INSPIRATION SAYS

"If Christians will keep the body in subjection, and bring all their appetites and passions under the control of enlightened conscience, feeling it a duty that they owe to God and to their neighbors to obey the laws which govern health and life, they will have the blessing of physical and mental vigor. They will have moral power to engage in the warfare against Satan, and in the name of Him who conquered appetite in their behalf they may be more than conquerors on their own account. This warfare is open to all who will engage in it."

Father-Son Team Joins Talents

Elder Dan E. Dirksen and Dan Dirksen, Jr. have joined talents in presenting "Sabbath Inspiration" programs throughout the Pacific Union. The Faith for Today father and son team features the speaking of Elder Dan Dirksen and the music of his son.

Dan, Jr. is organist for Faith for Today and Music and Effects Editor of the Adventist Radio, TV and Film Center. Currently he is scoring music for Faith for Today episodes and coordinating It Is Written musical features.

Appointments for the Dirksen Sabbath Inspiration programs can be made through Elder D. E. Dirksen, 22685-F Palm Ave., Grand Terrace, CA 92324.

Elder Dirksen served for many years as a pastor, singing evangelist, and director of the lay activities department both in the Southeastern California Conference and the Pacific Union. He was most recently president of the Nevada-Utah Conference.

"So Glorify God with Your Body"—Temperance

Seventh-day Adventist rationale for a strong health program is evidenced by the following statement:

"Do you know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you which you have from God? You are not your own; you are bought with a price. So glorify God in your body."

I Corinthians 6:19, 20 RSV
"You are not your own." This means that no one belongs to himself. He has no right to use the power of his mind and body as he wishes. He may choose to do so, but he will bear the consequences.

"Many seem to think they have a right to treat their own bodies as they please. But they forget that their bodies are not their own. Their Creator who formed them has claims upon them that they cannot rightly throw off. Every needless transgression of the laws which God has established in our being is virtually a violation of the Law of God and is as great a sin in the sight of heaven as to break the Ten Commandments." Counsels on Health, 40

Therefore, man's great objective should be to acquire a knowledge of these basic principles, to apply them to his daily life and to share them with others.

This statement, of course, refers to the health principles on which today's programs are based. The principles are "Pure air, sunlight, abstemiousness [self-control], rest, exercise, proper diet, the use of water, trust in divine power—these are the true remedies." Ministry of Healing, 127

Health educators in the Pacific Union are endeavoring to promote the great principles of healthful living through Five-Day Plans, Listen magazine sponsorships, Life and Health subscriptions, cooking schools, weight reduction clinics and physical fitness programs. Over 400 Five-Day Plans were held last year. Twelve thousand attended and 66 people were baptized through follow-up programs.

This year promises to be even more productive. Through cooperation with the School of Health, Loma Linda University, the Pacific Union has held many

Conscience Exemption Absent in Proposition 14

Absence of conscience exemption in Proposition 14 is extremely serious. If passed, it cannot be changed or replaced except by another state-wide ballot. This takes farm labor matters out of the hands of the legislature so that, if the legislature should adopt a conscience exemption for California, it would not apply to anyone working at farms, nurseries, dairies, or poultry producers.

Under present law, every employee can be required to join the union in seven days or be fired. All changes affecting the farm labor laws would have to be by a state-wide vote. Seventh-day Adventists who are farmers, farm workers, or students seeking summer employment in an agriculture-related activity would be seriously affected. Employers would suffer by being forced to negotiate and sign labor union contracts, and employees, by having to join and support labor unions. Both are unacceptable to the ideals of God's Law of Love.

Another part of the proposal would make it almost impossible for employees to vote out a union. Proponents of this proposal also point out features that would adversely affect Adventist farm employers. Perhaps the most serious is the penalty of triple damages for an employer found to have committed an unfair labor practice.

It doesn't take much imagination to see that this is a tool nearly as powerful as a strike by accusing the employer of failing to bargain in good faith or violation of some other labor law. Whenever it demands our resistance, the union can threaten serious financial penalties that would intimidate even the most fairminded and conscientious employer.

Obviously, the small farmer would suffer most. It is quite clear that no farm is too small for unions to notice. Already a number of union elections have taken place on farms with only one employee. As an increasing number of Adventists turn to country living rather than the congested city environments, the burden of increasing union control will be felt by employee and employer alike. Certainly each should cast his vote against that increased union control.

The passage of Proposition 14 would further resist religious liberty.

