The class of '51 was presented by Dr. E. B. Ogden and was recognized by President Harvey C. Hartman. Elder M. V. Campbell gave the principal address of the occasion.

Special music was given by the men of the Golden Cords Chorale directed by Professor Harlyn Abel; the processional and recessional were played by the Brass Choir under the direction of Mr. Clifton Cowles.

The members of the class, who have as their sponsors Dr. R. W. Fowler and Dr. H. G. Reinmuth, are as follows:

VOLUME XXVI UNION COLLEGE, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FEBRUARY 16, 1951 NUMBER 8

Student Association Directs Campaign

A campaign to raise $15,000 for remodeling the gymnasium was launched last Monday and Tuesday in chapel. Sponsoring the campaign is the Student Association of Union College, with Bobby Roberts as president.

The money collected during the campaign will be used to refloor and put a ceiling in the gymnasium. As it is now, there is no ceiling in the gymnasium. When the new ceiling is built it will be constructed of acoustic boards to soundproof the gymnasium. Neither is there any subflooring in the gymnasium, but the new hardwood floor will be laid above some subflooring.

This campaign is the first major project of the Union College Student Association since it was organized last year.

The individual goal for each person in the campaign is $20. It is believed by the campaign leaders that this goal will be reached by everyone who writes at least seven letters.

The campaign, which was launched last Monday and Tuesday, will end Thursday, March 15, at a joint-chapel in the auditorium.

Instead of having regular study period, Tuesday night was pronounced letter writing night. There were no assignments or tests for any of the Wednesday classes.

Wilbert Dale is the general chairman of the campaign and the faculty sponsor is Dr. E. B. Ogden. Vice-chairmen, or "majors," will act as union leaders. They are:
 Northern Union—Bill Lehman
 Central Union—Royce Williams
 Northwestern Union—George Fisher
 Cosmopolitan—Nina Engman
 The state leaders, or "captains," are:

- Nebraska—Jean Sharp
- Kansas—Dave Frederick
- Colorado—Palmer Wick
- Iowa—Thelma Kepler
- Missouri—Don Woodruff
- Minnesota—Beverly Blost
- South Dakota—Vernon Chase
- North Dakota—Arthur Opp
- Wyoming—Norman Harvey
- Texas } Elmer Jordan
- New Mexico }
- Oklahoma }
- Louisiana } John Haffner
- Arkansas }
- Western Cosmopolitan area—Ray Hymer
- Eastern Cosmopolitan area—Albert Ingram

Each of the states is divided into "squads" of ten to fifteen people with a "lieutenant" in charge of each "squad."

Mareta Jensen is chairman of the campaign's publicity committee, and Mr. Wm. Taylor is the advisor of the committee.

The reporting committee chairman is Jack Jester, and Mr. Robert Cleveland is advisor.

Mr. Dale explained when the campaign was launched in chapel that there would be no prizes awarded those who collect the most money. The reason, he said, is that "the prizes would have to be paid for out of the hard-earned campaign funds. Anyway, I believe having a nice gym is prize enough," he added.

A large goal device has been erected on the main floor of the administration building to show how each state stands in comparison to others. Posters also have been hung in the main college buildings, and signs placed by campus sidewalks to boost the campaign spirit.

1500 Attend Annual Student Amateur Hour

The long-awaited eighth annual amateur hour program was held in the Union College auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on February 10, 1951. A large crowd was on hand to witness the variety program consisting of vocal and instrumental selections and readings.

Samuel DeShay, a freshman pre-med student, whose home is in Columbus, Ohio, captured the first place of the instrumental section and also the grand prize of the evening by his beautiful rendition of "Sextette," from Lucia di Lammermoor." This selection was played with the left hand alone. Samuel is here under a partial music scholarship and it might be interesting to note that he has been studying piano for only four and one-half years.

Bernice Klaric was the first place winner in the vocal section, while Gerry Thompson placed first in the readers' section.

