UNION COLLEGE, LINCOLN 6, NEBRASKA, AUGUST 29, 1946

No. 18

Dr. E. M. Hause

Since the days in 1923 when China's great scholar-statesman, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, inaugurated collaboration with Soviet Russia in foreign affairs and in the dissemination of communistic ideas within the Kuomintang party, the ideologies of communism have had a tenacious hold upon China. Dr. Sun was not a communist. His "Three principles of the peoples" included a mild form of socialism designed probably to hold divergent factions of Chinese reformers together; but his death in 1925 removed the visionary leader and patron saint of a nationalist China and opened the way for a violent quarrel between left and right wing elements.

Under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek the more conservative and nationalist element, by military force and constructive statesmanship, obtained a notable control of most of eastern China and moved the capitol from Peking to Nanking, but not without the opposition of leftist groups who challenged him. One of these groups, the communists, claiming to be the true followers of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, was very formidable. They were defeated in several campaigns but by means of a series of remarkable maneuvers and marches their Red Armies were drawn to the northwest portion of China in readier contact with Soviet Russia. There they have maintained themselves, consolidating their position by force and bene-

Joan Schmidt Victim of Polio

Funeral services were held August 6 at the College View church for Joan Schmidt, fourteen-year-old academy student, who died of Polio at the Orthopedic hospital August 3. Her case was diagnosed as the "bulbar" type which affects swallowing and breathing.

Joan became ill two weeks before when she returned from summer camp in Minnesota. She was placed in the iron lung a week previous to her death.

Joan had been president of her class in the academy here for the past two years. She was majoring in music and was active in school affairs. She will be remembered for her cheerful disposition and pleasant smiles.

WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

The year 1946-47 gives definite promise of bringing the largest number of students to Union College of any one year in its history. Government aid to veterans is only a partial explanation, for the number of non-veterans shows an unusual increase. This interest of our young people in Christian education constitutes a challenge to us as teachers, and we pledge the best that we have in service.

We wish to take this opportunity to welcome the incoming student body to the privileges, opportunities and responsibilities that are present at our institution. For some it will be like coming home to return to the campus, and we welcome you back. For others it will be a new world to conquer; and we welcome you with the earnest wish that you may choose wisely and well in all matters involving individual decision — to select the best.

We want you to know of our interest in each individual student; we want you to feel that you will be among friends.

Veteran's Club Entertains

The final social event of the Veteran's Club for the summer session was held Saturday night, July 27, in the Union College Cafeteria. President Tate Zytoske, with his opening remarks, left everyone in the familiar position of "at ease" — a state in which to thoroughly enjoy the evening program.

The group singing of some of the old familiar songs, led by Jay Lantry, got the evening's entertainment off to a lively start. The variety numbers of the program included a male quartet, a clarinet solo, several readings, and a girls trio.

Earl McGhee, Junior pre-medical student from Atlanta, Georgia, acted as master of ceremonies. Special guest of the Veteran's Club was Don Kimmel, president of the University of Nebraska Veteran's Club.

Rhoads Principal of U. C. Academy

Elder J. H. Rhoads, Educational and Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Minnesota conference for the past year, has accepted the call to become principal of Union College Academy next year. He will fill the vacancy left by Professor Holmes.

J. H. Rhoads

Elder Rhoads attended Union College but he received his degree from Texas Christian University at Ft. Worth, Texas.

Before going to Minnesota, Elder Rhoads had served as Educational and Missionary Volunteer secretary in the Texas, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Iowa conferences.

We welcome Elder and Mrs. Rhoads and their three sons to Union College.

THIRTEEN SENIORS WILL GRADUATE

Largest Class of Summer Graduates

Thirteen students will receive their Bachelor of Arts degrees at the graduation exercises to be held at 8:00 p.m., August 28, in the College View church. Elder D. E. Reiner will give the Commencement address. Professor C. C. Engel's Ensemble will play the processional march. The invocation will be given by D. D. Rees. "Blessing" by Curran will be sung by Jay Lantry. Following the Commencement address by D. E. Reiner, Genevieve Williams will play a trumpet solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Knapp.

