Elder J. L. Pettis to Leave Union

Elder Jerry L. Pettis, who for the past two years has been instructor in speech and Bible has resigned from the faculty of Union College and applied for a commission as a U. S. Army chaplain.

In extra-curricular activities Elder Pettis has been during the 1942-43 school year, literary advisor of the Clock Tower, sponsor of the Knights of 72 and organizer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce club.

Before coming to Union Elder Pettis, had been an evangelist and pastor of the Kansas City, Mo. church and for some time was connected with the Voice of Prophecy radio group.

Leave your address for the summer in the registrar's office so that the summer issues of the Clock Tower can be mailed to you.

Don't forget to write to the Clock Tower this summer and let us know what you are doing.

College Plants Large Gardens

"This year's garden is the largest that has been planted since I came here eight years ago," Mr. H. C. Hartman, business manager, announced May 6. Approximately five and one-half acres of foodstuff are being planted here and elsewhere to help supply the coming year's food needs for the cafeteria.

Because of irrigation equipment, Shelton Academy, Shelton, Nebraska, is planting one acre of sweet corn, and Oak Park Academy, Nevada, Iowa, is putting in two acres of soy beans for Union College.

President and Wife Entertain Seniors

President and Mrs. E. E. Cosentine entertained the seniors at their home Tuesday evening, May 11. In the informal handshake that followed, those who were the tenth person to shake hands with certain individuals collected a coin from them afterwards.

Violet Hanson sang "The Lilac Tree" accompanied by Helen Johnson on her violin and Paul Kemper on his clarinet.

Mr. Ashlock and Violet Hanson came out first in the balloon puncturing contest that came next. A game to tax the vocabulary showed Beginning Friday, May 21, at 8:30 p.m., Union's fifty-second annual commencement week-end will close the year's activities. Preceding consecration services the faculty-senior devotional will be held in room 301 of the administration building at 7:30 p.m. The seniors will then march to the church and will be seated in the center front. Juniors will be seated behind the seniors. At all three services there will be reserved sections for the staff and board members and their families and also for the friends and relatives of the seniors. All services will be held in the church.

The programs will be as follows:

Commencement....

Youth is always a time of idealism, a time when great hopes and great plans are being made. Union is graduating another class, a class who, like many of their predecessors, no doubt, is intent on going out, and conquering the world with its zeal and setting it afire with its message. It would be too bad if they did not have high hopes and aspirations.

Commencement! Through countless years classes have received diplomas and school years have broken up. Friends are scattered to the ends of the earth. This year's class has meant much to this school, and their departure will be a loss to the student body, but they must go on to larger fields and others must take their place of responsibility.

To the seniors we bid adieu and wish them the best of success in their new spheres. To the rest of the students, good-bye, and we'll see you all next fall.

Return to Religion....

"The greatest and most authentic textbook on personality is still the Bible, and the discoveries which psychologists have made tend to confirm rather than contradict the codification of personality found there."

The noted psychologist, Dr. Henry C. Link, makes this statement in his book, The Return to Religion. He also reports that one of the findings of a project in which ten thousand people were given psychological tests was that, "...the individuals who believed in religion or attended a church had significantly better personalities than those who did not."

Jesus Christ, our example, is the perfect example of a well-developed personality. He was a successful personality because He lived the principles of the Bible, the principles He taught, in His own life.

Are you, my friend, taking advantage of this "textbook" to develop your personality? It is written by One who understands man's nature far better than man has been able to discover it for himself. Go to the "original" if you would live fully. Read and ponder.

Elder Copeland Holds Investiture Program

Seventeen persons were invested Sabbath afternoon, May 15, as Master Comrades, Companions, and Friends.

Elder T. S. Copeland, educational and Missionary Volunteer secretary of the Nebraska Conference, gave the principal talk emphasizing the need for leadership of youth today. Three Master Comrades illustrated phases of progressive class work, tying knots by Jerry Lien, wild animal study by Eugene Sample and story telling by Mrs. Jerry Lien.

Paul Kemper tied neckerchiefs and Elder Copeland presented insignia and pins to the following:

Master Comrades: Wilma Barr, Cathleen Chilson, Mrs. Jerry Lien, Jerry Lien, George MacLean, Eugene Sample, Ruth Mitchell, Susan Lehmann, Ruth Wiltse.

