CT CAMPAIGN SHATTERS GOAL WITH 3800 SUBS

Speech Class Features Nugent, McGill in "This is Your Life" for Chapels Last Week

"Sally Nugent, this is your life!" shouted Jerry McGill in chapel Monday, November 23, and thus identified the unsuspecting person whose life was featured by the program planning class of the speech department in a program styled after the TV program, "This is Your Life," emceed by Ralph Edwards in Hollywood.

The following day in upper division chapel when Jerry McGill, the audience "microphone-man," opened the last of a series of envelopes that guided him to the honored person of the day he could only utter "Oh! No!" as Don Dick announced, "Jerry McGill, this is your life!"

After the featured subject was seated in a large overstuffed chair, his or her life was told briefly but comprehensively by Don Dick from the "This is Your Life" album. The album for each program was donated by Morse's Jewelers and Stationers, and lettered in gold leaf were the names of the honored principals.

Jerry's and Sally's lives were told with the aid of snapshots and pictures thrown on a screen by a projector and tape recordings of the voices of their friends who were unable to be present. Mrs. Nugent, Sally's mother, and Pete Long, one of Sally's friends from high school, came from Shreveport, Louisiana, to tell some of the incidents in Sally's life.

Mrs. R. E. Brent, Jerry's mother, Mrs. Nellie Wiggins and Mrs. Mable Bruton, Jerry's aunts, and Miss Bunny Phillips, all of Wichita, Kansas, and Miss Sandra Frederick of Hutchinson, Kansas, were Jerry's out-of-town visitors.

Don Dick was the master of ceremonies and wrote script with Lydia Schander, who helped make up the "This is Your Life" albums.

Jerry Coyle was in charge of commercials and worked with Louis Jenkins on the stage scenery. Mari-eda Blehm operated the projector and was in charge of pictures. She was assisted by Louis Jenkins.

Ralph Edwards sent autographed pictures to both Sally and Jerry. These were presented in the upper division chapel on Tuesday.

The program was presented through the courtesy of the Union Bank and the Gotfredson Motor Company, sponsors. Dutton's Flower Shop donated corsages to all the ladies on the program and a boutonniere to Jerry.

Campaign Manager Ray Bailey presents Yankee Leader Martha Rose Gist with the loving cup won by the women of North hall as her assistants register excitement over their winning.

Jerry Coyle, winner of first prize, solicited 112 subs, and Ray Bailey awards him an alarm-clock radio as grand prize.

Veteran Missionary Speaks

Mrs. J. E. Frick, a sister of President Harvey C. Hartman, spoke to lower and upper division chapels last Thursday and Friday. She related some of her outstanding missionary experiences while working in China.

Elder and Mrs. Frick left America in 1926 for Europe where they spent eight and one-half years. In 1935 they went to China where they remained for seven years. At present Elder and Mrs. Frick are located at Longmont, Colorado, where Elder Frick is pastor of the church.

UC Band Plays in Concert

This coming Saturday night at 8:15 p.m. the Union College concert band presents its first concert of the school year in the college auditorium. The forty-seven piece band includes students and faculty and is under the direction of Mr. H. Lloyd Leno.

The program will include a variety of numbers. Some of the selections featured will be a cornet trio, a movement from the Grand Canyon Suite, and an overture made up from a group of melodies secured from an old Indian guide who used to ride with Buffalo Bill.

"March of the Free Peoples," one of the marches featured on the program, tells of the preparation and invasion during the opening of the second front in World War II. Next spring the band plans to go on tour. The dates and places will be announced later.

SA Sponsors Sacrifice Week

The Religious Life Committee of the Student Association is sponsoring the annual Week of Sacrifice on November 30 to December 4 for the students and staff of Union College.

Skits were presented in chapel during the past week depicting the sacrifices of the early pioneers. Speakers for the two chapels were Wynona Brown, Samuel DeShay, and John Westerberg. Students were urged to make a definite sacrifice in a personal way.