Clovis Gets New Pastor

Clovis Church members have welcomed their new pastor, James D. Robison.

A native of Fresno, Elder Robison was graduated from Fresno Adventist Academy in 1962. He received a Master of Divinity degree from Andrews University Theological Seminary in 1968.

Immediately following graduation from the Seminary, Elder Robison began his ministry in Pennsylvania, then returned to California as pastor of the Lemoore and Coalinga churches in 1973. Now, pastoring the Clovis Church and Pinedale Company, he begins his ninth year of ministry.

Elder Robison's wife, the former Virginia Mitts, is a native of Visalia. They have two daughters, Heather, age five, and Meredith, 16 months.

Youth Baptized One Day, Enters Prison the Next

John Charles Hyde, age 19, sought happiness and "real living" within the bars of Sacramento. After visiting several the night of June 20, he finally headed for home. Along the way he lost all sense of time and speed.

Traveling in excess of 100 miles an hour, Charles' vehicle collided with another car, killing three persons and critically injuring a fourth—all members of the same family. Charles suffered only minor injuries and was shortly back at his job as a film editor for Channel 40.

Charles' boss is the son of Adventist missionary parents, his father a physician. Although not now a practicing, active church member, this boss shared with Charles what he knew of Jesus Christ, who alone could give strength and help at this crisis in his life.

Soon Charles, his mother and his boss visited the Sacramento

MONTEREY BAY ACADEMY'S new church is designed in traditional Spanish-mission architecture, but the real "mission" of the church will be to provide a house of worship long needed on the campus of Central's large boarding academy. Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new church were held at 11 a.m. Sunday, October 17.

"We cannot afford to separate spiritual from intellectual training. We may parents dread intellectual greatness for their children, unless it is balanced by a knowledge of God and His ways. This lies at the foundation of all true knowledge. In the place of unsanctified rivalry for earthly honor, let it be the highest ambition of our students to go forth from their school life as missionaries for God, educators who will teach what they have learned. Students who leave school with this purpose will draw to Christ not only men and women, but children and youth. They will do a work in the world that not all the powers of evil can counteract." CT, 167

NORTH FORK CHURCH'S first Vacation Bible School, held in late summer, was attended by 30 children. Among several boys and girls from non-Adventist homes were eight children representing three Indian families. Many community friends came to the VBS graduation program to hear the music and inspect the crafts. A quilt made during the VBS will be given to a needy family.

Pastor Gery Friesen baptizes J. Charles Hyde.

Central Adventist church on a Sabbath morning. That day Pastor Gery Friesen spoke on "How the Guilty Get to Heaven." As the visitors met the pastor at the door after the service, Charles asked for an appointment.

In subsequent visits, victories were gained and Charles began to realize the potential of being a "son of God." After much study and prayer, he asked to be baptized. Elder Friesen baptized him after the midweek service August 25.

The following morning he went to prison. He is temporarily in the Medical Facility in Vacaville awaiting a formal sentence expected in November.

The future is not clearly apparent for this young man, but he has finally found that for which he sought—inner peace and the happiness that results when the Lord controls a life. Others are preparing for baptism because of the witness of his changed life.

"No Smoke Day" Is Proclaimed

Concern for community health practices soon led to an appointment with the mayor of Sacramento and a public proclamation recently.

Alberta Lammerding, temperance secretary for the Sacramento Central Church, was eager to strengthen the already vigorous temperance work in California's capital city.

A few weeks ago she telephoned Sacramento Mayor Philip L. Isenberg's office and was granted an appointment to talk with him. Then she contacted Conference Health Services Director Charles G. Edwards and asked him to accompany her to visit the mayor.

After Mr. Isenberg graciously received them, they discussed Mrs. Lammerding's proposal that the mayor make a public proclamation designating September 12-18 "Good Health Week" and September 13 "No Smoke Day" for the city of Sacramento. The latter would coincide with a series of Five-Day Plans to be held throughout the city.

The mayor agreed that making such a proclamation would be effective in influencing citizens to practice better health habits. He was informed of the Five-Day Plans being conducted in Sacramento. A nonsmoker himself, the mayor expressed

CABL To Host Annual "Angwin to Angwish"

Church members throughout northern California are invited to participate in the third annual "Angwin to Angwish" cross-country race sponsored by Pacific Union College's Collegiate Adventist for Better Living organization. The race is slated for October 24.

The 7.6-mile race is sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union and co-sponsored by the Napa Valley Runners Club. "We have runners from throughout the state and have had runners from Nevada and Oregon," says Ken Bullington of CABL.