Companions: Frances Nakamura, Alta Davis.

Friends: Edythe Mae Alexander, Joyce Lyon, Edna Kellogg, Ann Shaner.

Group from Press Enjoys Picnic

Although printers like to work they also like to eat. On Thursday afternoon, May 13, the workers of the Union College press gathered at Antelope Park with a picnic lunch which included potato salad, sandwiches, ice cream and all the trimmings.

Those present were Bob Conger, Paul Kravig, Kathleen Myres, Bob Edwards, Carol Magnuson, Betty Imamoto, Mary Komine, Rocelia Kegley, Paul Kemper, Mr. J. B. Krauss and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson.

MAKERS OF HISTORY

By John Boyd

Nine months from us have slipped away; for some

They flew as eagles coursing down the sky,

Or slowly passed as valiant hopes may die,

But never more to us these months will come.

These months are history now that stands an age,

Whose pages some may read with pride and joy

While some the lasting record may annoy;

But not one deed will fade from any page.

The opportunity of future lies Before us,—yes, in days, in weeks and years

That everyone may fill with joys or tears

Our lives will be revealed without disguise.

Though pages of the past may cause regret,

The future gives a chance to triumph yet.

SENIOR SHORTS

Robert Nomi

It isn't queer American customs, or the attitude of Americans toward those not born in the United States, or the fact that he's had to move around from pillar to post since he came to this country that has impressed Robert Nomi most. He is very deeply moved by the erratic climate, and he isn't moved with joy. Robert lived for sixteen years in a suburb of Honolulu which was situated between a high cliff and the beautiful ocean.

Robert has been at Union only one winter—just long enough to complete his work for a major in religion and a minor in history. This summer he is going to the Rivers Relocation Center in Arizona as a ministerial intern.

Robert likes to go swimming and to read good books. He especially likes books which deal with the conformity between Biblical and secular history. Before long he hopes to add at least two dozen volumes to his present library.

Ernest Rogers

Union College, "Peanut Hill", is the best place in the world for Ernest Rogers. He is so fond of peanut butter that he says he spends almost all of his change for it. Then if he can find some graham crackers to spread it on he is happy.

Before coming to Union two years ago Ernest attended Oakwood Junior College, Huntsville, Alabama. While in attendance at Union he has taken a major in religion and a minor in the usual thing. He is one of the three in the senior class who are graduating with honors.

Ernest is one of the power house crew who are responsible for keeping us warm or cold. His one unfulfilled ambition is to give Miss Lea and the girls in the registrar's office enough heat in the winter.

Harold Roll

One of the most regular visitors at the personnel office is Harold Roll, tall, dark-complexioned, and a resident of St. Louis. No, he doesn't have to go there, it's just his hobby to drop around and chat with the secretary and the innumerable other seniors who are always there.

Harold, as physics lab assistant, is largely responsible for the erie noises and vibration which gives the office workers the creeps on Sunday mornings. As a hobby he likes to study out the correlation between properties in the physics world and the attributes of a spiritual life, and make illustrations of these to us in sermons.

There is one thing which irks Harold—people with arrogant attitudes.

For two summers Harold canvassed in Wyoming. He rode horse back part of the time and enjoyed it a lot. While he doesn't prefer to make canvassing his profession, he does like to deal with books; he is taking a position with the Omaha branch of the Pacific Press Publishing Association.

Charles Yamashiro

There's at least one person in the senior class who can almost do two things at once. Charles Yamashiro is taking class work at the University of Nebraska besides attending Union. He is majoring in biology and minoring in chemistry. Next winter, if he does not go to Chicago to study medicine, he is going to continue his p.g. work at the University of Nebraska.

When Charles came to the states four years ago, he was impressed by the seemingly extreme distances. His home is in Kaneohe, Hawaii, on an island only 129 miles in circumference. Five miles had always seemed a long way to him, and when he heard classmates at Pacific Union College say they lived several hundred miles away he could scarcely comprehend it.

Now that he has become adjusted to travelling, Charles is amazed at the climate. At his home the mean temperature is 75°; he is not in love with the shifting, cold, dusty Nebraska winds.