The Week of Sacrifice will be concluded by Elder R. J. Roy at the Friday evening vesper service when the Week of Sacrifice special offering will be taken.

LENO EMCEES KT BREAKFAST CLUB

Thursday morning, November 26, the Kappa Theta girls' club presented a breakfast club program patterned after the original Don McNeil radio broadcast.

The cast consisted of Master of Ceremonies Mr. H. Lloyd Leno, Sam (Ralph Watts), Aunt Fanny (Daina Ramey), and Vocalist Wretha Griffin. The announcing and commercial script writing was under the direction of Jerry McGill. Donald and Ronald Nelson, Jean Beltz, Wendy Owen, and Barbara Nash assisted in the commercials. Background music was furnished by Bill Van Ornam at the organ. Orlie Curtis was in charge of the public address system.

Miss Whitfield directed the waitresses in serving approximately 475 people.

The four calls to breakfast included a memory time, sunshine shower, interviews, and a visit from Aunt Fanny.

Austin, Bietz Are Elected Upper Class Presidents

The 1953-54 junior and senior classes of Union College met on November 19 to organize classes. There are ninety-nine students who will graduate this year, including the summer school and clinical division seniors. A majority of the class was present for the election of officers, which was done in the chapel.

Lloyd Austin, ministerial major from Kansas City, Kansas, is the president of the senior class. Other officers are: Milton Corwin, vice-president; Joan Peters, secretary; Franklin Dupper, treasurer; Jerry Coyle, pastor; and Ann Hazelton, parliamentarian.

Dean M. S. Culver and Mr. William H. Taylor were chosen as the sponsors of the senior class.

Lloyd Austin Sylvester Bietz

There are ninety-seven juniors, but not all were present for the election of officers in the North hall worship room.

Sylvester Bietz, a ministerial major from Cleveland, North Dakota, was elected president of the junior class.

Other officers are: Joan Norman, vice-president; Joyce Zummach, secretary; Jerry Wiley, treasurer; Bill Bassham, pastor; and Melvin Lyon, sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Robert Cleveland and Elder A. V. Wallenkampf were chosen as junior class sponsors.

Exceeding the CLOCK TOWER campaign goal by 364 subscriptions, Union College students and staff members finished another successful subscription drive November 23 in joint convocation. The subscriptions numbered 3,864, and the goal was 3500.

By a margin of only ten subscriptions the women eked out another victory over the men, and the CT cup will reside in North hall. Martha Rose Gist and Ferman Mock were the side leaders, and Ray Bailey directed the entire campaign.

Jerry Coyle, who solicited 112 subs, won the grand prize, an alarm-clock radio. Second in number of subs solicited was Elder A. V. Wallenkampf, who will receive a Parker "21" pen and pencil set for turning in twenty-five subs.

Winners of $5.00 gift certificates for fifteen to twenty-five subscriptions were the following:

Men Display New Home

Thanksgiving day brought many parents, relatives, and friends to the campus of Union College. One of the high lights of the day was the visit to the young men's new dormitory. From five o'clock to seven o'clock in the evening, over 1000 guests were greeted by the young men and escorted through the building.

As the people arrived at South hall, they were served refreshments of lime punch and cookies by Miss Marie Anderson and Miss Virginia Shull. Groups were then appointed to guides who took them on a tour through the dormitory.

The route took them first to third floor, then to second and first floors. All the rooms were open for inspection. 166 men live in South hall this year. There are eighty-six rooms in the portion of the dormitory that is now finished.

Ralph Williams, Jerry Beem and Roger Heinrich were in charge of the tours. The following served as guides on the tours: James Herr, Ivan Knopp, Dale Palmer, Francis Bivins, Ivan Morford, Tom Ellis, Jerry Wiley, Melvin Campbell, Marvin Stephens, Buford Janes, Clifton Reeves, Ardell Rouse, Carl Bauer, Tom Carter, Warren Ewing, Jerry McGill, Wendell Lacy, Don Nelson, Norman Woods, John Rufing, Ted Jones, and LeRoy Borton.