Other winners of the evening were: Velma Johnson, Dave Evenson, Eula Mae Lindquist, Isabel Summers, Jean Wilmot, Fred Lorenz, Ellis Olson, Walter Edwards, and Merlyn Dealy. Other students participating were: Robert Pound, Vivian Becker, Jackie Philips, Floyd Vipond, Lovina Tibbets, Donna Rae Bidwell, Dave Copsy, Lorraine Hanson, Doralee Kaufman, Marian Miller, Martha Benson, Dale Wagner, Marie Yaeger, Mark Dickinson, Betty Germain, Muriel Meister, and Sandra Prang. Jerene Abel, Alvida Brand, Donna Rae Bidwell, Clyde Dick, Charlie Culbertson, and Lois McWilliam were the accompanists.

CHRISTIAN CONVICTION IS THEME OF VESPERS TALK

Elder J. J. Strahle was speaker at the opening meeting of colporteur institute during the vesper hour February 2.

The main theme of Elder Strahle's sermon was "Christian Conviction." He told a few experiences of native workers in the foreign fields. Even though American missionaries are not allowed in China at the present time, faithful Chinese have the conviction to finish the work in China. They are carrying forth the third angel's message with great difficulty. It has been noticed by Chinese officials that these Seventh-day Adventist workers are different from other Christian believers by the fact that they will not compromise their convictions under any circumstances. Elder Strahle brought out the fact that our Christian convictions should be strong, since we are still free to worship as we feel in this country.

Elder Strahle is at present the publishing secretary of the Southwestern Union and was field secretary for the General Conference before going to the Southwestern Union. He has done much traveling abroad as he was publishing secretary for the Far Eastern Division and then the Northern European Division for over twenty years. Following World War II Elder Strahle was food administrator for the General Conference until 1948. He has met many world leaders and has made personal friends with such renowned people as General and Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

Annual Colporteur Institute Is Held

One hundred twenty-four students enlisted in the colporteur institute held at Union College February 3-9. More are planning to sign up later, which will bring the total near the two hundred mark by the time summer vacation begins.

A full week of instruction was given under the direction of Elder P. D. Gerrard, publishing secretary of the Central Union. Two instruction periods were held each day, and students were excused from their classes to attend these meetings.

The chapel periods were also given over to the experiences brought by the publishing secretaries from the Southwestern, Central, and Northern unions. During the Monday and Tuesday chapel periods the Colporteur Club presented a short skit portraying the beginning of the colporteur work and the first active colporteur, George A. King.

Ninety students earned scholarships last summer and are spending them here at Union College. The prospective colporteurs are anticipating a profitable summer both spiritually and financially.

MISSION BAND ORGANIZES; BERNHARDT IS LEADER

"We Too Receive" was the title of the film shown at the first Mission Band meeting of the year, Friday, February 9, in the college chapel. The meeting was under the direction of leader Alfred Bernhardt. Other officers include Wesley Green, assistant leader, and Ruby Birch, secretary.

Special music was given by Winslow Ellis and Don Dunkin in a clarinet duet. Featured also was the Harmonette quartet, Don Woodruff, Palmer Wick, Keith Wiseman, and Ernest Clark, who sang "The Jericho Road."

Mission Band will henceforth alternate each Friday night with Ministerial Seminar.

DEADLINE FOR TEMPERANCE CONTEST ENTRIES IS FEB. 27

All entries for the Temperance essay, poster, and jingle contests must be in by February 27. Essay contest entries are to be turned in to Mr. William Taylor; jingle contest entries to Mr. Charles Read and poster contest entries to Mr. John Hawkinson.

Everyone entering the oratorical contest should bring their manuscripts and be prepared to deliver them from the rostrum at the preliminary judging in the college chapel at 7:30 p.m. on February 27.

Students Select Roberts As Delegate to Paris

Student association president, Bobby Roberts, has been chosen as Union College's delegate to the Paris Youth Congress, which will be held in Paris, France, July 24-29, 1951.