Among the 300 expected entries this year will be members of the Campus Crusade for Christ Track Team. Additional information and registration materials for the event can be obtained by writing to: John George, 455 Sky Oaks Dr., Angwin, CA 94508, or by telephoning (707) 965-2459.

Church Sponsors a Fair Booth

The Woodland Church sponsored a booth at the Yolo County Fair August 19-22. Under the banner of the Seventh-day Adventist Community Services, the booth emphasized the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, Wayout Youth Ministries, Wa-Rite and vegetarian cooking classes.

The Five-Day Plan was emphasized by a "Smoking Sue" on display, and three continuously-shown temperance films. Slides on healthful living were also shown.

appreciation for the work of Adventists.

At a later date Mrs. Lammerding, Elder Gery Friesen (pastor of the Central Church), and Elder Edwards returned at the mayor's invitation and were present when he signed the health proclamations.

Gretchen Swetman and Roger Rees helped staff the "Worse Than War" display at the Cal Expo Fair.

Temperance Booth Draws Notice

At the California State Fair in Sacramento August 30-September 7 the temperance booth was a continuing witness to the concepts of better living.

The booth's theme, "Worse Than War," explained that more Americans are killed each year by intemperate living habits than were killed by all wars in the 20th century.

Six Members Join Rio Lindo Faculty

Six new staff members have joined the faculty of Rio Lindo Adventist Academy.

Carl Ashlock, Bible teacher for freshmen and juniors, has spent 11 of his 18 years of denominational service as a dean. He was assistant dean of men at Andrews University for two years and dean of boys at Adelpian Academy for nine. Concerning this experience, Ashlock says, "If I didn't have a family, that is where I would want to be."

Carl graduated from Andrews University with a BA in theology and an MA in counseling and guidance. Most recently he was guidance director and senior Bible teacher at Forest Lake Academy in Florida.

Frank Egerly, who helped in the construction of RLAA in 1960-1962, has returned to work in the maintenance department. Formerly associate publishing director of the Nebraska Conference, Egerly has been in the literature ministry for 10 years.

Returning from India for a second term at RLAA, Gerald and Evelyn Hetzer have moved into their former campus home. Gerald taught industrial arts at Rio during the first seven years of the school's operation.

In September, 1970, the Hetzers went to Spicer Memorial College in India where Gerald was chairman of the industrial education and applied arts departments.

Ronald Johnson, chemistry and mathematics teacher, is a graduate of Andrews University. He received his MA from the University of Northern Colorado. Ronald has taught at Campion Academy and at Andrews University Academy.

Richard Stephens, who teaches English and journalism, has for the past two years been involved in a pilot school program at Modesto Union Academy. This program sought to individualize course work as much as possible. He has taught at Pacific Union College and has been a reading specialist for the Sylvan School District.

A graduate of Union College, Richard received his MA from University of the Pacific.

Ronald Turner is the new vice-principal, counselor and world history teacher. He and his wife Joy, both graduates of Walla Walla College, are from Oak Park Academy in Iowa where he was counselor and Bible teacher and she taught home economics.

As a college student and during a stint in the army, Elder Turner gained a wide variety of work experience. He served as assistant boys' dean and choral director at Milo Academy for one year and later helped in several evangelistic campaigns. He has been a pharmacist's assistant, an assistant manager of Holiday Inn and ticket agent for an airline in Alaska.

Bible Story Displayed at Fair

The publishing department has again proved that the Bible Story and other similarly colorful books are attractive to persons even amid the worldly attractions and distractions of a state fair.

The department's display at Cal Expo August 20-September 6 was viewed by thousands of fairgoers and at least 640 qualified names of excellent interests were received. Sales have already been made in some of these homes.

While looking at the Bible Story display, many persons took time to sign up for the daily drawing when a free volume was given away. Some visitors were former customers who told how their Bible Story books were being used by more than one generation.

Many signed requests for personal Bible studies or Bible correspondence courses. Some of these were actively searching for a church home. Some were former Adventists wanting to find a way back.

Workers in the publishing department firmly believe many persons will be in God's kingdom who will "trace their first convictions to the reading of our publications." (Colporteur Ministry, 151)

Garden Helps Needy Families

Stockton's Market and E Church members cooperated in a productive Community Service garden this summer. The site was donated by Mrs. Jessie Simmons, a non-Adventist, who wanted it used by a Christian group.