Sandra Frederick and Jerry McGill (left panel) sing an impromptu duet on Tuesday's "This is Your Life" program. Surprised Sally Nugent (right panel) embraces her mother who came from Shreveport, Louisiana, to be on the program in Monday's convocation. Don Dick (center panel) is master of ceremonies for both Monday's and Tuesday's programs.

Thanksgiving Tale Narrated in Special Program

... and that is the story of our first Thanksgiving." Don Dick and Ann Hazelton were the narrators as grandpa and grandma of the Thanksgiving program last Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium. So concluded the musical pictures of the early settlers of this country. It was "Thanksgiving in a Winter Wonderland" that opened with a chorus in a sleigh singing "Winter Wonderland." Bill Van Ornam, the organist, provided continuity and accompaniment throughout the program. The next number was the academy choir. Wendy Owen acted the part of a mischievous boy in a reading, and the Kappa Theta girls' double quartet came in as Indians. Fred Speyer and Wretha Griffin sang "Oh, No, John," and the Ambassador's Quartet saw Nellie, Daina Ramey, home; she then sang "In My Garden."

The string quartet played before Maurice Bascom gave a humorous reading, "Seein' Things at Night." A snowman dominated the stage for the next number, "Frostie the Snowman," sung by the academy trio.

The narrators recalled the reasons for Thanksgiving and for thankfulness. To close the program, a double mixed quartet sang the story of "Over the River and Through the Woods"—to grandma's house.

Wynona Brown was chairman of the committee responsible for this program. Other members of the committee were Miss Floda Smith, sponsor; Don Dick, grandfather and one of the narrators; Bette Jewell Lenz and Ernest Fisher, property managers. Shirley Burton was script writer and director, Curtiss Dale was a property manager, Joe Eyman was the light technician, and Roland Jensen was the sound technician. Ann Hazelton was the grandmother and one of the narrators; Ann Jarnes and Terry Anderson were the two children held by grandma and grandpa. The double mixed quartet included Anna Lee Schander, Mauryne Owens, Daina Ramey, Shirley Burton, Wendell Lacy, Don Madison, Russell Hoffman, and Weldon Fletcher.

Penned from the heads of the Eds

We wish to commend the men of South hall for the work they did to make their new dorm so attractive for the open house they had on Thanksgiving Day. We all noticed that the dorm was spotless.

We are sorry that we omitted one name from the list of committee members who planned the Thanksgiving banquet for the faculty. We understand that Elder Ralph T. Carter was also a member of that faculty social committee.

The Student Association directory of students and staff that has just come out is a very useful item to all of us. It took a lot of time to complete that for publication. We wish to thank the SA officers for the good job they did on it. Why not say something to them about that sometime? Incidentally, we understand that there are more in Dean Ogden's office if you didn't get yours.

We have the tendency sometimes, to take things too much for granted. We forget that there are people behind our programs and publications and other functions of the school who are putting in hundreds of hours of work. These people are human and can make mistakes. Let's not be so free with our criticism of everything. We are reminded of the gem someone once said, "Only fools and insane people criticize something they know nothing about." If you have an honest, straight forward, legitimate gripe or criticism, tell the person responsible. That person will thank you and appreciate your bringing to his attention something that really should be corrected. Why else are programs planned, why else are publications put out, than for you? If you aren't satisfied, tell the persons responsible for them, they want to please you.

This subject has been brought up—why not have a ten minute break between classes instead of just the five minute one we have always had? On that schedule the first period classes would begin at 7:30 a.m. This has an advantage—each class begins on the half hour. Classes would close at 12:20. The question is, what would those who are late to 7:45 classes now, do then? A ten minute break between classes is not absolutely necessary on our campus because we don't have that far to go; but it would be nice.

