always remember them in our prayers and with our letters.

FIRST AWR "SILVER TRUMPET" AWARD HONORS VOP FOUNDER

Adventist World Radio recently paid tribute to the lifetime achievements and vision of Voice of Prophecy founder H. M. S. Richards Sr. with its first Silver Trumpet Award.

Kenneth J. Mittleider, retiring chairman of both the Adventist World Radio and Adventist Media Center Boards, presented the plaque to Mabel Richards during the August 23 meeting of the AMC Board. The engraved message recalls Richards' "splendid vision of the power of radio to complete the Gospel Commission."

An accompanying citation from General Conference president Robert S. Folkenberg declares, "His shining faith and deep commitment were, and continue to be, an inspiration to generations of Seventh-day Adventists. On behalf of the worldwide Church, we express our appreciation for his long and fruitful ministry."

This year marks the 65th anniversary of Richards' founding of the VOP.

Harold Reiner prefaced the award ceremony: "God prompted minds to invent and create the technology of radio. Then He gave to the church and to the world H. M. S. Richards. He was a visionary for the worldwide preaching of the Message by radio. In his imagination, he pictured hands around the world, reaching out and touching radio buttons, twirling knobs and dials, and finding the sound of the trumpet proclaiming that Jesus is coming again."

Reiner made note of Richards' "dream of broadcasts especially for China" which "became the dream of other people and the church and finally became a reality. Unfortunately, he died before AWR-Asia went on the air, but his dream was fulfilled."

CHARLES E. WENIGER AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE GIVEN TO DEL DELKER

The 1995 Charles Elliott Weniger Award for Excellence was given to Del Delker during worship services at the Loma Linda University Church on August 19. Senior pastor William Loveless, a member of the committee that selects award recipients, made the presentation.

Charles E. Weniger was an educator, writer, preacher, administrator, and counselor whose name is synonymous with excellence. The Weniger Award honors persons whose life has also been committed to excellence.

A 1918 alumnus of Pacific Union College, Weniger taught there until 1947, except for four years at Washington Missionary College (now CUC). He joined the faculty of the Theological Seminary in 1947, later serving as dean, both in Washington, DC, and at Andrews University. He died in 1964.

Del Delker joined the Voice of Prophecy team in 1947. Her rich contralto voice has inspired hundreds of thousands, and she continues to sing on the broadcast and in public meetings. Thanks to international phonetic characters, she has been able to sing in 15 languages of Europe, Asia, and Africa.

Del's name now joins that of H. M. S. Richards and other recipients on engraved plaques mounted with large Weniger Award display medallions that hang in the libraries of Andrews University and Pacific Union College.

FOURTH TRANSMITTER FOR AWR-ASIA APPROVED

An unprecedented speedy approval" by the Federal Communication Commission will see a fourth transmitter installed on Guam this month, according to Walter Scragg, AWR president.

"This is the fastest I have ever seen a construction permit issued!" exclaimed George Jacobs, frequency consultant for AWR, when he called Scragg with the news on July 25. AWR had expected that the permit would not be approved before August 30 at the earliest.

The application for the permit was made in early June 1995, just a few weeks after GC President Robert Folkenberg announced that a donor had indicated the desire to provide the funds needed to purchase the transmitter. Folkenberg made the announcement at the dedication of the third transmitter on Guam in May. The third transmitter was funded through an estate; some funds remained from this purchase, and, with the new donation, will be enough to pay for the $573,000 piece of equipment.

"Since we placed the order for the fourth transmitter so soon after buying the third one," said Scragg, "Continental Electronics was willing to give us a good price and will send an engineer to Guam to commission the machine at no extra cost."

"The beauty of these additional machines is not the technology," says Gordon Retzer, AWR-Asia manager, "although that is mind-boggling. The beauty is in the fact that we now have the opportunity to add many more languages from our Global Mission target list, and make use of more prime-time hours."

AWR didn't anticipate being able to use the transmitter before Spring 1996, said Retzer, but would "joyfully add new programs as soon as it is up and running. We'll take God's timetable over ours!"

Construction on the radio station known as AWR-Asia began in 1985 with funds from the General Conference offering that year. The original plan was for four transmitters and antennas. When funding was not adequate for the whole plan, the AWR board decided "on faith" to construct a building to house four transmitters, but only purchased two at the time. Four antennas were installed initially, however, on a system that permitted any of them to be used by any transmitter.

Scragg indicated that, while there will be some additional operating costs, they "will not include more staff, since the station is automated and an operator can run four transmitters as easily as two."