For the first time President R. W. Woods, the new college president will confer the degrees. Dr. E. B. Ogden, the class sponsor, will offer the benediction.

Elder Buckwalter, pastor of the College View church, gave the Baccalaureate address at the eleven o'clock hour August 24, at the College View church.

The second class of summer school graduates has an increase of three members over that of last year. Melvin Sample is class president; Betty Yarwood is vice-president; and Mildred Caviness served as secretary-treasurer. Other members receiving degrees are Oliver Lorenz, Lola Malone, Norman Johnson, Wayne Moore, Roland Babcock, Vernice Jones, Alvin Kroehle, Robert Roth, Ervin Funk and Beth Cadenhead.

The class has set "To Keep the Faith" as its aim. "Few but Strong" is the motto.

Most of the seniors are leaving immediately for their new fields of labor. For pictures and brief sketches of those graduating, see the second page.

Wearner to Head Bible Department

From Keene, Texas, comes Elder A. J. Wearner to be head of the Bible Department of Union College.

Elder Wearner has served for several years as a missionary to China. After his return to America he taught Bible at Pacific Union College. He was called from there to Southwestern Junior College at Keene where he has taught Bible for several years.

A. J. Wearner

Elder Wearner is well known as the author of the Bible Doctrines textbook which is used at the college.

Union College and students extend a hearty welcome to Mr. A. J. Wearner and daughter who will soon arrive on the LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

Elder E. L. Cardey Shows Manna

The rare privilege of seeing real manna came to those who attended the vesper service of August 2.

Elder E. L. Cardey, missionary from Cape Town, South Africa, displayed the manna to the audience after telling of its miraculous appearance in Africa.

He said that the natives were starving. Even the locusts had ceased to fly over. The Christian natives asked God to send food.

Walking into the forest, a young girl was met by "three Europeans" who told her to eat the queer white substance at her feet. She obeyed and found it tasted like cakes with honey. Friends who tasted the manna she carried home hurried to gather it. Some brought part of the manna to the mission headquarters where Elder Cardey identified it as manna corresponding to the description given in the Old Testament.

Most of the manna the natives had would spoil after several days. The box which Elder Cardey carries to prove his story true has remained fresh and sweet since the day it was gathered several years ago.

Dr. Ogden Chosen As New College Dean

Dr. E. B. Ogden, well known to students of Union, has been chosen as the new academic dean of the college to fill the vacancy left by Dr. Woods.

Dr. Ogden was a graduate of Union in the class of 1922, the class that put the famous clock in the tower. He received his master's degree from the University of Nebraska, and his doctor's degree from Boston University.

The new dean has spent twenty-three years in the teaching profession, fifteen of which have been at Union. Among other places where he has taught are Inter-Mountain Academy, Enterprise Academy, University of Nebraska, and Atlantic Union College.

Dr. Ogden began his teaching work as Dean of Men at Inter-Mountain Academy, and began his work at Union as chief engineer of the power house. For four years of his former stay at Union and three of the present ones he has had charge of the physical education at Union.

Mrs. Ogden is the former Virginia Rees. The daughter, Merlene, will be a college sophomore next year. Darrell will spend his last year in the elementary school.

Dr. Ogden who is now on vacation will soon take over his duties as dean. We welcome him to his new position as our dean.

Interest in the investment offering ran high. Students collected money by various means. The Investment offering totaled $174.63. One hundred twenty-three dollars were given on thirteenth Sabbath.

Camp Meeting to Begin August 30

The Voice of Prophecy has set aside September 4 to visit the Nebraska camp meeting to be held in College View August 30 to September 8.

Other special visitors to the meeting include Elder T. L. Oswald, new home missionary secretary of the General Conference, J. I. Robison, also of the General Conference, W. H. Anderson, who has spent fifty years as a missionary in Africa, N. C. Wilson, vice-president of the North American division of the General Conference, M. V. Campbell, president of the Central Union Conference, and H. R. Turner from California who will be in charge of music during the session. Local conference leaders and visiting help from neighboring conferences will also be present. Special plans are being made for the children's divisions. The evening meetings are to be of the evangelistic type.