Community Service Director Chaney Watts appointed Eula McLen to lead out in the garden project. Community Service members worked faithfully, and three men gave outstanding help — Albert Whitaker, Matthew Reshard and Raymond Hightower.

Produce harvested has already helped many needy families with tomatoes, squash, black-eyed peas, corn, mustard, cantaloupe and okra. Some produce has been frozen and will be used in providing Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets.

"God has richly blessed our efforts this summer," Mrs. McLen said, "and we plan to continue planting, reaping and helping more people through this garden project."

musical program, a service honoring sustentees, a message by Elder J. J. Aitken of the General Conference, and the final service by Elder H. M. S. Richards, Jr. and the King's Heralds.

There will be something good for every age group, so bring your family and your lunch and enjoy a spiritual feast.

Parking at the convention center this year is $1.50 a day.

Brochures should reach each church at least two weeks before the Convocation.

Special Day Emphasizes Health

Students of the Oasis Palms Elementary School saw firsthand the duties of school medical teams as Health Education Day was observed, Tuesday, September 28.

Principal Raul Hayasaka ordered the school event as a health screening service for students. Children were so fascinated, however, that the medical team began answering the many job-related questions and the routine check became more of a career day event.

Participating in the Health Education Day were Madge

Schlotthauer, MD, of La Quinta; Jack W. Bobst, DDS, of Indio; Ruth Berglund, RN, of Riverside and Ruth Bradbury, RN, from Hemet Lake.

The children, students enrolled in kindergarten to grade eight, were willing patients. Many made offers to assist the team.

The physical examinations and health care screening were a free service to the school children. Who knows, perhaps a career advancement class was provided as well!

Retreat Is Filled to Capacity

With 130 persons in attendance, this year's Sustentees' Retreat was held again at Pine Springs Ranch September 21-23.

A count taken of those attending revealed over 4,100 years of service given to the Church by that group of workers. Oldest person in attendance was Anna Nickel, age 92. John Harris was short of being 92 by four months.

Sustentees spent their days attending meetings, hearing nature talks, hiking, playing games, pitching horseshoes, eating good food and enjoying pure air.

Speakers included Elder D. W. Hunter, Elder Melvin Jacobsen, Elder Warren Heintz, Elder Hugo Palm, Dr. C. S.

Teachers Meet at "The Ranch"

Teachers from Southeastern's smaller schools attended a three-day convention at Pine Springs Ranch August 24-26, to study and to acquire new skills for teaching in and managing small schools.

Topics presented were "Christian Discipline," "The Teacher as a Guidance Counselor," and "Cross-age Teaching in Small Schools." Elder J. W. Lehman from the Loma Linda Campus Hill Church set the pace for each day by presenting devotional topics on "Winning Ways for School Days."

Mrs. Alva McGarah, art consultant from Binney and Smith, Inc., conducted an art workshop every afternoon. The theme was "Learn by Doing." Mrs. McGarah is a graduate of the Universities of Washington and Iowa. She presented a number of techniques and materials helpful in teaching art to children.

We know God loves the beautiful and children's lives can be greatly enriched by appreciating and acquiring skills in these areas.

Each teacher participating in this convention earned one-quarter hour credit for certification renewal plus a lovely art certificate from Binney and Smith, Inc.

Church Holds Stress Workshop

The San Marcos Church is conducting a Stress Control Workshop that started October 13 and will end November 10.

Presented by a minister-physician team, these meetings are designed to help people understand causes of their stress and what it does to the body.

Stress has been called the number one cause of illness. More than 50 per cent of all medical problems are emotionally induced.

The workshop aims to educate and assist people in stress so as to produce a happier, healthier and more relaxed person. The sessions include printed material, multi-media presentations, a question-answer period, plus relaxing exercises at the conclusion of each meeting.

Fee is $10. Anyone wishing further information may contact the church at 341 Autumn Drive in San Marcos. Meetings are being held at the Hidden Valley School at 2700 Reed Road in Escondido.

The church also conducts other community services: a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking and a cooking school. Plans are now being made to conclude these services with Bible study classes.

This is the fifth Stress Workshop for the community, enrolling up to 60 people, with 95 per cent of them not Adventists.

Northridge Comes to Milestone

Northridge, the church that officially began with 89 members December 6, 1958, and was then called Granada Hills, is approaching another milestone in its history.

On the remaining portion of their three and a half acres at Plummer and White Oak streets, which cost $53,000 back in 1962, they will begin to build their 400-seat sanctuary soon.