"There's no way we can say an adequate thank you to our donors—those who make equipment purchase possible, and also those whose regular donations keep AWR on the air," said Robert Folkenberg. "The gratitude for these gifts will come from the hearts of those millions of people in Asia who will now be able to hear the gospel for the first time."

NEW PROGRAMS, NEW STUDENTS BRING ENERGY TO THE '95-'96 SCHOOL YEAR

The school year at Atlantic Union College is up and running, with exciting new programs, academic challenges, and a wide variety of returning and new students who expand and energize the college family. College convocation service filled Machlan auditorium, where AUC president James J. Londis challenged students to "Ask impertinent questions," as spiritual and political leaders such as Sojourner Truth and Martin Luther King, Jr. did. "All learning begins by asking questions," he added.

This year, AUC's innovative academic program, which allows students to design their own majors as well as take traditional and preprofessional courses has attracted an unusual number of commuting and transfer students who are looking for a college that is flexible, dynamic, and driven by Christian ethics.

"I'm here because of the wide variety of classes that are available to me at AUC," says one transfer student from University of Massachusetts. "I also wanted a closer working relationship with my professors than I can get on a bigger campus." Another new student is at AUC in order to study music in a department whose enrollment has nearly doubled over the summer.

Kakuko Tanaka, Pamela Cromwell, and Reina DeJesus are three new students who are here because of AUC's combination of cultural variety, good academics, and Christian world view.

"I commute to AUC rather than go to a campus closer to home because of Thayer's program and AUC's reputation as being a campus that is driven by Christian ethics and commitment to educating the whole person. Learning music involves more than just becoming proficient with an instrument or one's voice."

Crystal Lewis at Continuing Education helps Debora Shakoor register for the fall session.

Cheryl Cardenas, administrative assistant to division chairs and other AUC staff joined students at the "Welcome" lunch planned by the administration for new and returning students.

A returning student from England adds, "There are issues in the church as well as in the world that I want to be able to think about clearly. I am eager to be back on a campus where faculty are willing and able to tackle them and to help us think some of these through. SDA life isn't easy, right now, given some decisions the church has made for me."

Along with AUC's new academic program the college's new dining commons has added a new dimension to student life: Chan Shun Dining Commons now houses a wide variety of meetings and special events as well as comfortable, lingering meals for students, faculty, and staff, who are enjoying more time together on campus than they have for years. "Sitting by the window at lunch time and watching the hustle and bustle of college life outside has become a break I look forward to," says one college staff person.

English professor and chair of AUC's General Studies division Norman Wendth and English and history major Astrid Wendth meet at the foyer of the dining commons after convocation and before joining the "Welcome" luncheon.

"This year will be a busy and dynamic year for the college—a year of new challenges and new resources here" says President Londis. Our family is developing and growing in ways we never imagined even five years ago. This is an exciting time to be at Atlantic Union College."

"WITH GOD, ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE."

The 13 students of the eighth-grade class at Jackson Heights School in Queens adopted Matthew 19:26 as their motto in September 1994 when they started to dream about their graduation trip.

Unlike previous classes that had traveled to Virginia; Washington, DC; Florida; and Vermont, the Class of 1995 set their sights on Puerto Rico, a seemingly impossible goal. But the students were blessed with five mothers willing to work hard alongside them and so, promising the Lord they would be faithful to Him, the group set to their task. Nine months and many lunch sales, school banquets, walk-a-thons, and flea markets later, the team praised the Lord for nearly $6,000 raised!

In late May, a total of 21 excited travelers set off for five non-stop days. The eager eighth-graders learned of Puerto Rico's history from visits to El Morro, the Ponce Art Museum, and a sugar cane plantation. They saw God's handiwork in the caves at Camuy, the phosphorescent fish at La Parguera, and beautiful Luquillo Beach. They enjoyed the gracious hospitality of Antillian College.

But even more precious than the memories with which these young people returned is the rich experience they received from watching how their Heavenly Father answered when they called upon Him, and put even the impossible within their reach.

"LIFT HIGH THE CROSS"

The theme "Lift High the Cross" rang throughout the campground of the New York Conference Camp meeting. Spiritual revival and decisions for Christ were the objectives. The New York Prayer Corp prayed continually during the daylight and evening hours, and group prayers were held in the chapel each day.

Each of the evening speakers, Dedrick Blue, Ramona Greek, Philip Samaan and Jack Sequeira, presented different aspects of the cross. The morning seminar speakers, Lee Gugliotto and Keavin Hayden, told us of the urgency of lifting the cross before everyone we meet. The constituents of New York praised God for the special blessings received at Camp Meeting '95.

