FLOATS AND A PARADE led off the day-long schedule of activities for the Loma Linda Filipino Church's Fiesta '84, held in September. Representatives from various Asian-Pacific groups participated. The Fiesta was held to commemorate the sixth anniversary of the Filipino Church.

Mildred Grandbois on GAMC Wall of Fame

by Larry Becker

Twenty-three years ago Mildred Grandbois, then the medical librarian at Glendale Adventist Medical Center, had an idea.

"It seemed to me that many of the sciences had indexes to their literature, yet there was none available for nursing," she says. "Medicine has an index more than 200 years old, but our nursing students had nowhere to turn for information in their field."

Miss Grandbois began pulling together an index on her own, but during meetings with other Los Angeles area hospital librarians, she found that several were attempting similar projects.

"Ella Crandall at White Memorial had done some work in this area, too," says Miss Grandbois. "I took what she had done, combined it with some work of my own, and we published the first edition of the index in 1961."

That first edition of the Cumulative Index to Nursing Literature (CINL) covered the output of 17 nursing journals from the year 1956 to 1960. The next edition indexed 35 journals.

Happiness Isn't Only For the Young

Love blossoms in the springtime in many places and the Napa Valley Retirement Estates, built in Yountville and operated by the Northern California Conference, is no exception.

Clarence and Sylvia Gillbank, both 77, have now celebrated their second wedding anniversary.

"This is the kind of life we've always dreamed of," says Clarence, "a beautiful yard and no grass to mow, time to travel and not have to worry about someone picking up the newspapers, coming home to a hot meal and not having to fix it, and best of all, the fellowship of so many wonderful Christian friends."

Retired Teacher

Sylvia Otis, a widow and retired elementary teacher with three grown children, had been living in Hayfork before moving into the retirement center in 1981 shortly after it opened. An attractive woman with an enthusiastic smile,

Sylvia has spent much time as a freelance writer for "Guide," "Our Little Friend," and the "Signs of the Times."

"I hadn't planned on romance here," Sylvia says, "but when I knew that Clarence loved Jesus even more than he loved me . . . well, he stole my heart."

Former Realtor

Clarence Gillbank moved to the retirement center from Sunnyvale where he had spent many years as a realtor. However, God's providence came into his life in 1948, when he moved to the Bay Area for a short period of time and learned of the Adventist Message. On December 4 of the same year he was baptized as a charter member of the Walnut Creek Church, now the Pleasant Hill Church. This year's January 18 issue of "Guide" features the story "Never Underestimate a Buyer" written by Clarence.

Annual Week of Sacrifice Offering Set For November 10

by C. E. Bradford

Sacrifice is not an outdated word. It did not go out with high-button shoes, as they used to say.

At the heart of the Christian's relationship to God and fellow human beings is the idea of sacrifice, the giving of the self. We can't escape it.

We may recoil from the mere pronunciation of the word. But the idea is still there—all through the Bible, Old Testament and New Testament.

C. E. Bradford

Give of yourselves, your talent, your treasure, your time. Give, sacrifice, until selfishness is squeezed out of soul and spirit.

Volumes could be written commending the spirit of self-sacrificing love. It motivates and activates. It is the spring of mission and service.

The Annual Week of Sacrifice offering to be received this year on Sabbath, November 10, is another opportunity to let the self-sacrificing love of God flow through us. For all these years this offering has been a blessing to the cause and an even greater blessing to those who have given. Far from being antiquated and outmoded, the Annual Week of Sacrifice offering is relevant and more appropriate today than ever before.

"There are even more urgent necessities upon the Israel of God in these last days than were upon ancient Israel. There is a great and important work to be accomplished in a very short time . . . He (God) designed that the spirit of sacrifice should widen and deepen for the closing work."—Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 396.

This year's offering will go toward assisting the operations of overseas divisions.

France, Mozambique Will Benefit From Fourth Quarter Offerings

Sabbath Schools this quarter are describing challenges to the Adventist Church family in the Euro-Africa Division.

Headquartered in Berne, Switzerland, this Division is composed of 25 countries—northernmost is Germany; the most westerly European country is Portugal; and the most southerly, Greece. In between are Austria, Belgium, France, Italy, Spain, and Switzerland.

Eastern European countries belonging to this Division are Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Albania, Hungary, Romania, and Yugoslavia. African nations assigned to this Division are Algeria, Tunisia, and Morocco—along the Mediterranean—and the Portuguese-speaking countries of Angola and Mozambique farther south.