Since December 7, 1968, they've worshiped in the youth chapel and a large section of the classroom area as membership has grown to 190. Three years ago they had met all financial obligations which totaled at that time $275,000.

Groundbreaking will be announced officially when the plans are approved and legal technicalities are solved. Elder Tom Nickum, their pastor since 1970, and four former pastors have carried the burden of raising the money. Plans completed by Architect Bob Burman have been let for bids. Total cost of the plant when completed will be $560,000.

Northridge's membership recently presented Conference Treasurer R. L. Walden (left) a fictitious $260,000 check which represented pledges by the members and support of the Conference. Pastor Nickum (center) and Russell Sellers, first elder, present the check to Walden.

Industries Request Five-Day Plans for Employees

More and more industries are asking for Five-Day Plans to be conducted for their employees.

During the past nine months these industries have opened their doors to us for the first time: Rockwell International, Space Division (Los Angeles); Northrop Corporation, Aircraft Division; Lockheed (Lancaster); Pacific Telephone Company (Glendale), and Caltrans (State of California Department of Transportation in Los Angeles).

Five-Day Plans held in the Southern California Conference during 1975 totaled 154. By the end of 1976 Southern will have surpassed this number. We are already 12 ahead of 1975.

An outstanding plan was conducted by Bob Wong of San Gabriel Academy. The academy played host to two Five-Day Plans. Bob, who coordinates student religious activities, launched an advertising campaign by having a large banner across one of the busiest streets in Temple City. The 3x34-foot banner could be seen six blocks away.

Bob and his staff were flooded with calls. The first evening 60 people registered. Attendance grew to 80 the second night and continued to grow until it reached 100. To accommodate latecomers, Bob held a double session. One started at 7:30 p.m. followed by a second at 9.

People didn't stop calling, however, so another Plan was scheduled for the following week.

Over 104 Baptized in Crusade

More than 104 new Spanish believers have been baptized in a recent crusade headed by Evangelist Isaac Lara and his team—Joe Sepulveda and Daniel Chavez.

Gene Prado, who has won 25 professional fights and lost only one, climbed into the ring with world's lightweight champion, Richard Arredondo, in Mexico City in 1974. The week before he was baptized as a Seventh-day Adventist, he turned down his manager's offer of $1,000 to keep on fighting. Genaro (his real name) plans now to fight only one individual—the Devil.

Some four converts struggled to get Sabbaths off and Rafael Orduna prepared the candidates for baptism.

Meetings started at Highland

TUTORED AT TAMARIND—A special graduation for 54 children, tutored by 16 student teachers from La Sierra, took place on Sabbath, August 28. The 10-week instruction, which helped each student reach his proper grade level for his age, was headed by Mrs. Iris Johnson and included mathematics, reading and English. The city of Compton and the Inner City department shared in the venture. Church Pastor Oswald Gordon makes a presentation to one of the younger students above.

C. D. Brooks To Hold Series

Host for the television series Breath of Life currently seen on KCOP-13, Charles D. Brooks, will hold a three-week, Conference-wide series of public meetings in Lynwood starting October 23.

Brooks' nightly appearance at 7:30 October 23-November 13 will be in the campground auditorium at 4200 Imperial Highway.

His opening topic, "When Will Earth's Sickness Be Cured?" is expected to pack the house.

Other subjects planned for the first week include: "The Handwriting on the Wall," "Happiness for Husbands and Wives," "Can the Bible Be Trusted?" and "The Gospel of the Colors."

Elder Brooks, who pastored for 12 years, is a 1951 graduate of Oakwood College. At present he is a general field secretary in the General Conference and travels extensively for the denomination.

Featured with Elder Brooks during the series will be Walter Arties and the Breath of Life quartet.

In a Nutshell

SUMMER DAY CAMP EVANGELISM—Approximately 70 non-Adventist children (30 per cent of the total) were daily attenders of Vallejo Drive's Summer Day Camp during its sixth consecutive year of operation. A staff of 17 young people, who acted as counselors and directors, cared for some 230 different campers, or a daily average of 60 campers, as total attendance for the three-month venture reached the 3,444 mark. Plans next summer call for a one-week Vacation Bible School and a return to the campers' favorite campsite—Indian teepees at Paradise Springs.