Roberts and his wife will leave here early in July in order to meet the other twenty-five U.S. delegates in New York City, where they will sail for Europe. The list from which the student body voted was as follows: Reuben Beck, Alfred Bennett, Beverly Blost, Beverly Canine, Wilbert Dale, Norman Doss, Everett Fisher, Hallie Glass, Eunice Grant, Ann Hazelton, Grace Hufaker, Nicoli Nelson, Palmer Wick, Royce Williams, Don Woodruff, Velma Johnson, Bill Lehman, Ed Macomber, Bill Neptune, Bobby Roberts, Billie Wright, Warren Zork, Marion Zummach, Norman Sharp, and Harry Sharp.

U.C. Group Gives Lincoln Day Program at Capitol

Students and faculty members from Union College gave a program for the state legislature at the capitol building last week in celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birthday. The program was given before the entire legislative body.

The Madrigal singers, under the direction of Mr. Harlyn Abel, Elder M. W. Deming, and Raymond E. Davis participated in the program. Mr. Davis gave the Gettysburg address.

Elder J. J. Williamson of the Bible department addressed the legislature on the importance of religious liberty. He said that the United States will remain great as long as its leaders hold to the principles of religious liberty. He appealed to them to remember the forefathers that established such principles.

Your Campaign and Mine

December 7, 1941, released the spectre of war which, until that memorable and despicable day, had been held in check, somewhat, from venting its wrath upon the entire world. You will remember the eager desire to serve that was felt by every true American in that dark hour. Soon war plants were working around the clock; recruiting offices were jammed; service camps were bustling with activity, as all united their efforts to repel and crush the dastardly attempt to blot out the democratic ideals held by the greatest country in the world. After four long years of anxiety, toil, blood-spilling, and shedding of tears, this country won the most costly and most signally important victory of her brilliant career. This victory was realized, however, only because of the hard work and smooth co-operation that were manifested by all those involved.

Today the young men and women of Union College stand face to face with another crisis. This time it is directly relative to our loyalty to our school. Before this article is published, we will have chosen the leaders to direct in the student campaign to raise funds to re-floor and ceil the college auditorium. And it is our duty and privilege to support this campaign with all of our energies just as it was the duty and privilege of the American people to unite their efforts in supporting their country in 1941.

Naturally, since the auditorium is used by so many different groups on the campus and is in such apparent need of repairs, it is felt that the readers are in agreement with the plans mentioned above. Now some may feel, though the need is recognized, that they do not have the time or do not feel the urgency of merging their energies with the other students in such a campaign. However, if these students, few though they be, decide to lend their energies to the task, they will feel the same pride in Union's achievements as anyone else and someday will point with satisfaction to the auditorium's improvements. On the other hand, if these people do not do their share, they will feel rather embarrassed, in the years to come, when their children ask them what they did to help build Union College.

Some may feel that Union is not perfect, that the school is not functioning just as they think it should, and therefore hesitate to take part in the fund raising. As we think about this fact, it might be well for us to remember the "gripes" that many of the men had in the service concerning the way the army or navy was run. These same men, however, forgot their complaints when they actually faced the enemy and rendered valiant and heroic service to their country.

Certainly all true Unionites will do the same as we combine our energies and efforts to make this campaign a real success.

SPEARS AND PEARCE ARE NOMINEES FOR COURTESY CROWNS

A general committee has been chosen to promote all courtesy activities on our campus. Gerry Thompson is the chairman of this organized group sponsored by the student association; Virginia Reynolds serves as secretary. Other members are Joan Sharp, Mike Valentine, and Glenn Wheeler.

Secret committees are chosen throughout the semester to nominate courteous candidates for the king and queen of courtesy.

Those nominated as candidates for the month of February are Joyce Spears and Joe Pearce.

Joyce, who is majoring in secretarial science, is a member of the junior class and lives in Houston, Texas. Before coming to Union last September she attended Southern Missionary College. She has served as cultural secretary for Kappa Theta and has participated in many other campus activities. Joyce likes sports and outdoor life; tennis and horseback riding are favorites.

Joe Pearce is a married pre-dental major from Independence, Missouri. He is an enthusiastic member of the Natural Science Club and claims horseback riding among his favorite outdoor sports. This is his first year at Union and his endeavor to promote spirituality throughout our school is deeply appreciated.