Since the dissolution of the Middle East Division, the Israel

Field has also been attached to Euro-Africa.

Previous emphasis upon this section of the world focused both attention and funds upon Sagunto, Spain, where a new girls' dormitory was erected, and Brussels, Belgium, which benefited with an evangelistic center.

Nations receiving attention the last three months of this year are France and Mozambique—representing two of the Division's more than 25 languages.

French Challenges

France, which is twice the size of Colorado, has a population 18 times larger. In fact, the population of France is one-fourth that of the entire United States. While the per capita income there about equals that of the US, their rate of inflation averages two percent higher.

"Less than 80 percent of the French are said to be nominal Christians, and only two percent are Protestants," according to James Hardin, Pacific Union director of Sabbath Schools.

Re-Creation Unlimited Multimedia Program Ready

Two members of the Pacific Union Church family have completed a multimedia featuring survival techniques.

Designed especially for teaching parents and their children who may become lost, there are other basic survival principles included. "Our goal was to help the public avoid this potential tragedy, especially while they are vacationing," says Photographer Terry Fuller.

Mrs. Fuller and Co-director

Fred Cornforth were both volunteers with Re-Creation Unlimited at Lake Shasta during the season just ended. Their production entitled "Lost," was prepared because of current statistics which show such experiences increasing at what are called alarming rates.

Further information and reservations for showing locally may be secured by writing "Lost," Re-Creation Unlimited, P.O. Box 53, Lakehead, CA 96051.

Clarence and Sylvia Gillbank, residents of the Napa Valley Adventist Retirement Estates, find life together a happy experience.

The Gillbanks live in a one-bedroom apartment, an accommodation which is much in demand at the retirement center. "It's country club living," says Clarence

An adjoining building, once intended for medical offices, has been remodeled into ten one-

Health Outreaches Help Norwalk Church Lead Area Residents to Better Lives

by Larry Becker

Seeking to meet the felt needs of their community, the Norwalk Church has developed a number of outreaches designed to lead city residents into a more healthful lifestyle.

Already in operation are a bakery, community health education center, a mobile health/lifestyle screening program and a day-care service.

"Several years ago a group of church members began searching the Scriptures and the Spirit of Prophecy for instruction on how best to reach city residents," says Dale Leamon, Norwalk's head pastor.

"The more we studied, the more convicted we became that the uniting of a health program with the gospel was the direction we should go.

"Meeting Felt Needs"

"We concluded we needed to offer people something in which they had a felt need, then let them know that God and we care about them," continues Elder Leamon. "There's nothing wrong with traditional evangelism, and we've tried very hard to avoid fanaticism in these health programs. But being pragmatic about our situation, we were realizing less and less effectiveness from more traditional means of evangelism."

The initial program in Norwalk's health outreach was the opening 2½ years ago of the Our Daily Bread Bakery and General Store in an abandoned building just a block from the church. A selection of whole-grain breads, cookies with no refined sugar, grains, nuts, dried fruits and restricted diet breads are available, according to Bakery Managers George and Karen Steiger.

"Religion in Bread"

"We believe in that old saying about there being a lot of religion in a loaf of bread," says Mrs. Steiger. "There have been many new customers in the past few months. One lady, after using some of our products for a while, came in and reported that her doctor told her that whatever she was doing to keep on doing it; her health had improved that much."

In August, 1982, the Norwalk Adventist Health Center began operations under the direction of Drs. Clifford and Aileen Ludington. The Center seeks to draw medical and spiritual health together and, according to Dr. Shirley Masaoka, medical director of the Health Center, the staff strives to show patients "that the Lord accepts us as we are, and He can help us escape from the trap of poor health habits.

"People come to us because they hurt, and our goal for them is not just to ease their pain, but to show how lifestyle changes can contribute to preventing it in the future."

Regular Seminars

Each Monday evening, the Health Center offers a nutrition and cooking seminar, and the series of 12 lectures repeated on a quarterly basis. Also offered periodically are programs on stress control, weight control, five-day plans and programs on how diet affects diabetes and cancer.

Physicians are available for private consultation. Laboratory testing, physical therapy and hydrotherapy round out available services.

Van Ministry

An adjunct to the Health Care Center is Norwalk's mobile van health screening program. Weekly church volunteers offer free blood pressure and health screenings at shopping centers and community events.