A Student Speaks on Influence

On February 1, 1953, I was baptized at Kansas City Central church and enrolled the next day for the second semester at Union College. At the end of the semester as I returned home, I had no intention of returning to college at Union again. I was not even sure I had made the right decision in becoming an Adventist. I had been disappointed in the school, the church, and even some of the people I had observed. They had not measured up to my ideas of Adventist standards.

My sister and some of my best friends are Catholics, so during the summer I studied the doctrines of that church and also other protestant faiths. I had some difficulty deciding on a choice of another religion so I prayed God for guidance. My prayer was not answered immediately, but later it came to me that it was not the school, the church, or the people who had been at fault but I. I saw that I should have been heeding Paul's counsel to the Hebrews, "Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith . . ." instead of looking at those about me.

Reading Daniel and Revelation helped to renew my faith in my original choice of a church, and September found me returning to Union with a different attitude entirely.

Let us all lift our eyes above the sin and evil of this world and keep them fixed on Jesus.

Terse Verse

Miss Shull made a promise
In English one day.
She got up and said
"I have somewhat to say."

For all who make perfect
In this exercise,
I will make them some cookies—
One batch, as a prize."

So I worked very hard
No questions to miss,
And on back of one page
I put down just this—

"Twas a cute little test
Of our knowledge and wit.
If I don't get some cookies,
I may have a fit.

Cause my knowledge and brains
That I've nursed for so long
Won't be worth a bit more
Than a bit of new song.

That may be the case,
But I sure hope it's not.
'Cause I'll eat, if I get them,
The sweets on the spot."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to announce that Roy Jones and Ralph Boyd, two of your students, are the winners of $250 Vita Craft cash scholarships.

Roy Jones and Ralph Boyd won their scholarships as a result of $7,120.10 and $6,138.55, respectively, in total sales this summer. These scholarships are, of course, in addition to commissions and allowances earned on these same sales.

Our scholarships are awarded specifically for tuition and school expenses and are based on total sales from June 1 to September 3, and the amount is determined by the individual sales on this scale: $6,000 wins $250, $5,000 wins $200, $4,000 wins $150, and $3,000 wins $100.

Ralph Boyd and Roy Jones were two of the top college salesmen in the Midwest, and we believe that this record is worthy of recognition. Thus the reason for this letter. We felt that you would be interested in our program and the accomplishment of these men.

Sincerely yours,
John W. Arnold
Midwest Sales Manager

The Pulse of Things

The operating room is a place where operations are performed. What are operations? Well, that's when you get cut open as a result of signing your name.

Have you ever wondered how you would feel were you in such a place? The night before, someone in an unusual dress comes in and gives you a barber's job.

The next morning before you ever have a chance to wake up, someone grabs your arm and sticks a needle into it and before you know it you're sleeper than you were before. After what seems a couple of seconds someone with a flat cart comes and asks you to drag yourself off the bed and onto the cart. You slowly get across and before you get settled you're whizzing down the hall, upstairs in the elevator, and the next thing you know you're being asked to move again to the next table.

All around, people stand in absurd hats, green gowns, and white masks. You wonder what this is all about, but you are too sleepy to watch. Soon you are seeing little stars, and you're "dead to the world."

What goes on after that you don't know and maybe care less. Back in your room your head feels as if it is turning cart wheels, and you remember what happened, you signed your name! LAURENE STACEY

Plans are in the making to form a ski club in the clinical division. There are several drawbacks to such an organization, such as lack of finances, lack of time, etc. But with these obstacles in consideration, a ski club may fulfill an important gap that exists in the recreation and sports program of the nursing students.

GAVEL GATHERINGS

Speech Club and Fine Arts Guild

"An Evening of American Music" was presented on Saturday night, November 28, by the Fine Arts Guild and the Speech club in a joint program in the auditorium. The program, set up with double stages, television cameras, and other TV props, originated from "KVUC-TV, sight and sound of Union College" and included music, narration, and pantomime.