Academy News

Last week was a memorable one for the seniors. They were guests at three special occasions in their honor. Monday night the juniors gave their annual banquet to the seniors in the alcove of the South Hall cafeteria. Thursday evening Mrs. Winter, mother of Roberta and Marilyn, two seniors, entertained the class at a buffet supper. After supper the young people enjoyed a scavenger hunt and then games on the lawn. Wednesday the class sponsor, Mr. John Christensen, entertained them at his home. A picnic supper had been planned, but on account of the weather, the evening was spent inside.

Academy commencement week began last Sabbath with the Baccalaureate service at two o'clock in the College View church. Dr. G. D. Hagstotz gave the address. The commencement exercises will be held in the church at 8:30 Thursday night. Elder R. L. Benton will deliver the commencement address. Diplomas will be presented to 11 seniors.

The academy picnic, held Thursday afternoon, May 13, was a great success, due largely to the ideal weather of that day. The group went to Pioneer Park about two o'clock and spent the afternoon playing ball, exploring the grounds, riding horseback, playing volleyball and finally eating a bountiful picnic supper.

Special Speakers for Graduation

Under appointment to give commencement addresses for the graduating class at Union College are Elder W. B. Ochs, of Oshawa, Ontario, president of the Canadian Union, and Elder F. A. Mote of Kansas City, Missouri, president of the Missouri Conference.

Elder Ochs will give the commencement address on Sunday morning, May 23, and Elder Mote will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath morning, May 22.

The members of the Senior class are to be in charge of the consecration service on Friday evening, May 21.

Grants-in-Aids Given To College Students

Ten students have received $250 in grants-in-aid from the college to go toward their second semester tuition fees. Grants are given to students who rank in the upper ten per cent of their classes, who have maintained at least a B average, a good citizenship record, are enrolled in the liberal arts course and are in financial need.

Applications for grants must be handed in at the office of the dean and may now be handed in for next year.

To bid farewell to the six members of the faculty and staff who are leaving, a faculty party was held in room 301 of the administration building the evening of May 10. Those honored were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon S. Dunn, Elder Jerry L. Pettis, Dorothy Sampson, E. E. Hagen and Dr. D. S. Rausten.

Mr. H. A. Miller sang two songs accompanied by Mrs. H. C. Hartman, and Dr. E. N. Dick gave a short talk summarizing the professional activities of the departing teachers and expressing thanks for their work and cooperation. Mrs. J. B. Krauss read "Wheels of Life."

Refreshments, which were under the direction of Miss May Stanley and served by the Misses Peterson and Smith, consisted of punch and wafers. The receiving committee included Mrs. E. E. Cossentine, Mrs. J. W. Rowland and Miss Buby E. Lea. Miss Pearl Hall was chairman of the program committee.

News Notes

Dean Everett Dick spoke at the commencement exercises at Enterprise Academy, Enterprise, Kansas, May 15.

Irwin Anunsen, '33, who has been accountant at Oak Park Academy, visited the college May 14 on his way to take up his responsibility as the new principal of Sheyenne River Academy.

Edward Norstrom visited friends in Iowa last week-end.

Pvt. Stanley Jensen, a former student of Union, now stationed at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Colorado, visited friends on the campus last week.

Seniors . . .

Sides were chosen for a game of balloon volley. After Sen-Sen was passed the game of "Wind" started. To the wonderment of everyone LeRoy Leiske's side lost. Loser Leiske had to blow a balloon up until it burst. Several more contests followed.

The correct results of an intelligence test read "Refreshments are Ready." The refreshments consisted of pineapple punch, white frosted cup-cakes, nuts and candies, and ice-cream hidden under fresh strawberries. Class President James Chase expressed the appreciation of the class for the entertainment given the seniors by the Cossentines.

Dr. I. F. Blue Speaks At Last Vespers

At the last vesper hour of the year the faculty and students appropriately participated in a praise service for the blessings, opportunities and privileges this past school year has brought.

Dr. I. F. Blue, as a prelude to the testimonies, read I Peter 2:9, "But ye are a chosen generation . . . that ye should show forth the praises of Him who hath called you . . ."

Continuing his remarks, he stated that the reason God has chosen us is that we might bring praise to Him; and by accepting His leading and coming to Union we have followed a purpose which He, in infinite wisdom, has planned.