MINISTERING TO THE ALCOHOLIC—An Interdenominational Clergy Seminar will be held at the Glendale Adventist Medical Center 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m., November 4. Thomas J. Shipp, pastor of Lovers Lane Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas and author of the book, Helping the Alcoholic and His Family, will be the principal speaker. To pay the $10 fee, which includes the luncheon, contact Michael Parrino at (213) 240-8000, ext. 159.

FIVE ASSOCIATES CONTINUE INTERNSHIP—Five associate pastors who did not return to school this fall are Terry Campbell (Oxnard), David Glass (Baldwin Park), Charles Brangman (Maranatha), Dean Horinouchi (Gardena), and Douglas Ota (Japanese Central). Each has his BA degree from either Loma Linda University, Pacific Union College, or Oakwood and will go to Andrews University for advanced studies when his term of intermediate service is concluded.

Adventists Should Stress Temperance

Today drugs are being used by Adventist young people as well as by non-Adventists. Too long we have held a "ho-hum" attitude regarding total abstinence. We have not been preaching it vigorously to young people. We assume they have the information at hand and don't need to talk about it. Already we have lost too many youth because of such an attitude.

Adventist pulpits should ring out with the fervor of evangelistic preaching when it comes to telling how things really are. We need more teams telling young people in public schools of the danger of drugs. Teams in Hawaii have entered public schools and were received with enthusiasm by both faculty and students.

All this activity takes money for films, appropriate literature, and visual aids to do the proper job. Will you and I calmly sit on our wallets or complacently fold our hands over the opening of our purses when the appeal for funds is made on October 23? I don't see how we can, when the need is so great and the openings are so plentiful these days.

Think it through, dear friend. Do the young people of the nation mean anything to you? Our future depends on them. Be generous with your offering this year.

Please keep in mind that 45 per cent of the offering will remain in the Mission for use by local churches or Mission projects. Ten per cent will be used by Pacific Union in their projects. Thirty-five per cent will be used by the General Conference in making new films and national exhibits, and 10 per cent will be used by the International Temperance Association.

Roy Pastors Wickenburg

With the sale of Cottonwood Lane, Elder R. J. Roy, who divided his time between caring for the youth camp in the Southern California Conference and pastoring the Parker Church, has now transferred to different responsibilities.

Elder and Mrs. Roy have moved to Wickenburg where Elder Roy will pastor the Wickenburg Church. He replaces Pastor Hubert Cisneros who is temporarily assisting the Phoenix Camelback Church in their fall evangelism.

Elder Roy will continue to serve the Parker Church as well as help to establish a group at Bonse and work with a number of interests at Quartzsite.

Pathfinders Witness through Fair Booth

More people in Cochise County are aware of who Pathfinders are, as a result of a fair booth sponsored by the Sierra Vista and Bisbee Pathfinder clubs.

Thousands of pieces of literature were distributed and 21 persons signed up for The Voice of Prophecy Bible course.

"A number of people from the Douglas area asked what they could do to start a club in their area," said Bisbee Pathfinder Director David Preston.

Pathfinders were interviewed on radio, displayed their club activities and gave away a number of message books.

Construction Continues

Honolulu Central Church's building project is developing according to plan. The parking lot is nearly complete with 200 parking stalls. The mall has been erected, connecting the three buildings—sanctuary, administrative offices, and Sabbath school complex.

Carpenters are in the process of installing the sanctuary doors and windows. Light fixtures are also being installed.

Latest projection is that the congregation will worship in the sanctuary on Christmas day. They are presently worshipping in double services in the Sabbath school complex.

We solicit your prayers in behalf of this project.

Health Services Tests College

The health services director of Pima College in Tucson contacted the temperance department early in September requesting a visit to discuss the possibility of conducting a Five-Day Plan for the College.

About 11,000 students are enrolled in Pima College. Presently the health services department is doing physical fitness testing on the College's staff and faculty.

Information obtained from this test is computerized and returned to the individual, with a prognosis of possible lifespan if he made certain changes in his lifestyle, based on the current personal habits of each person.

For instance, if a man is overweight and smokes and drinks, the computer will give him an estimate of the additional years he may add to his life through temperance and losing weight.

The greatest single factor in shortening the lives of the faculty and staff, according to their computer service, is smoking cigarettes.

Pima College's health services department has requested a Five-Day Plan to help prolong the lives of faculty and staff members. The college will take care of the full expenses of this program, but as a motivation, plans to charge a fee to all participants. If they are still not smoking after one month, the fee will be returned as a reward for not smoking.