Beginning with the Colonial period, folk music, Gay Nineties' music, college pep songs, early Twenties' music, and contemporary music were covered. Ralph Watts, narrator, between scenes told the story of the development of American music. The program closed with color-bearers and audience-cast participation in American national songs.

Members of the Speech club had charge of scripts and properties, and stage direction was handled by Don Dick.

Veterans' Club

Veterans' club presented a program recently for Sigma Iota Kappa, the dormitory men's club. Three veterans, Tom Ellis, Robert Booker, and Reginald LaFrance, gave talks concerning their experiences in the Korean war.

Ellis told how the Lord had watched over him, saving his life when his jeep turned over. LaFrance related a combat experience in which his platoon knocked out an important machine gun nest, enabling the whole unit to advance. Booker enumerated the pitiful conditions of the Korean people and told a little of the mental attitude both of the troops and the people.

Natural Science Club

The Natural Science club had two films last Saturday night: "Hunting With a Camera" and "Coral Wonderland." These were followed by a hike to Robert's Park where the group sang, heard music on the accordion by Barbara Chapman, and had refreshments. About thirty people were present.

Back home again in colorful Colorado! During the past twelve days we have made a trip that has taken us to some of the Northern and Central Union academies.

It was 4:30 a.m., November 6, when the piercing buzz of the alarm awakened our senses. Within a few moments an enthusiastic trio were assembling their necessities. Promptly at 5:00 a.m. Miss Alice Smith, Doris Dygert, and Elaine Evanenko started toward Lincoln on their annual publicity tour sponsored by the Union College School of Nursing.

What could be more fitting than a good old-fashioned Nebraska blizzard accented by ice-glazed highways? The velocity of the wind carried us off the path several times before we arrived at Union College.

The few familiar faces and the friendliness shown by everyone made us feel right at home the few days we were on the college campus. The first program was given for the Union College Academy, and was entitled "A Day in the Life of a Student Nurse."

During the course of the twelve-day tour we visited Sheyenne River Academy, Maplewood Academy, Oak Park Academy, and Platte Valley Academy. Many students showed an interest in the nursing profession, especially in the aspect of missionary nursing.

Just in case anyone is under the impression that this trip was calm and restful we would like to relate an incident which occurred one night while looking for a motel. We had passed a mortuary and stopped at a gas station for information. Doris very earnestly asked, "Mister could you tell us where we could find a mortuary?" It appears she really intended to have a good rest.

We want to say thank you to all those who helped to make our visit to each place so pleasant.

Kappa Theta

Kappa Theta was entertained recently by a musical program by Daina Ramey and Edo Lindquist. Daina sang "Yesterday and Today" by Spross, "Russian Picnic" by Enders, and "Into the Night" by Edwards. Edo played "Intermezzo" by Provost, "Hejre Kati" by Jeno Hubay. Accompanied by Edo, Daina sang "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Lieubrance, to close the program.

Speech Club

On November 18 at the regular club meeting the Speech club presented for its members the film "Julius Caesar." The film showed the speeches of Mark Antony and Brutus following the death of Caesar. At the end of the film, Dr. V. G. Logan, sponsor of the club, summarized and discussed the whole play. Curtiss Dale, president of the club, told of coming events—among them a dinner and a Christmas play.

King's Daughters' League

The upper division women's club of North hall, was organized on Wednesday night, November 18. The following officers were elected: President Carol Grubbs
Vice-president Darlene Kirchner
Secretary-treasurer Celia Clark

Mu Epsilon Delta

Last Saturday night the pre-meds had a party in the library. There were forty-seven people present to play games, eat refreshments, and watch moving pictures.

Alpha Rho Gamma

The village women's club gave a Thanksgiving dinner for the village men on Sunday night, November 22, in the church annex. Donna Chambers sang "Desert Song," then Sue McArthur, Jean Shafer, Ruth Sutter, Lorle Dick, and Jeanette Barnett presented the play, "Ghost of a Freshman." Curtiss Dale gave a response.