G. H. Straight Is New Bookbinder

E. E. Hagen, manager of the Capital City Bookbindery has accepted the position of home missionary and Sabbath School secretary for the Nebraska Conference. He came to the bindery as a student foreman and manager in 1935 when the bindery was started.

In 1935 he was graduated from the college and was placed on the staff as the official manager. At present Mr. Hagen is working on his thesis to complete his master's degree in history at the University of Nebraska.

G. H. Straight, principal of Bethel Academy in Wisconsin, will take Mr. Hagen's place in the bookbindery. Mr. Straight, besides being a principal for 13 years, taught mathematics and music in Bethel Academy. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs Michigan, where he was graduated in 1913.

From the File

Beginning this summer Washington Missionary College will operate on the quarter system. The new system will work in better with their accelerated program and will enable students to finish in three and a quarter years.

A farewell program was given in chapel for those teachers leaving Pacific Union College this year. The five all received gifts from the students and faculty members.

Juniors And Seniors Enjoy Early Breakfast

"No it can't be the juniors and seniors; look at the way they're acting."

But it was, for the seniors were hosts to the juniors at an early morning breakfast on Sunday morning. Originally the plans had called for a hike to Antelope Park, but these were called off; the classes instead went to the outdoor stove behind North Hall. Sleepy-eyed students began to gather around the smoking stove about 6:30 a.m. Each one seemed to have some suggestion to make to the cooks clustered around the stove.

After an accident when a pan full of eggs was upset, breakfast got underway with heaping dishfuls of scrambled eggs, and great piles of pancakes disappearing in pace with the cocoa. No account was kept as to the number of helpings taken by each one, but it was noted that the group was very quiet for some time, an unusual happening when the garrulous group gets together. Before the group broke up a vote of thanks was given to the seniors in general and the cooks in particular.

Seniors Talk in Booster Chapel

In spite of the war, the students feel that Union College will have more students enrolled next fall than ever before. They showed that they believed it was possible in chapel, May 12 when they voted for an enrollment goal of 500 instead of 450, which was considered.

The students assembled under the various state standards placed in the chapel before the booster program began. Delmer Holbrook's pep band started it off by playing a few spirited numbers, and everyone joined in singing the college song.

Dr. G. D. Hagstotz, who led out in the program, gave the speakers definite time limit of two minutes in which they could speak. Elder C. L. Smith, M. V. and educational secretary of the Iowa Conference, spoke briefly of his appreciation of Union College; Paul Kemper of the Northern Union, Edward Wines from the Southwestern Union, Charles Lickey of the Cosmopolitan group and Arlene Church from the Central Union expressed the enthusiasm and spirit of these varied groups.

In a contest to see which group can increase its enrollment percentage the most, the Northern Union was pitted against the Central Union and the Southwestern Union against the Cosmopolitan group. This fall the losing groups will entertain the winners.

Absence of occupation is not rest

Faculty Members See Themselves

"Best program of the year!" "Why not have more like it!" were remarks heard following the Speech Department program in chapel, May 14.

"The Faculty Pass in Review," announced James Stevens at the opening of the eventful program. Immediately the platform became filled with students, each replacing some faculty member position, and the meeting proceeded with due regularity.

Mr. Miller (Bob Edwards) enunciated a few rules concerning care of the grand piano and then played a number of his own composition. President Cossentine (Harold Roll), seeing Elder N. C. Wilson (George Falbisaner) in the audience, invited him to be seated on the platform.

Several announcements were next in order. Miss Rees (A. Mildred Thompson) made it known that Saturday night would be an open night and warned against "strolling." Mr. Pettis (Charles Lickey) reminded everyone that there were only 225 days until Christmas, and that any speech recordings for the occasion should be made soon. Dr. Ogden (James Pogue) announced that "Ichabod Snort," champion jew's harpist, would furnish the outstanding lyceum number next year. Mr. A. D. Holmes (Roy Henneberg) emphasized and re-emphasized with appropriate gestures the importance of the low subscription rate of the Readers' Digest.

At this juncture there was a pause for the audience to regain its composure and catch its breath after having laughed itself into hysteria.