Dormitory Clubs Elect 2nd Semester Officers

McWilliam

Blair

Novella McWilliam, junior from Fort Scott, Kansas, is the recently elected Kappa Theta president for second semester.

Assisting her as vice-president is Bette Jewell Lenz. Ann Hazelton is secretary; Phyllis Carlson, treasurer; Alice Tyler, cultural secretary; Pat Lounsberry, chorister; and Lovina Tibbetts, pianist. Mrs. Norman Doss is sponsor of the club.

The club has been working on writing a constitution during recent meetings.

"Madame X's" have been Joyce Leonhardt and Dorothy Hill for the past two meetings.

Sigma Iota Kappa chose Edmund B. Blair, sophomore from Fruita, Colorado, as their second semester president. Their other officers include: Dave Frederick, vice-president; Ray Herber, treasurer; Rex English, secretary; Gerald Healer, assistant secretary; and Howard Runck and Vernon Thompson, club heralds.

NURSES CLUB

After telling of the Nebraska State Student Nurses Association board of directors meeting in Omaha last month, Howard Runck introduced Miss Blanche Graves to the club. She spoke of her experiences as a nurse cadet in World War I and told the importance of being a refined, dignified nurse. Miss Graves is the director of the Bureau of Education and Registration for Nurses in the state of Nebraska.

NATURAL SCIENCE CLUB

On January 20, the members of the Natural Science Club met to discuss future plans for the second semester. Among some of the activities discussed were nature hikes, a science fair, and a field excursion.

Colorful slides were shown by Dr. D. M. Brown, the club sponsor, showing some of the plant life found along the shores of the Michigan peninsula. The stages of plant development and growth with relation to their habitat was emphasized, showing the struggle of plant life to survive over the sea and changing land conditions.

Curtiss and Colvin Are Seminar Speakers

"Christ the Spring of Action," was the theme of Ministerial Seminar Friday evening, February 3, 1951.

Paul Curtiss, the first speaker, stressed the fact that we, as messengers of God in this bewildered world, should make no compromise with sin. We must study to show ourselves approved unto God, while living our religion before our fellow men.

Andrew Colvin stated: "Christ is the wellspring from the heart. More than anything else we need the love of God in our lives. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and only through Christ is this made possible. Christ gives us the power to take evil out of our hearts; we cannot live a pure life without His. We are the sons of God. Oh, what a wonderful thing! What wonderful love!"

An attendance of over 75 shows the interest of the students in our Ministerial Seminar.

A series of Saturday night musicals in which various students, faculty members, and guest artists will appear are being scheduled beginning with February 17. These recitals will be held at 6:45 until sundown necessitates a change in time. Admission to these programs will be by ticket only because of the limited capacity of the recital room in the Engel Hall. However, these tickets may be obtained free of charge at the main desk in the music building any time during the week preceding the recital.

The first of these recitals is to be given by the five students whom the Union College Music department is entering in the Lincoln Symphony solo auditions. Mr. and Mrs. Hartwick Hansen (individually, Lyle Jewell, Doralee Kaufman, and Robert Pound are the students who will compete for the privilege of soloing with the orchestra during the April 10 concert.

The recital on February 23 is to be given by a group of students of the Nebraska Wesleyan University School of Music.

Students of Mr. Charles Watson are receiving valuable experience in the piano seminar recitals which are held each Tuesday evening. During this time students perform and are criticized by Mr. Watson and other students. This not only gives the performer an opportunity to receive experience in public, but also gives the other students a chance to enlarge their acquaintance repertoire.

"Reading Maketh a Full Man, Conference a Ready Man, and Writing an Exact Man"

College freshmen often feel that they should not be required to take another English course, since they have had English every year for the past twelve years. Why shouldn't they spend their time studying something more advanced and more practical, or at least something new and interesting?

Few realize how indispensable the English department is. Few understand or perceive that the study of English is valuable to all departments. English is not only a tool of thought and a medium of communication but also the expression of a personality, a means of comprehending one's self as well as others.

Francis Bacon once said, "Reading maketh a full man, conference [discussion] a ready man, and writing an exact man." If a person is to write in order to inform, persuade, or entertain, he must have the necessary technical skill with words. No matter how much he may know about the subject, his knowledge is of little value unless he can communicate it to another person in such a way the reader will understand what the writer is attempting to say.