Elementary School Changes

Alterations are being made in the elementary school building which will provide four teaching rooms instead of three. The large room to the south side where Miss Stoddard taught the first three grades is being divided into two rooms with a cloak room between them.

Miss Stoddard is to teach grades one and two in Miss Peterson's former classroom. Miss Peterson will teach grades five and six in the new west classroom and Miss Myrtle Maxwell will teach grades three and four in the east room. Mrs. L. W. Welch will continue to teach grades seven and eight on second floor.

Rooms are also being fixed to accommodate sixteen young men in the elementary school building this coming school year.

AN OPEN LETTER TO Mrs. G. I. Joe
Anywhere
U. S. A.

Dear Sue:

It has been a long time since we were in the army together. Both our Joes have been discharged and seem to be making the proper readjustment to civilian life. Earl and I have been here in school for the past year. I was very pleased to know you would be my next door neighbor again. We did have some long, serious talks those nights when the boys were restricted for litter detail or some other detail that the officer in charge could think up. How we talked and planned for the homes we would have some day. You hear a great deal about what the soldier sacrifices - but what about his wife, who must bid him a tearless goodbye and pack up her dreams as well as her dishes and linens?

But our housing problem didn't end with the war. We didn't decide to come to school until it was too late to get an apartment. Only one who has tried to make a home in one room as I did all last school year can look forward to living in a real little house as I am. With housing shortage so acute, it is a privilege to live in Bancroft Courts. They are familiarly known about the campus as "Honeymoon Flats." Anyone may call them what he pleases; but for me, they will provide a little corner of heaven.

No doubt you are wondering what sort of a place the courts are. The two parallel buildings face each other with a grassy plot between for a front yard. Each apartment has a living room, bedroom, kitchen, and bath. I can even "see" my furniture in place. You see, we have been watching the courts grow since they were merely holes in the ground. Each apartment is unfurnished, and the tenant arranges for his heat and utilities. I'll be looking forward to seeing you September 1. Let's plan to go searching for curtains together?

With love,
Peggy

LOLA MALONE

Lola Malone is another English major. Her minors are religion and education. She was born at Gordon, Nebraska, and barely escaped from a falling sod house as a child. Several schools have contributed to her education. They include the Merriman, Nebraska, high school, the Hastings High School, Shelton Intermediate School, and Chadron State Normal.

With several years' experience in church school teaching, she plans to teach yet another year. She has also spent several summers in the canvassing field. Typical of teachers, Lola enjoys collecting quotations and poems.

ALVIN KROEHLE

From Camdenton, Missouri, comes Alvin Kroehle who is majoring in religion and minoring in history. He was born at St. Louis and has attended Rollins College, St. Louis University, and the University of Missouri. The title "attorney at law" is one of his possessions of which he is proud. While here he has been a member of the Collegium Musicum and the Oratorio Society.

CONGRATULATIONS, SENIORS!

BETTY YARWOOD

From Omaha comes Betty Yarwood who graduates with a major in English and minors in history and education—with emphasis on elementary education. She enjoys teaching children games. Just ask her how to play "elephant."

Betty graduated from Benson High School at Omaha and led out in the Camp Fire Girls' summer camp before coming to Union. While here, she has served as prayer band leader, CLOCK TOWER sports editor, president of Kappa Theta and literary editor of the Golden Cords. Betty says she wants "to have fun in life." Her mischievous smile alone is proof of the fact that she not only has fun herself but also shares it with others. She is vice-president of her class.

OLIVER LORENZ

The dean of boys at Ashville Agricultural School, Fletcher, North Carolina, will be Oliver Lorenz who graduated with a major in religion and minors in education and history.

Oliver was born in Greeley, Colorado. He graduated from Campion Academy. His wife is another Coloradoan. She is the former Elma Dupper. Oliver has held offices of Sabbath school secretary, Sabbath school chorister, prayer band leader, and secretary of the boys' club. He is especially fond of music.