Dr. H. G. Reinmuth (Russel Hagen) reiterated, with slight alterations, his recent chapel talk, "What's in a Name?" Dean E. N. Dick (Eldon Dick) read a section of his paper on historical research and favored the audience by singing "Pass the Biscuits, Mirandy."

Peals of laughter having subsided, more announcements were made. Dr. Blue (David Rose) broke precedent by announcing "Spring Ingathering," and J. P. Laurence (Delmar Holbrook) emphatically confirmed the report amid further outbursts of applause. Mr. Ivanoff (Mike Tkachenko) continued with a word of Russian, which was interpreted by Rubin Widmer into a whole paragraph of English.

Dr. G. D. Hagstotz (Elmer Herr) was in the midst of an announcement about new students when they arrived—"three hicks from the sticks," and presented themselves wonderingly to P. K. Simpson (Charles Seitz) who greeted them in Urdu. In conclusion, H. C. Hartman (James Stevens) casually announced that Union was a "Cash-and-Carry College." President Cossentine (Harold Roll) dismissed the program with a characteristic gesture.

In The Army

The following letter was received from Cpl. Joseph J. Beckner, who was graduated from Union in 1940. He was inducted into the army last fall.

"My college days seem far behind, but I still find my heart going out to dear old Union. After reading a recent copy of the Clock Tower, I decided to drop a line.

"Recently I landed in Lexington, Kentucky, to pursue a course at the state university. It just goes to show you that one can't get away from studies, even in the army. As a matter of fact, I find myself taking on in a week what I would have considered next to impossible in the same time during college days. Just imagine studying one subject eight hours a day! Great sport.

"Last Sabbath I accompanied the local pastor, Elder Colburn, back into the hills of Kentucky to visit a little family church. After pushing the car the last mile over muddy rutted roads, we hooked the projector to the car battery and held a meeting in a "S. S. room" of a house. Since strangers are unwelcome but worthy of investigation in that region, quite a crowd gathered. Most of the drunks stayed outside, and the only casualty was the radio antenna on the car. It was bent up by some roughneck. I was glad to get back to the comparative safety of the army reservation (our hotel).

Army Opportunities

"The army life offers innumerable opportunities for us to witness for the Lord. Not only on Sabbath, but every day of the week. I feel that the large trials of army life should be told of, but at the same time they occur and are gone, while the necessity for a consistent "moment-by-moment" Christian life is with us always. Christ said, '...he that endureth unto the end, the same shall be saved.'

"To the young men that are to enter the army I say thank God that you have the opportunity to find what trust in God means. You will know trials and heartache, but you will find a trust and confidence in the Lord that you could never approach while in the comparative protection of home and college.

"To the young men who are to go out into the ministry of the Lord I say be true to yourself and to God. Let your life witness that your motives are above question in this day when your country calls. Your God requires it, and we who have given up home and loved ones demand it. Earnest prayer and diligent Bible study are the keys to a successful Christian life in these uncertain days, be it on the home front or on the battle front."

On Leaving North Hall

"In less than a week North Hall will no longer be my home," bemoaned one of the senior girls. This set a group of other girls to thinking, for many of them, although they were not all seniors, would never come back again.

North Hall is loved by the girls who live there, not because it is a "high, brick building" but because of the memories it holds. The thought that we shall soon leave all those memories behind is not a pleasant one. Soon many of us will not hear the familiar laughter in the halls; the rooms in which we have had so much fun will be occupied by strangers; life in North Hall will go on without us.

As I sat in worship the other night and looked at the faces around me, I felt a "sunk" feeling. Soon my voice would not blend in with the others as we sang. I would not hear the Sabbath morning stories that Miss Rees reads, nor the council that she gives. The girls I had learned to love would be scattered far and wide, and the only connection I would have with them was by letter. Later, when the lights had gone out and I lay a long time listening to the Clock Tower ding out the hours, I knew that I was indeed a fortunate girl. The time I had spent on my knees with some friend talking to God seemed to have passed all too quickly.

So as I leave North Hall probably never to return as a resident there, I shall take with me some of the most precious memories of my life. My only prayer is that I may live up to the high ideals that North Hall is based upon and may always be worthy to call it my home.

Wherever God erects a house of prayer,
The Devil always builds a chapel there;
And 'twill be found, upon examination,
The latter has the larger congregation.