Pastor Melvin Lukens and Dr. C. J. Hindman of Tucson will be co-directors of the Five-Day Plan, October 18-22.

Are You Receiving the 'Review'?

As Seventh-day Adventists, we are very fortunate to have a church paper known as The Review and Herald. This weekly visitor has served the Church for many years. It has the unique ability to keep the Adventist family informed and unified.

I am very grateful that many homes in our Conference are on the perpetual plan of receiving the Review year after year. However, I would strongly encourage those who are not on the perpetual plan to definitely subscribe to it at this time.

October is Review and Herald month. The perpetual price is $13.95, which compared to other publications, is very reasonable.

The Review has something

Youth Get Christian Education through Sacrifice of Parents

When school opened in the Nevada-Utah Conference this fall, 401 Adventist students and 29 teachers responded. Schools ranged from the one-teacher home school with three students at Lone Pine to our largest school in Las Vegas, with six teachers and 112 students.

The Nevada-Utah Adventist school district reaches from Susanville in the Sierra across the desert 1,100 miles to scenic Monument Valley. In this district are found teachers with a missionary spirit dedicated to teaching young people in some remote but necessary areas.

NEVADA-UTAH

Reno Church Involved in Beautification Program

In harmony with the year's Bicentennial Church Beautification emphasis, the Reno Seventh-day Adventist Church has voted to proceed with a complete church interior renovation program. This includes lowering the rostrum, new carpeting, pews, pulpit furniture, windows, ceilings, and general painting.

Three things have prompted the church to move in the direction, according to Reno Pastor Gerald Schulze. "First, the need existed. We have holes in the floor, cracked windows, broken tile, stained and loose ceiling blocks, as well as a real need to modernize and get our church into a representative condition.

"Second, having a representative, beautiful place to worship is in harmony with our overall emphasis on evangelism. We will have pride in our house of worship and we will unhesitatingly bring our friends because we will have a warm, worshipful, reverent atmosphere.

"Finally, the Bible tells us a revival was brought about by just such a project in the temple during the days of Josiah. We are praying that we will not only have a renovated building, but also a renovated membership when we are finished."

Religious Liberty Rally Is Slated

Elder John Stevens, religious liberty director of the Pacific Union Conference, will be in the Salt Lake City, Ogden and Provo areas November 19-21.

He will speak in the Ogden church Friday night, November 19; in the Salt Lake City Central church Sabbath morning; and in the Wasatch Hills sanctuary Sabbath afternoon. Sunday night he will speak in the Provo church.

Elder A. G. Streiffing, religious liberty director of the Nevada-Utah Conference, will join Elder Stevens, speaking in the Wasatch Hills church at 11 Sabbath morning.

Sabbath afternoon has been set aside for a Religious Liberty Rally at the Wasatch Hills church. All church members and friends from the Salt Lake area are invited to attend and learn the developments on the religious liberty scene in America today.

Temperance Offering To Be Taken October 23

On October 23, World Temperance Sabbath, the annual temperance offering will be taken.

Many years ago Ellen White wrote, "When temperance is presented as a part of the gospel, many will see their need of reform." Temperance, 238.

"We want our workers to interest themselves in it and to know that it is just as much connected with the third angel's message as the right arm is with the body. We ought to make advancement in this work." Ibid.

For sale, rent or lease—1-yr.-old home, 3 bdrms., 2 baths, kitchen/family room, attached dbl. garage, carpeted floors, central air/heat, aluminum siding, brick front, on dbl. lot on County Road 20, Gentry, Ark. Write Larry Clifford, 275 Tobin, Angwin, CA 94508, or call (707) 965-2732. $200/mo.

Four-bdrm. house, 2 baths, w/w carpets, 2-car garage, across street from San Diego Academy and Paradise Valley Hospital. Will sell at FHA appraisal. Owner leaving area. Call (714) 477-2617 or write 2511 East 4th St., National City, CA 92050.

Elder Gerald Schulze and Dr. Harvey Lashier of Reno, Nevada, held two Five-Day Plans last spring with a total of 75 people attending, with a high degree of success. They will be holding another in November.

Elders William Haynes of Quincy and Lester Storz of Susanville will both be holding Five-Day Plans in their California towns this fall.

Elder R. L. Watts of Moab, Utah plans to visit area schools with Smoking Sam and films.

Certainly all of us are more than grateful for the Five-Day

Plan which has brought countless thousands of people in touch with the Church and has afforded a new outreach. But there are other temperance avenues we can use to reach people.