The denomination has many very good speakers and lecturers, but there are not many good writers.

At Union College one can get experience in newswriting, creative writing, and similar courses. Last year the composition classes won second place in the Youth's Instructor writing contest. Thirteen prizes were awarded to students in these classes who wrote papers for the Youth's Instructor.

Everyone is aware that the denomination has branched out considerably in the field of public relations. As this field grows and progresses, undoubtedly men and women who have been trained in composition, journalism, and creative writing will be needed to carry on this phase of the world program.

Man should have, as a part of his experience, the humanities—art, literature, and music. To educate without educating in the humanities is only partial education. The objective of the liberal arts college should be to create a well-rounded man who seeks to understand the spiritual, cultural, scientific, and physical facets of human nature. The English department of Union College aims not only to teach its students to use the English language correctly, but also to help them to acquire a taste and appreciation for that which is wholesome and beautiful in literature.

RADIO, ASTRONOMY, GLASS BLOWING . . . YOU WILL FIND IN PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

By MILTON D. HARE

The department of physics at Union College accommodates three groups of students. Non-science majors, preprofessional majors and those majoring or minoring in physics.

For the liberal arts students the department provides two courses of special interest—one in the lower division and one in the upper division. Radio Physics was originally offered for those students who were interested in becoming radio amateurs and in operating their own transmitting stations. In the future this course will be given for a still larger group. To all who enjoy good recorded music the course will be an opportunity to study high-fidelity sound systems. All future teachers and evangelists will be interested in the emphasis placed on the construction and operation of public address systems. Radio Physics will no longer require a proficiency examination in the international Morse code; however, the various types of code practice equipment can still be used by those students who are interested. Radio physics is available on alternate years and will be offered next during the 1951-52 school year.

Descriptive Astronomy is the upper division course for liberal arts students. Most of those who enroll intend to be ministers or teachers. It is of special interest to those who anticipate doing Master Guide work. The laboratory which accompanies the lectures not only includes a group of formal experiments but also provides for star study using the department telescopes. During the second semester students may work on projects of their choice. In the past these have included constellation catalogs, constellation lantern slides, star maps, sun dials, and telescope models.

Most of the preprofessional students who plan to enter some branch of medical science enroll in General Physics. In addition to the topics usually covered, this course places emphasis on the medical applications of the subject.

Students majoring or minoring in physics comprise the third group. It is of interest to note that by the end of the present school year Union College will have graduated seventeen physics majors in three years. Some of these men were interested in teaching and have already entered their chosen field. Others are now taking graduate work with the idea of eventually filling one of the many positions available in industry. The department offers a number of courses designed to accommodate these two interests.

Since it was first offered four years ago, Laboratory Glass Blowing has been a popular course with students majoring in chemistry or physics. All physics majors are required to take the course in Research which is intended to acquaint the seniors in the department with the way in which a typical research program is conducted—from the initial research proposal to the final research report. Here the student has an opportunity to learn more about some topic of his choice. This year's seniors are working on projects which include an electronic timer for the department's spot welder, Geiger counters, printed radio circuits, and a syllabus for one of the upper division laboratory courses.

For several years the department has held a research contract dealing with vacuum tube design. This not only has served as a source of inspiration and information to the students enrolled in the department but it has also provided employment for some of the upper division majors.

An important aid to the work of all the students is the departmental library which has on its shelves some 300 books, as well as bound volumes of scientific journals. The library receives approximately thirty current periodicals. All of these are in addition to physics books and journals available in the college library.

Perhaps you are now a student at Union College and have never visited the department of physics. Perhaps you have never had an opportunity to visit the college. In either case come to the first floor of the Science Hall. You will be more than welcome.

Be Friendly

Have you ever been in a crowded place with a lot of people around you laughing and having a good time and yet felt completely alone? If you have, you may have some idea of how a new student feels the first few days after he starts school.