The men had a short meeting after the entertainment and made plans to form a club of their own. Their officers will be announced at a later date.

Editorial

Now that Thanksgiving is over, everybody seems to lose the spell of the holiday. You can't hear people counting their blessings. Doesn't seem right. Seems as though we should be counting our blessings day by day. Of course, maybe our blessings are too many to count. That doesn't excuse us for not at least counting the ones that we have every day. You know what I mean—having a wonderful Christian school to go to. That's a blessing, and it doesn't take Thanksgiving to remind us of that. We should be thankful for not only the school but the teachers and classmates. I'm sure we won't stop counting our blessings even though Thanksgiving is over; let's have Thanksgiving last all year round, and I'll guarantee that we'll have more and more blessings than ever.

Be Thankful!

Since Thanksgiving, I've been thinking about all we have to be thankful for. One of the first things that should be on our thankful list is the freedom to go to church and worship as we like. Since we have that privilege, don't you think you should attend Sabbath School regularly? Last week we enjoyed a very interesting program by Curtis Rossow, Jerry Schack, Wesley Welch, and Jerry McGill. Our special music was a string trio.

Golden Cords Staff Elected

The Golden Cords staff recently elected are: Phyllis Larson, Charles Chambers, Sam Wagner, Natalie Deming, and Reilly Price. Robert Strukow, Arlo Krueger, June Robinson, and Dorothy Zummach will be in charge of poster publicity work for the rest of the school year.

We Are Sorry!

We are sorry we forgot to mention Merlene Multer's name for the honor roll last time.

Newsnotes

Former UCA students visiting the campus Thanksgiving were: Carolyn Kuehl, Jeanette and Lila Bietz, Billy Deming, Larry Schmidt, and Stuart Erickson.

Looking into the future, we note that members of the Spanish classes are busily looking forward to and planning for a trip to Mexico during the Christmas vacation. On December 20 the Student Association is sponsoring a school banquet at Cotner Terrace. Plan now to be there for a pleasant evening with your classmates and teachers.

Pie Social

Apple pie, berry pie, chocolate pie, pecan, lemon, chiffon, pumpkin—pies before us, pies all around us—that was the attraction November 21 at the annex from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. If any one of the academy youth had never had all the pie he wanted, he no longer can complain.

"This is the most fun I've had all year," remarked one student at the close of the social. The student teachers, with Lewis Brand as chairman, directed the social. Two films were shown following refreshments.

After Graduation...

Word has just been received of the accidental drowning of little 2½-year-old John Edward Falbisaner. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. George J. Falbisaner, '46, of Grand Rapids, Michigan. While playing with his brother, the little fellow fell into a pond on the grounds of the Michigan Veterans Facility where his father has been an attending physician for the past four years.

Dr. and Mrs. Willard Regester, '49, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were recent campus visitors. They have just moved to Iowa to begin private practice.

Dr. and Mrs. Victor Roos (Florence Stout), '22, of Redlands, California, were recent guests at the home of Mrs. Roos' brother, J. E. Stout, of Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gilbert (Alice Sornson), both of '28, visited their son, who is attending college, on November 21 and 22. Mr. Gilbert is on the staff at Maplewood Academy, Hutchinson, Minnesota.

Among the many campus visitors over the Thanksgiving holidays were these alumni: Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Rosenthal (Maurine Gilbert), both of '26, of Austin, Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Madison (Sylvesta Davies), '45 and '28, of Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beaman, '51, of Denver, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malone, '26, of Belgrade, Nebraska; Prudence Ortner, '49, of Boulder, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Nesmith (Carmie Owen, '23), of Loveland, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Barger (Mary Johnson), both of '50, Frances Chamberlain, '49, and Merlene Ogden, '50, all of Shelton, Nebraska; Dr. and Mrs. Delbert Anderson (Shirley Boyer, '50), of Minnesota; and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Davis (Blanche Gilbert, '23), of Nevada, Iowa.