Building Continues

Piles of lumber and the sound of hammers are nothing new about Union this summer.

Students returning to the college this fall will find many changes. Among them will be the commercial department on first floor rather than second and young men on fifth floor of the administration building. The old chemistry rooms facing east are being remodeled for the secretarial department. The southeast room will be the typing room. A hall will lead from the north to the south door on first floor also.

The old chemistry storeroom is being made into an enlarged book store while the present book store will serve as office room for the business office workers. Business office files have been moved from fifth floor to the former museum most of which has been set up in the science building.

Rooms are being made on fifth floor of the administration building to accommodate sixty-four more men. The annex across the street from the library will be a young women's home next year. Thirty new desks and chests of drawers are waiting to be moved over there.

In spite of the additional rooms made available, many are being turned away from the college because of lack of room.

MELVIN SAMPLE

The president of the senior class is Melvin Sample who now calls Texas home. He and his wife, the former Carol Kvinge, returned to Union this summer after spending a year at Fort Worth, Texas, where Melvin taught school. Born near Antigo, Wisconsin, Melvin attended Maple Grove school there, Traer High School, Wichita Junior Academy, and Enterprise Academy.

While at Union Melvin has acted as Sabbath school teacher, prayer band leader, sunshine band leader, deacon of C. V. church, and Missionary Volunteer leader.

Religion is his major, history his minor. His hobbies are woodwork and nature study. He plans to teach in Texas again next year.

ERVIN FUNK

"It has been my desire to have a college education," says Ervin Funk. Although it has been hard looking out for a family at the same time, he now holds a B. A. degree with a major in religion and a minor in history. Ervin was born in Woodworth, North Dakota. His home has been in Lincoln, however, since he took up schoolwork here.

He has found time for his hobby of woodworking, time to be deacon at the College View church, a Sabbath school chorister, Missionary Volunteer chorister, and a Sabbath school teacher.

He will leave the day after graduation for Des Moines, Iowa, where he will assist in the Shuler effort.

WAYNE MOORE

Can you imagine someone claiming both Minnesota and Texas as home? Wayne Moore was born in Minnesota and attended Maplewood Academy. Now he and his wife come to Union from Texas where Wayne has been pastor of the Brownwood church and directed music for an evangelistic effort. His hobby is that of collecting wild flowers, but what he likes most is his wife, the former Annabelle Evans.

Wayne, who is majoring in religion and minoring in history will teach at the Junior Academy at Fort Worth next year.

MILDRED CAVINESS

Mildred Caviness, class secretary, is from Nevada, Iowa. She was born in Liberty Center, Iowa, and attended the Shipley High School and Oak Park Academy before coming to Union.

At Union she has been a prayer band leader and secretary of the Sabbath school. She enjoys reading and collecting poetry. Being so friendly herself, it is only natural that she dislikes conceited people.

English is Mildred's major; education and religion are her minors. She plans to teach church school in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, next year.

NORMAN JOHNSON

True to his home state, Norman Johnson will do intern work in North Dakota next year. He is another religion major and history minor.

Following his graduation from Woodworth High School, Norman enrolled at Valley City State Teachers' College where he obtained a certificate for elementary teaching. After several years of teaching, he came to Union.

Norman has been active in musical activities at Union. He has acted as Sabbath school chorister, prayer band leader, and Sabbath school superintendent. He and his family will soon leave for North Dakota where he will take up his new work.

BETH CADENHEAD

Beth Cadenhead is another Texan. She graduated from Southwestern Junior College at Keene which is also her home. She was born at Sedan, Kansas. Beth holds a major in religion and minors in education and biology. She wishes to be a dean of girls. Being Seminar secretary and vice-president of Kappa Theta has kept Beth busy during the past two years she has been here.

Although she enjoys outdoor sports such as swimming and baseball, Beth also likes to read. She is to be registrar and biology teacher at Campion Academy next year.

VERNICE JONES

Another girl with a major in religion is Vernice Jones. Her minors are home economics and education. She came to Union from Greenwood, Mississippi, where she attended high school. Vernice also attended Oakwood College, Alabama, where she held several offices.