Now that second semester is here, there are several new students among us. Some of them have been here before. We are happy to welcome them back. To those who have never been here before, let's give a most hearty welcome and let them know that U.C.A. is a friendly school. Let's not have any lonely students at U.C.A.!

College Days

★ Now that semester exams are over and our worst fears are realized, most of us have resolved to turn over a new leaf and really study this semester. Some are no doubt relieved that they won't be home when their grades get there. If such is the case with you, perhaps this poem will express your sentiments.

I think that I shall never see
A "D" as lovely as a "B."

A "B" whose form is proudly pressed
Upon the transcript of the blest.

A "D" comes easily, and yet
It isn't easy to forget.

"D's" are made by folks like me,
But only brains can make a
"B."

★ It seems that after all these years two new Bible characters have come into existence. At least, Beverly Blost was heard telling her Sabbath School class about two Old Testament characters, Ain and Cable.

★ It isn't the season for spring fever yet, but Gordon Bissell already has the symptoms. The other evening at the library he reached into his pocket to get a pencil and pulled out, not a pencil, but a toothbrush.

★ Mark Dickinson deserves a lot of credit for keeping the moral of the Golden Cords Chorale high. His apt cartoons and characterizations are a constant source of humor for the members during the regular practice periods.

★ Mr. Taylor acted a little sheepish as he walked back to school after his car last week. But he isn't alone in his forgetfulness. Gertrude Degering also walked home last week after forgetting she had driven her car to school. Gertrude had the advantage, however, because she had a father to go after it for her.

★ Beverly Canine has acquired a new name, Miss Beverly Bow-wow.

★ In World Literature class during a discussion of the character, Shylock, the instructor made the statement that years ago when the part was acted, Shylock was represented as being red-headed; later he was portrayed as having black hair; and at the present time a grey-haired man is typical. "Do you think that this is because more sympathy is now being placed with Shylock than was before?" asked the teacher. "Sympathy, nothing," spoke up Ralph Lee, "that's only because he's getting older."

★ After working late on some experiments one night, Dr. Brown found it impossible to get into his house. His key just didn't seem to work, so after many futile attempts, he rang the doorbell. Imagine his surprise when Mr. Taylor answered the door, and he found he was at the wrong apartment.

★ Despite all the modern devices that we enjoy today, the average college girl still has difficulty in finding time for those "little things" that need taking care of. Alvida Brand has an idea that might prove of some value. She uses that no rinse, no wipe cleaner, FAB, to wash her hair. It serves as a double time-saver, for not only does it save her the task of rinsing her hair, but the soap film remaining in her hair keeps her combs clean from week to week.

★ College Professor: If there are any morons in the room, please stand up.

There was a long pause, then a lonely freshman rose to his feet.

College Professor: What? Do you consider yourself a moron?

Student: Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hate to see you standing there by yourself.

★ Ask Richard Ellis about this:

It's most disgusting when you hurry to leave

To find that someone has sewn up your sleeve.

Now he's about to break his poor head

To find out who used the needle and thread.

★ Dorothy Hill appreciates her roommate's kindness and thoughtfulness in little things. Whenever she feels down in the dumps, Shirley Duren always has some kind word to cheer her up. For instance, the other day when she was told that she was to be "Madame X" she said, "Oh, this shouldn't happen to a dog." "No, it shouldn't," Shirley replied, "but it certainly has." Remember, Shirley, a man is judged by the company he keeps.

★ How does deodorant work for pancake make-up, Betty Reynolds? (She should know, for she accidentally tried it the other morning.)

★ Donna Rae Bidwell was seen rummaging through everything in her desk drawer trying to find her pen. She had almost given up when she finally found it—in her hand where it had been all the time.

THE VIGILANT ONE?

Do you like this column? Some of you have told us it's your favorite. If so, why don't you help us write it? Not one item was turned in for publication this issue. If something funny happens to you or one of your friends, how about writing it up and dropping it either in the CLOCK TOWER box on the main floor of the Ad Building or in the slot of the CLOCK TOWER office door? Whether or not we will continue "College Days" depends on you.

TEACHERS OF TOMORROW

New officers for the Teachers of Tomorrow club were elected for second semester at the club's last meeting, February 2.