UC Dons Decide on

Domestic Domiciles

In the last few years there has been an improvement in the living conditions of some of the Union College faculty, for many have built new homes. Some of the homes are painted blue, chartruese, or olive, and some are made of stone, brick, or wood. Some are large and some are small; but all suit the "professors," and they are living or planning to live in them in the near future.

These new homes are scattered all over College View, two are even "across the tracks," but still in a very respectable district. Some of the homes were built by the hands of the owners, and some were built by contractors. All of the homes satisfy the specifications of the owners (and their finances).

Mrs. Marguerite Widener was the first of the faculty members to build a new home in which she has lived for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taylor were the second of the faculty to have a new home. They moved in and had an open house last May.

Drs. Lillian and Virgil Logan had an open house in September for faculty and students.

The following are some of the addresses of the newest faculty homes:

Mr. & Mrs. William H. Taylor, 5101 Locust Street.

Drs. Lillian & Virgil Logan, 3226 West Summit Boulevard.

Dr. & Mrs. Lowell W. Welch, 5257 Lowell Avenue.

Mr. & Mrs. Vernon S. Dunn, 5252 Lowell Avenue.

Senator Joseph McCarthy has offered himself as a major issue in the 1954 elections. In a recent speech, McCarthy pointedly called attention to the fact that his position as head of the Senate Investigating committee depends upon the votes of senators elected by the people. The republicans are worried about this aggressive campaign of the Wisconsin senators. Should the republicans win several new seats a McCarthy block might form in the senate. Such a block would increase the Senator's power greatly and make the policies of Eisenhower's middle-of-the-road program very difficult to administer.

A Jamaican, who spread his coat before the Queen of England in the manner of Sir Walter Raleigh, was hauled away to jail. The Queen stopped in surprise by the placing of the coat; she proceeded to step around it. The man's sanity was tested; he was declared sane and released. Chivalry is truly dead when the Queen of England is surprised by a gentlemanly act and a man's sanity is questioned for such a noble deed.

As often happens when there is a lull in the all-out shooting; there is a calm in the news. This seems to be such a time and I would like to take a few lines to report a couple of "signs of the times" that have caught my eye recently.

In St. Louis researchers have very conclusively proven the connection between lung cancer and cigarette smoking. Tests of the effects of cigarette tars upon the backs of white mice have shown that the tars start a cancerous growth. What with this long expected idea proven, the researchers only advice was to smoke only six cigarettes a day and have an x-ray taken every six months. Why can't the obvious be stated? "Quit smoking!"

In Japan the poor crops of the past year have brought about an acute problem in the old Japanese custom of child slavery. A pet dog in Japan sells for nearly $50 whereas a young girl can be purchased for textile weaving at $22. The American occupation government has had very little effect in deterring the selling of youth for slavery purposes. This sport serves to remind us of the low condition in which the earth continues to exist.

North Hall Chatter

If buildings could burst from excitement, North hall would lie in shambles now. Chapel programs, CT campaign, visitors, breakfast club, tours, banquets, and more programs have created stir and bustle at the girls' dorm. One girl remarked, "This is the first time I've ever been away from home on Thanksgiving Day but I'm really enjoying it, after all."

The CT campaign cup is glad to be back home in the North hall lobby. Its shining gold and mellow wood have a soothing effect on those girls who still have writer's cramp. The Yankees want you Rebels to know that they think you fellows did a fine job getting subs!

The play "A Psalm of Thanksgiving," was given in worship November 23. Melba Culpepper was in charge of the worship. Those in the play were Lou Etta Craddock, Mary Frances Coulson, Marlene Harrop, and Lauren Taylor. After the play cookies and punch were served, then Miss Remley gave the girls a surprise—a letter for each girl from her mother: a Thanksgiving message.