"We've found that we cannot keep up with the demand for our other services generated by our van ministry," says Elder Leamon. "Not only does the van work feed interests into our health classes, but we get many requests for Bible study as well! We're now in the process of training more lay Bible workers so we can operate the van more often."

Day Care Center

The newest addition to Norwalk's community outreach program is the Bit O' Heaven Day Care Center, opened in September, 1982. According to Janet Rich, director of the center, the church is providing day care with a Christian perspective for 2-5-year-old children 12 hours daily.

Along with the playtime, hot lunches and rest periods typical of many day care programs, Norwalk's staff offers a daily worship and specialized enrichment classes, spending each month on a different topic.

"We studied about food and nutrition during May, for example," reports Mrs. Rich.

How has this wide range of outreaches affected the Norwalk Church?

"I see three areas of real benefit coming from these programs," reports Elder Leamon.

Involvement Growing

"First, the number of church members becoming actively involved has grown tremendously. In the past all we could offer people was the opportunity to distribute handbills or give Bible studies. Now there are about 25 full-time and more than 100 part-time volunteers among the various ministries.

"Secondly, there is an indirect effect on our church growth," continues Elder Leamon. "When a church is excited about its ministry, it becomes a more attractive church. We've had many 'backslidden and nominal' Adventists become interested in re-establishing and strengthening their church connections because they are excited by what they see and hear during their visits.

"Finally, there is the direct impact on the growth of church membership," concludes Elder Leamon. "My pastor's Sabbath morning Bible class always has about 20 attending regularly, and in the past six months I've seen a number of those interests maturing.

"One man started coming to our bakery because of his interest in vegetarianism. Soon the staff sensed a spiritual interest on his part. He told me recently that 'Adventists have what I've been searching for all my life.'

"Another couple started attending lectures at the Health Center at the invitation of one of our professional members. These folk were atheists and they recently told me, 'When we saw you folks had it together in health and nutrition, we had to find out what you had in spiritual things, too.'"

City Appreciates Church

Elder Leamon feels Norwalk residents increasingly appreciate the church's programs.

"The mayor of Norwalk believes our work is one of the best things happening in the city. He has even asked for an invitation to our next stop-smoking clinic.

Elder Leamon and Dr. Shirley Masaoka, medical director of Norwalk's Health Center, discuss plans for further community health outreaches.

Also, many places at which the van has operated are extending open invitations to return at any time.

"I'd guess that back when the bakery opened barely 10 percent of Norwalk's population knew Adventists. Now I'd say more than half are familiar with our work."

Counsel Seemed Clear

"A number of Mrs. White's statements on this subject have become very valuable to us as we have sought to establish these ministries," says Elder Leamon. "In Gospel Workers she writes, 'Christ's method alone will give true success in reaching the people . . . There is need of coming close to the people by personal effort.' (GW 363).

"Combine this statement with many she makes similar to the one in Testimonies which says 'Centers of influence may be established in many places by the opening up of health food stores, hygienic restaurants and treatment rooms.' (7T 234), and our direction seems clear."

Early Doubts

"To be honest, I had some doubts at the beginning," reports Elder Leamon. "I needed to be convinced. But as we've progressed in our programs, I believe we are discovering that Mrs. White's counsels on city medical evangelism are possibly even more valid today than when they were written.

"I think that as our Church seeks to expand these ministries into other areas, we'll have more confidence in the future after seeing how the Holy Spirit has led us in the past."

Norwalk Church Pastor Dale Leamon visits with Karen Steiger, manager of the Our Daily Bread Bakery. A wide selection of health foods and whole grain breads and cookies are available.

Janet Rich, director of the Bit O' Heaven Day Care Center, checks on her preschoolers during afternoon nap time.

Personal Notes

*Arlis Walter has been named as Bible School Coordinator at the Voice of Prophecy. She previously served at the VOP as a telephone counselor from 1976-79. Leilani Proctor, previous Bible School Coordinator, has been appointed as marketing director for Narcotics Education, Inc., a Washington, D. C., group producing temperance materials for use by the Adventist Church and others.

Inland Spanish Church Dedicated in Colton

Ward White (left), assisted by Dr. and Mrs. Manuel Elias, burned the mortgage during dedication services at the Inland Spanish Church. The church is pastored by Ernesto Hernandez.

The Inland Spanish Church (formerly the Colton-San Bernardino Spanish Church) was formally dedicated, free of debt, on Sabbath afternoon, September 8.

The service was planned under the direction of former pastor, Manuel Nestares, now the principal of Calexico Mission School, and Ernesto Hernandez, the new pastor.