Percy Paul was elected president of the club. Having previously been president of a Teachers of Tomorrow club in Canada, Mr. Paul is experienced in this field.

Other officers are as follows: Gerry Thompson, vice-president; Alice Zender, secretary-treasurer; Gevene Rosebaugh, librarian; Jack Zima, parliamentarian; Warren Hallock, publicity agent.

Dr. E. M. Cadwallader, director of the department of education at Union College, is sponsor of the club during the entire year.

★ Sara Quantock's face turned almost the color of her red sweater one noon in the cafeteria when she discovered to her horror that she had three forks instead of the conventional one.

★ Have you seen Edward Macomber's latest haircut—a crew-cut on top and long on the sides? Ed says, however, that it's just an example of the installment plan. The barber would cut only half his hair for fifty cents, so when he gets another fifty cents, he'll have the job completed.

"Save everyday the I.G.A. way" is one of the slogans of Mohr's grocery store across the street from South Hall. According to Mr. R. O. Mohr, owner and manager of the store, his policy is to operate the store with low prices every day rather than to have higher prices ordinarily, with frequent big-reduction sales.

Mr. and Mrs. Mohr bought their store ten years ago. However, Mr. Mohr has been in the grocery business in College View since 1929.

Two years ago the store was completely remodeled to make it a modern, easy-to-shop-in market. Mr. Mohr says that his store carries "the most complete line of groceries I know of." It takes seven employees, besides Mr. Mohr, to keep the business running.

Whether it's only a little snack you want, or the family grocery supply, you can find it at Mohr's I.G.A. Store where good staple and fancy groceries, fruits, vegetables, and meats are sold.

The happiest miser on earth—the man who saves up every friend he makes.

★ The Union College Board of Trustees met last week to go over reports and plans of Union College. The board members who were present and participated in the discussions were M.V. Campbell, chairman of the board and president of the Central Union; J. D. Smith, president of the Northern Union; H. C. Hartman, president of Union College; V. S. Dunn, F. E. Thompson, C. C. Gordon, C. W. Degering, E. R. Osmunson, W. A. Dessain, G. R. Fattic, E. A. Robertson, W. A. Howe, R. S. Watts, H. C. Klement, N. R. Dower, W. B. Mohr, J. V. Peters, N. C. Petersen, D. R. Rees, L. L. McKinley, Dan Butherus, H. E. Rice, A. R. Smouse, R. S. Joyce, F. O. Sanders, I. H. Wernick, H. A. Young, E. B. Ogden.

★ President Hartman received a letter last week from one of the patrons of Union College in which the following was said, "Your group gave us a fine morning message and the musical numbers were beautiful. In the afternoon it was an inspiration to hear the talks and music that were deeply appreciated."

"We had a record crowd for our evening program and needless to say we enjoyed it. The nicest compliment I can think of was made by one of our men. He said, "Where else but in one of our schools could you find such examples of beautiful womanhood?"

The above remarks were written by a person who saw Union College students present a program at a city in Union College territory.

Favorite Sports

Everyone has a right to form his opinion about favorite sports. Yet, there is one sport nearly everyone enjoys every day. To participate in this particular sport is an asset to everyone's occupation.

No set rules have been made as a guide for it. There is no age limit, and it can be enjoyed by young and old. Often it is indulged in by infants and adults at the same time.

Because one sometimes participates in this sport before he realizes it, the sport is very popular. Seldom is one "asked" to play but is merely drafted into it unconsciously. Although it is possible to enjoy this sport alone, it is best played by two or more individuals. However, when one plays it alone it is not long before others join him.

Very uncommon to most sports, there is no boundary of time or place where it can be put into practice. Often it is played the same time one is enjoying another sport. It can even be enjoyed in the classroom, which very often happens. Occasionally, the teacher joins the group in this sport while at other times he frowns upon those indulging in it, and in some cases asks those participating to leave the room.

Perhaps there is one place where this sport should not be played but has been played there, also. This place is at church, which, you will agree, is no place for a sport of this nature. What is this sport, you ask? Laughter, of course.