While at Union, she has been Sabbath school secretary and Missionary Volunteer leader at the Allan Chapel church in Lincoln. Knitting and cooking are Vernice's delight; she also likes music.

ROBERT ROTH

Here's a religion major that is different. Instead of the usual history minor, Bob has chosen biology and chemistry as his minors. Perhaps he hopes to be a medical missionary some day.

He came to Union from Seattle, Washington, where he attended the Ballard High School. In New York City he attended the Jamaica High School; he also was a student at Walla Walla College.

While at Union College, Bob has acted as church deacon, assistant superintendent of the Junior Sabbath School and prayer band leader.

Bob is a good-natured fellow never lets anything weigh too heavily on his shoulders. He enjoys making use of what Spanish he knows.

ROLAND BABCOCK

Following in the footsteps of his father, Roland Babcock wishes to become a minister also. Roland was born at Chamberlain, South Dakota. His first ten grades in school were spent at Redfield, South Dakota, where he attended Plainview Academy and church school. He came to Union from St. Joseph, Missouri, where he had helped with efforts and joined in musical activities of his school.

Religion and history are Roland's major and minor. He likes to sing and play ping pong.

ATOMIC AGE

Questions that are loaded with lethal charges are whether or not the U. S. should assist the Nationalists, if they have not already done so; or should the marines be withdrawn as a gesture of despair in any possible solution. If the marines are withdrawn will Chinese communism link itself up with Russian communism, overcome all of China, and place seven hundred million communists under common leadership? Would that "mean the certain end of America and of everything for which it stands?"

Work or Play?

With another summer's work drawing to a close we can heave a sigh of relief and look with anticipation to the coming of a new school year. We are eager to get together with our old "pals" again, but I wonder, are we just as eager to finish the work we have started?

Are we satisfied with our past achievements? Have we put forth the effort required by "old man success"?

Fellow students, let's be honest with ourselves. If we have been cheating ourselves in the past, why not turn about face and take pride in our work? It pays big dividends. B. B.

Universal Language?

In these days when talk of world-wide peace and united nations is on every tongue, we again hear of the advantages of having a universal language, perhaps the Esperanto, to promote a better understanding between nations.

The plan has its merits, yet how many are aware that there is a language common to all nations? Do not all nations smile in the same language?

You may not understand a word the Spaniard or Greek is saying to you, but is not his flashing smile as genuine a sign of friendliness as that of your grocer down the street? Is not the toothless grin of a Chinese baby just as easy to understand as that of the German baby next door?

If English is the only language you can speak, try the smile language. Everyone understands it. Perhaps you haven't time to stop and talk much to all the new students who will be coming to Union, but a smile doesn't take any of your time. Who knows how much a friendly smile can mean to a lonely freshman?

Smile and the world smiles with you, for all nations smile in the same language. C. C.

South Hall - Men's Dormitory

M. S. Culver

Dean Culver Welcomes Men

South Hall of Union College was in previous times meant to house the young men who were desirous of getting their college education in our school. Yes, those were previous times, for South Hall is far too small at present to accommodate the scores of men desirous of securing their training in the school of "the Golden Cords."

But even though all cannot be taken care of in the building designated as the "men's home" you may be sure that a real attempt is being made to provide facilities for all who have been or are willing to come to Union for the right purpose. Right now it appears that we will have to arrange for about 240 men, and of course all the applications for the summer are not yet in. It is God's school; it is His work, and we know that He will direct and bless in the plans to carry it out as we should.

Everything may not be just as convenient as each one would like it. Some rooms may seem a bit crowded; others may not be located just as conveniently as we would like, but in spite of these conditions which some might feel are undesirable, the men planning to be in South Hall or under the supervision of its administration are extended a most cordial welcome for the coming year.

It has been most gratifying to get the many letters from the fellows who were here last year telling of their summer experiences and to note their eagerness to get back to Old Union again. Yes, men, after all is said and done, it is a good place to be. So again let us give a most sincere WELCOME to all of you who are planning to be here with a sincere purpose to follow the Lord's bidding and accomplish His purpose in your lives.