Union Springs Academy Highlight

The administration of Union Springs Academy is happy to announce its opening enrollment for the 1995-96 school year at 90. This year's budget was based on 75 students plus one foreign student. The administrative staff and principal, Beverly MacLaughlin, were pleasantly surprised when 90 students registered, four of whom are foreign.

Several states and four countries including Canada, Japan, Korea and Russia are represented by our new student body. We have entered into this academic year knowing that God is leading in every aspect of our program.

In today's world, every young person should be attending a Christian institution. If you know of a student who should be at Union Springs Academy, please call us at (315) 889-7314 and ask for Greg Carter, Carol Cabrera or Beverly MacLaughlin. We would love to talk with you!

"CHRIST IN YOU, THE HOPE OF GLORY"

The Psalmist says, "O, taste and see that the Lord is good!" Camp Meeting 1995, held on the beautiful campus of Pine Tree Academy in Freeport, Maine, heralded the opportunity for fulfillment of this Scripture. Young and old alike tasted and were fed through the spiritually uplifting messages, the magnificent music, and the meeting of old and the making of new friends. We look forward, longingly, to the "Heavenly Camp Meeting" in which we will realize complete fulfillment of the text, for we will "have tasted the kindness of the Lord." (1 Peter 2:3).

PARKVIEW ANNOUNCES NEW CEO

Gaylen Johnson, M.D., Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Parkview Memorial Hospital, is pleased to announce the appointment of Jon W. Gepford as new President/CEO of Parkview.

Mr. Gepford was most previously Executive Vice President-Chief Operating Officer of Harding Hospital in Worthington, Ohio. Harding is a comprehensive behavioral healthcare organization with 120 licensed inpatient mental health and substance abuse beds.

Gepford's previous professional experiences include serving as President/CEO of Thorek Hospital and in the same capacity at Hyde Park Hospital, both in the Chicago, Illinois, area.

Gepford earned his bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Southern College in Collegedale, Tennessee, and has completed graduate work at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

His professional affiliations include Rotary International. Gepford is married and has a nine-year-old son.

"We are all very excited about Jon joining the Parkview team. His broad-based professional experience in large and small hospitals in both rural and city settings will very clearly be an asset to both the hospital and the community as changes in healthcare continue to occur," said Johnson in making the announcement.

Gepford began his duties at Parkview June 19.

"FILLED WITH HIS SPIRIT"

Southern New England's 126th Camp Meeting has ended, and many joys were expressed from the members as we celebrated our theme "Filled With His Spirit."

Special to this camp meeting was a morning Bible study hour with small groups of members and a pastor. Their subject was the Holy Spirit. In the afternoon a second Bible study hour with different pastors was held with the subjects the members wanted to discuss.

Also, since 1995 was the year of the Adventist Woman, the morning devotional speakers were all women. We appreciate the excellent studies given by our Southern New England Conference women who were Tirsia Gonzalez, Sandra Doran, Elizabeth Castle, Mary Lou Kidder, Sarah Fanton, Hyveth Williams, Catherine Taylor and Millie Case.

The morning assembly study hour was conducted by Keavin Hayden, a layman from Arkansas. His book on The Shaking of God's People was the theme for his presentations.

The evening series on Christ and the doctrines of Salvation was presented by Dr. Roger Bothwell. Will Ness, as always, had beautiful music planned throughout the encampment. The musical talent God has given to many members in our Conference is tremendous. They used their talents to His glory during the meetings. Our souls were lifted heavenward with the beautiful music.

The first weekend series was presented by Bill Tucker, The Quiet Hour speaker, along with Marilyn and Dan Cotton, vocalists. The second Sabbath speaker was Charles C. Case, Sr., Southern New England Conference President.

Southern New England Conference is unique in that there are four camp meetings in one—English, Spanish, Portuguese and Haitian. What a blessing it is to have all four language groups meeting at the same time. Speakers for the language groups were:

Spanish — Wilson Roberts, Southern New England Conference Education Director; Steven Bohr, Texico Conference Ministerial Director; Willie Oliver, Atlantic Union Conference Youth Director; and Daniel Pabon, Chaplain Hialeah Hospital, Florida

Portuguese — Pastor Acilio Alves Filho, Central Brazil Union Youth and Pathfinder Director

Haitian — Robert Kennedy, Atlantic Union College

God blessed in a mighty way. The encampment spirit was excellent. There were no serious accidents or problems. We look forward to June 15–22, 1996, for our next camp meeting. We would prefer to hold our 1996 camp meeting in Heaven; but, if we are still here, we will celebrate again here at our South Lancaster campgrounds. Please mark your calendar and plan to be with us for this spiritual feast in 1996.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS PRESENTS 13TH SABBATH PROGRAM

On 13th Sabbath at the Airport Drive church, Worcester, Massachusetts, the children's classes present to the Adult Sabbath School class a sampling of what they learned during the past quarter. This is always an enjoyable time.