It is to this end that the offering will be dedicated. We strongly urge a liberal offering.

R. Christensen, Director
Temperance Dept.

Union Temperance Work

All have been well attended. Under the direction of Irma Vyhmeister, three Spanish Home Nutrition Instructor's Courses were held this summer. Many graduates are now holding schools of their own.

Multimedia programs using seven projectors are continually provided to high schools and service clubs. Programs in the area of drug abuse and alcohol are professionally produced. These leave the big decision, "Should I or shouldn't I?" up to each individual. The programs have been very well received and requests have been made for repeat performances.

Just once a year Pacific Union members are called upon to help finance these activities. Sabbath, October 23, is the day set aside this year for the annual temperance offering. What members give then will determine the effectiveness of Health programs in 1977.

LLU/LA SIERRA

Child Study Center Will Help Children Learn

Loma Linda University's School of Education is creating a new Child Study Center in Hole Memorial Auditorium this year to provide analysis and help for children with special learning difficulties.

Four individual counseling rooms, a master control room, a demonstration room for group process, a math retraining center, a reading retraining center and a classroom are being formed on the first floor of HMA.

"In accordance with the University motto, 'To Make Man Whole,' we will deal with the whole child," says Willard Meier, dean of the School of Education.

Elementary through high school students referred to the center from local schools will first be tested to determine what is blocking their learning processes. Once the problem has been analyzed, specialists will be available to help the child overcome the difficulty.

If the student has trouble with math, graduate education students working under the direction of Agnes Eroh, PhD, will tutor him. Prof. Wilma Phillips will direct the special reading retraining area.

Referrals to other departments and schools in the University may be necessary. Students with physical disabilities will be sent to the department of physical education where Anita Hayes will help them with motor skills. The La Sierra Hearing, Language and Speech Center operated by the department of communication will be able to treat children with communication disorders.

In the School of Medicine, the departments of psychiatry, neurology, and pediatrics will be available for referrals. Problems of children, be they physical, emotional, or mental, will be treated.

Graduate students in counselor education, curriculum and instruction, and psychological foundations will use the Child Study Center as a laboratory, but all of the graduate students will benefit from the Center, Meier says. For instance, students studying administration will learn how to utilize testing and counseling in their school programs.

Meier estimates the Center will handle approximately 30 cases a month. Most of the children will be of elementary school age, he says, but adds that even college students can be helped by the testing, referral and treatment services.

Fritz Guy Speaks

Caring Is Key to LLU's Success

People at Loma Linda University care about students and each other. That is why LLU can succeed as both an institution and a community. That is what Fritz Guy, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, told La Sierra campus students and faculty at the first chapel service October 5.

"It's not easy to be both an institution and a community," he said. "Communities are composed of real people who relate to each other as humans. Institutions seem to survive by gobbling up people all the time. Efficiency is their overriding concern, the organizational chart reigns supreme. But we are called to be both."

Guy's address opened the quarter's series of chapel services on "Overcoming Spiritual Depression." Future speakers will isolate and study a number of pressures everyone faces.

Guy suggested four things students should do to handle inevitable problems of an institution where decisions made do not meet everyone's approval. "First, recognize you might be wrong. Recognizing your own limitations helps you to deal with people involved.

"Maintain a sense of proportion. No problem is a disaster unless we let it be a disaster.

"Determine the most constructive form of action, whether it be change or living with the situation.

"Figure out who can help, and then go after the help." The function of administration is to make the machinery of an institution run better, he pointed out. "You may be surprised how ready people are to listen to your suggestions. There is always a need for people who care enough to point out problems."

CORRECTION

These names were misspelled in the September 20 Recorder on LLU/La Sierra's page: Norman Maberly, EdD; Robert Seyle, MFA; William Key, MBA; Robert Streeter, MA; Marlys Owens, MA; Nancy Lecourt, MA; Ernestine Garbutt-Parralles, MA.

The October 23 Los Angeles Area Alumni dinner/concert will be held at the Hyatt House, 6300 Telegraph Road, city of Commerce, instead of at the Sadideback Inn. To reach the Hyatt House, take the Washington Boulevard exit off the Santa Ana Freeway.

LA SIERRA'S NEW FRESHMEN MEN may not realize it, but the lobby of their dorm, Calkins Hall, has been remodeled over the summer. Last year's students raised the money for the new furniture and paneling. The women returning to campus found the Sierra Vista Apartments roomier. Two faculty couples have moved out, making space for more students.