Miss Pearl L. Rees

North Hall Parlor

Welcome from North Hall's Other Mother

"It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it home," Edward Guest tells us truthfully. That North Hall has had "a heap o' livin'" in it no one can gainsay, since for twenty-six years, hundreds, yes, thousands of young women have passed in and out of its doors, and have loved it second, only to their own homes.

North Hall, having for its first consideration the comfort and happiness of those whose home it is during their college days, is surrounded by a homey and cultured atmosphere which makes itself felt on entrance. A young woman leaving her own home circle finds here the guidance, the protection, the spiritual and cultural influences which she most needs in preparation for the life that is before her. No effort is spared to surround her with the attractions of a refined Christian home, where she may develop a character which will fit her for service in this great Seventh-day Adventist movement and give her a passport to that wonderful home above.

We extend to the young women of this great Middle West a cordial invitation to come to enjoy the privileges of the home life afforded them in North Hall this coming school year. Then they in the after-years will make their own contribution to the history of dear old Union and "love each brick and stone from cellar up t' dome" as have those who have gone before.

NEWS NOTES

Virginia Pate was married to Altus Hayes, August 19 at the Asbury Methodist church, Lubbock, Texas.

It seems that Gordon Lundberg and Lowell Barger have studied their biology just a little too hard. When asked for the term applied to an inflammation of the brain membranes, Gordon Lundberg wrote "brainitis." Lowell Barger, however, was more colloquial; he said merely "nuts."

Are you intelligent enough to be a teacher? If you are in doubt about your latent abilities and want the expert advice and frank opinions of an outstanding authority in the field, see the reporter for an appointment with Minnie Ochsner. If you want the opinion of a satisfied client, ask Walter Page how intelligent he is.

Earl McGhee, we are grieved to note, can no longer rightfully sing the song of the Bachelor's Club. Yes, something has happened to Earl, but Earl does not care. His new theme song is "Some Sunday Morning."

Fred Metz is very talented at sitting down in the wrong places at the wrong time. As he seated himself at the hostess' place at a "stag" table a loud crackling noise was heard and Fred removed his victimized form from the dining room floor. Yes, Fred had gone through his chair. With an amazed expression on his face, Fred arose, gazed mournfully about, started laughing, and took a chair from another table.

Miss Anna Blackney, librarian at Pacific Union College, stopped over in Lincoln for several hours. She was especially interested in looking over the library because she hopes to soon have a new library to work in at P. U. C.

Elder and Mrs. Oscar Heinrich and two children, Jerry and Judy, spent a few hours visiting friends here. Elder Heinrich, a pastor in the Kansas conference, was a graduate of the class of 1942.

After visiting friends in California, Essie Lee Davidson of Harrison, Arkansas, is now working in a law office in her home town.

Morten Juberg and Kenneth Burden, who are canvassing in the Carolina Conference, report that they are enjoying themselves immensely and are well satisfied with their summer's work.

Fred Metz has purchased a motorcycle. He says it is a Harley Davidson, but judging from the looks of Metz after his first long ride, it looks like there must be an Indian on it too.

Art Soper and Ed Beck are holding evangelistic meetings in Burkburnett, Texas. Josephine Griffin is the pianist for the services.

Carolyn Polk received the prize for selling the most books in Minnesota during "Big Week."

Oscar Gerst hurriedly left South Hall after nine weeks session and rushed to Minnesota to canvass. His brother Gordon, who disgustingly packed up the things left behind, said Oscar forgot everything but his cap. The only reason he took his cap is because he always forgets to take it off when he goes to bed.

Word has been received regarding boxes of clothing sent to Czechoslovakia. Millie Urbish's uncle writes that when his son put on the coat he was so happy that he took it to the corner of the room and wept for joy.

After a four-week absence from Union College, Miss Rees returned August 15 to resume her duties as North Hall dean. She and Mr. Culver have both been attending the deans' convention which was held at Washington, D. C. Virginia Lohman was acting dean in the absence of Miss Rees. Byron Blecha served as boys' dean.