A 13th Sabbath program was particularly enjoyable. The kindergarten class, under the supervision of their teachers Theresa Robidoux, Holly Bartelmann, and Cynthia White-Linton, proudly displayed individual quilts made from actual artwork and colored each Sabbath morning by the children. Drawings were made with fabric crayons, transferred to squares of material, and then sewn together by their teachers. The children drew specific pictures. One week they drew a star, another week they traced their hands, and another week they drew the church or Jesus or a flower.

These quilts were very creative and will surely be treasured for many years to come by both children and parents. They will also be a reminder of the happy times spent in kindergarten learning of Jesus.

ACN LINKS LOCAL CHURCHES WITH RESOURCES FOR MINISTRY

1995-1996 SEASON OF TRAINING AND OUTREACH EVENTS BEGINS

Last February, thanks to satellite technology, North America facilitated Net '95, the largest evangelistic effort in the history of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, so far resulting in more than 5,000 baptisms. And in June and July, thousands of North, South, and Inter-Americans tuned in to live transmissions from Utrecht, Holland, where the 56th General Conference Session was held.

Both of these events were uplinked via satellite on the Adventist Communication Network (ACN), a service of the North American Division that, according to General Manager Monte Sahlin, links local churches with resources for ministry and with church leadership. Priority Programs Sahlin reports that this month, in addition to the evangelism opportunities and informational reports, ACN began offering local churches a variety of satellite-linked training, outreach, and nurturing events.

"We conducted a number of focus groups with scores of pastors and lay leaders across North America who told us they needed and wanted training, outreach, nurturing, and informative events from ACN," he says. "Since ACN is a resource to local churches, we're making their needs a priority."

Jack Calkins, executive producer of training and outreach events for ACN, says that further study with pastors narrowed those needs to three subjects—Bible study, family, and health.

Training Workshops — Fourteen training workshops, designed to meet the needs of church leaders and members, will be held on Sabbath afternoons. (The practical workshops will focus on how to start effective youth, friendship evangelism, Vacation Bible School, Bible study, and family ministry programs in local churches and communities. There are also workshops on stewardship, conducting Revelation seminars, and helping local congregations find spiritual renewal.)

Reclaiming Roundtable — a live and interactive town hall meeting for pastors and lay leaders focuses on reclaiming former and inactive members of the church. One Sabbath of every quarter, a lively discussion is facilitated by Paul Richardson and Warren Nelson of the Baby Boomer Ministries Resource Center, and special guests.

Outreach Seminars — Eight educational seminars that focus on healthy lifestyles, family finances, the relevance of Christianity, prayer, and parenting will be conducted on Sunday evenings. Church members should invite friends, neighbors, non-attending family members, co-workers, and members of the local community to attend.

Nurturing/Informative Events — Each month, local church members can watch news and mission reports from home and abroad on First Wednesday, People of Hope, and Global Mission Frontiers.

Special Events — On Sabbath, October 14, participants can attend an event to commemorate the 140th anniversary of Adventist work in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Pastor Ron Wooten of the Old Westbury Seventh-Day Adventist Church in New York, says he finds the programs useful. "They fill different needs for different people," he said. Because of the variety of events offered meets different needs, Wooten invites his 235 members according to what would be most beneficial to them and their department in the church.

Calkins, who says he has lined up some of the best talent and most capable presenters to lead the upcoming workshops and seminars, encourages members of small, medium, and large churches to participate.

"Pastors have told us that the programming we're providing helps them reinforce their leadership and curriculum and helps them teach their members," he says. "If ACN is an effective part of church ministry, if it meets the needs of members and communities, and if it provides valuable resources for local leaders, then it's a successful network."

Note: For each of the outreach and training events, ACN will provide participants with promotional kits and handout materials. Each month, updated information about events is available in the Gleaner, on CompuServe's SDAs On-line Forum in the Churches Resources section of the Library, and in the ACN Bulletin. To reach ACN, call 800/ACN-1119.

Home Study International Releases its First Promotional Video

Homeschooling has sparked a lot of questions in the last few years. Parents may ask: Why homeschool? What can it offer my family? Am I capable of taking on the task?

Home Study International (HSI) has just released its first promotional video produced by Creation Enterprises International (CEI) in Siloam Springs, Arkansas. CEI has reached an agreement with a cable network system to place the 30-minute infomercial in 18 million homes throughout the United States.