Ohs and ahs were heard as South hall was toured Thanksgiving Day. The girls think the men are pretty lucky to have such a beautiful dormitory. The fellows are neat housekeepers, too!

My Opinion Is...

Although there is no student union at Union College at present, there have been many rumors drifting around the campus about the possibility of such a thing becoming a reality. It is the purpose of this column to stimulate thought and action toward such an end.

The Question of the Week is: What would you like to see in a student union at Union College?

Dorothy Furgason, freshman religion major: "I don't know exactly what I would like to see in a student union, but I do think we need some place where the students can go and talk, other than the library or in the halls."

Ferman Mock, junior ministerial student: "I would like to see different games such as ping pong. A snack bar would be good and also a place to just relax."

Miss Virginia Shull, head of the English department: "I would like to see the following things: A recreation room, a large room equipped and arranged for students to get together in a social way, a kitchen, and a responsible married couple to be in charge."

Wendell Elkins, junior history and education major: "A place

Golden Cords Staff Works on Yearbook

Ideas, budgets, and inspirations come by hard work. The Golden Cords staff will heartily agree with this statement. Naomi Brand, editor-in-chief, has not only been busy since school started, but all during the summer she was planning, sketching tentative pages, and forming ideas to lay the groundwork for the 1953-54 Golden Cords. Miss Virginia Shull, editorial advisor, has been working closely with Naomi.

Since the beginning of school, Laurie McLaughlin, business manager, and Mr. James Anderson, advisor, have been striving to get the most and the best for the student's money. Emphasis is being made on getting as many pictures in as soon as possible in order to take advantage of the larger discounts for cuts up to December.

And, pictures are being taken. This is much in evidence by the way Archie Huff can be seen hurrying from one spot to another on the campus. The targets at present are all departments on the campus, and departmental dummy pages are being made up. Each student has had his picture taken, and the class panels are also in the process of being made up.

It is the desire of the Golden Cords staff to give the student body a pictorial composite of the school year in the form of the 1953-54 Golden Cords that will present lasting memories.

where students can play games, have refreshments, lounge around, listen to records, hear radio or special TV programs. It should be made to accommodate small parties. The campus "courters" should appreciate it when the weather gets colder."

Ruth Sutter, junior music major: "A place to lounge and read when other places (library, music hall) are closed. It might have table tennis, a book-nook, a music room, etc."

Dr. V. G. Logan, head of the speech department: "I favor a student union that is a center for student activities. There should be a good record player with classical records, easy chairs, games, both table and active (ping-pong, shuffle board, etc.)."

South Hall Clatter

This past week end has been a busy one for the residents of South hall with such things as open house going on and all it requires.

While on the subject of open house, let me tell you an interesting incident that happened here between the hours of five and seven last Thursday evening. It seems that Adrian Welch, who works at the farm, came to his room in his work clothes a little after the tours through the dorm began. Deeming a change necessary, he propped two chairs against the door and thought himself reasonably sure of privacy. Upon becoming partially disrobed, he heard the door being forced open in spite of all obstacles. Adrian made a quick dive for the closet and slammed the door behind him, leaving only his shoes sitting in the middle of the floor. The lady who entered, thinking to help, decided to put someone's shoes away for him. Fortunately, she put them in the other closet and Adrian was spared the embarrassment. Rumor has it that he was in the closet for nearly forty-five minutes before he could get the door closed and get dressed.

Visitors at South hall during the Thanksgiving week end were: Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Mock and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Campbell, Mrs. Charles Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lindquist and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. McAllister and Merwin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson and Evan, Elder and Mrs. L. L. Murphy, Bill Oldham, Duane Hircok, Jim Bieber, Ervan Kiesa, Ray Herbel, and Pete Long.

South hall congratulates the occupants of North hall on the winning of the CLOCK TOWER campaign trophy. But remember girls, we lacked only ten subs this time, just give us another year.