Through this video, HSI is prepared to provide answers to millions of families who are considering the alternative of homeschooling—whether it is to improve family togetherness or because of illness, boredom in school, conflicting schedules, violence and drugs in schools, or just to catch up on regular school work.

This project was made possible in order to enlighten the North American Division and the general public about the services provided by HSI. The history of home education in the United States is traced; current home educators and students explain their reasons and successes in learning at home; and programs offered such as elementary, secondary, and college, as well as the PLATO courseware library computer software are also mentioned.

If you would like information of how you can secure a copy of the video for $2, Please call # 6523, or 1-800-782-GROW sisted by Dr. Linc and Mrs. Betty Underwood of Cortez, Colorado.

The purpose of the Association is to provide association and fellowship with members of the profession; to share methods of witnessing in offices and churches; to promote interest in serving the profession in mission clinics throughout the world, both on a permanent and temporary relief basis; to provide equipment and supplies for mission clinics; to interest academy and college students in considering optometry as a career; and to provide a contact and encouragement to SDA students in Schools of Optometry.

The auxiliary of the association offers a scholarship to assist students financially in their final two years in optometry school.

Optometry, through the assistance of the ASDAO, presently has Drs. of Optometry in four locations throughout the world field with two or three more in planning stages. Dr. Clarence Omans of Hendersonville, North Carolina, is the General Conference liaison member and can be contacted for information at (704) 697-9537.

Elected President for the 1995-1996 year was Dr. Roland Stickle of Port Alberni, B.C. Canada.

Dr. Stickle states

"The association would like to locate and add to our mailing and membership lists all O.D.s, students and prospective students as we wish to be a help and an encouragement to you and we know you can be the same to our association. Please contact Dr. Clarie Omans or me at 4009 Redford St., Port Alberni, B.C. Canada V9Y 3R9."

Voice of Prophecy Philippines Goal: 50,000 Baptisms in Six Months!

VOP director-speaker Lonnie Melashenko talks with Nestor Dayson, VOP speaker in Manila, about the "Target: 50,000" campaign goal of 50,000 baptisms in the Philippines during the first six months of 1996.

The largest-ever Voice of Prophecy evangelistic campaign is planned for January-June 1996 in the Philippines to celebrate 50 years of VOP radio and Bible School ministry there.

With 615,000 members already, the Adventist Church in the Philippines will grow by 8% in only six months!

Voice of Prophecy director-speaker Lonnie Melashenko invites YOU to participate in this front-line evangelism. You'll be inspired by the dedication of Adventists in the Philippines to sharing the good news of the gospel and Christ's soon coming. And if you can't be there in person, please join in praying for a great harvest of souls.

Request more information about "Target: 50,000" by writing: VOP, Box 2525, Newbury Park, CA 91319.

DISCOVER Course Is Evangelistic Tool

The Voice of Prophecy's new course, DISCOVER, is helping thousands discover the biblical basis for Adventists beliefs. The 26-lesson series covers both the basics—God and the Bible, sin and salvation, prayer and the Holy Spirit—and the distinctives—the state of the dead, the change of the Sabbath, and the Three Angels' Messages.

DISCOVER is being used for individual and group study across the United States and Canada. A pastor's wife studied the DISCOVER lessons with Victoria VanHager, who became the first graduate—and baptism—from the course.

The La Mesa church in California tied each night of its evangelistic seminar to the top of one lesson, which became the take-home summary of the message. At the conclusion of the seminar, 75 persons received diplomas and several of these were baptized.

Victoria VanHager was baptized December 17, 1994 by Pastor Keith Mulligan. She was the first graduate of the Voice of Prophecy's DISCOVER course.

For more information on how you can use the DISCOVER lessons in your local church outreach, write the VOP Bible School, Box 2525, Newbury Park, CA 91319.

Hear Them Again for the First Time— On Compact Disc!

It's brand new—almost an hour of your favorites by one of the best loved King's Heralds combinations: Bob Edwards, Jerry Patton, Jack Veazey, and Jim McClintock. You'll love these 21 hymns, gospel songs, spirituals, and early American sacred folk songs—now on CD and cassette.

This souvenir recording can be yours for a gift of $25 or more to the Voice of Prophecy ministry during October.

October 21 is VOP Day across North America. Place your special offering in an envelope, mark it Voice of Prophecy, and place it in the offering plate that day. Or use the coupon and mail your gift directly to the VOP if you'd like a copy of the new King's Heralds CD or cassette.

- YES, I want my gift of $_____ to help with VOP radio and Bible School work.
- For my gift of $25 or more, please send me the new CD of favorites by the King's Heralds.
- I prefer a cassette instead of CD.