The dedication sermon was given by Thomas Mostert, conference president, entitled "Nothing More Important." He gave the main reasons for the origin and purpose of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The dedicatory prayer was given by Augustine Cortez, associate secretary of the Southern California Conference and pastor during the construction of the church.

The mortgage was burned by Ward White, of the Conference Association, and Dr. and Mrs. Manuel Elias.

Special music was presented by Mr. and Mrs. L. Ruiz at the organ and piano; the church choir, under the direction of Dr. Elias; Evelyn Arguellez; Ricky and Marilyn Ogando; and Gilberto Bustamante.

MEMBERS OF THE NORCO CHURCH were able to offer free blood pressure tests recently at Riverside's Tyler Mall. The space that was given to them would have normally cost $625.

Southeastern Churches Plan Special Worship Services

October 22 will mark the 140th anniversary of the "great disappointment" of 1844. More than 70 churches in the Southeastern California Conference will commemorate this historic event with special worship services on Sabbath, October 20.

Early advent hymns, responsive readings, short skits, sermons that will reminisce, and visual displays of historic events will form a part of the celebration.

The Conference Worship Committee has worked hard in preparing resource materials that will make this day a day of remembrance and a day of interest.

In addition, each church will take time during the day to offer intercessory prayer for a sister church in the Conference, thus drawing our churches together in a period of prayer.

NEVADA-UTAH

Four Begin Work in Conference

Four young men now beginning their ministries have accepted the challenge of working in the Nevada-Utah Conference.

Robert K. Duncan is a Taskforce worker in charge of Price Church and Vernal Company. Pastor Duncan recently completed study at the Lake Union Soul-Winning Institute before coming to Nevada-Utah. He was born in Southwestern Colorado, and received schooling through high school at Cortez. He and his wife, Jean, have two children.

Shaun T. Lemnah is serving as Taskforce pastor for the Quincy, California, Church. He graduated from Weimar College this summer with a B.A. in Religion. His wife, Helene, is a Elementary Education major from Weimar. While students both were active in the Truckee Church.

Michael A. Speegle is a 1984 graduate of Pacific Union College, majoring in Theology. He is now serving his pastoral internship at the Boulder City, Nevada, Church. He and his wife, Lorie, will be active in working with the youth.

Serving as pastor-teacher at Winnemucca is Ralph E. Hendrix. A Religion major from PUC, Pastor Hendrix will receive his degree in December. His wife, Carrie Kay, graduated from PUC with a B.S. in Human Development.

HAWAII

Vietnamese Refugee Family Now Leaders in Hawaii's Chinese Church

Having arrived in Oahu as refugees from Vietnam, the Tang family constitute a loyal and working family in the Chinese Church in Honolulu.

For the new church year Mai Tang, the father and husband, is to be personal ministries secretary as well as one of the Sabbath School superintendents. The mother and wife, Ha Anh Thuyen Tang, is a deaconess. Son Howard is a deacon and Sabbath School chorister. Yvonne, the older daughter, is a church receptionist and telephone communicator. Kay, 15 years old, serves as Sabbath School secretary.

Only three years ago, Mrs. Tang and her two older children escaped by boat in Southeast Asia. Kay and her father arrived safely by plane in April, 1983, after Mrs. Tang made arrangements for them.

Influenced by a cousin, Howard and Yvonne gave their hearts to God and were baptized in Vietnam. Mr. Tang was influenced by his children's experience, and was baptized into the Adventist Church the day his wife and two older children escaped. Mrs. Tang decided to follow Jesus completely while on the escape boat where she felt the guidance and care of God. She was baptized in Honolulu by Nathaniel Yen, who studied the Bible with her. Kay made her decision to be baptized after her 14th birthday. Now the Tangs stand together as a united family for God.

To the Tangs, the Chinese Church in Honolulu is a haven of peace and safety. Many of their friends who escaped find themselves without a church home. Howard says, "Our friends find it hard to be all alone and worship God. We feel so blessed to have this caring church family."

Tamarind Avenue Welcomes New Pastor

The Tamarind Avenue Church recently welcomed Helvius L. Thompson as new senior pastor. He replaces Oswald Gordon, who has accepted the presidency of the Liberian Mission.

Born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Elder Thompson attended Oakwood College, where he received the Mosley-Warren Homiletics Award for the outstanding student in homiletics. He received his bachelor's degree from Oakwood in 1968 and took further graduate studies at Andrews University's Theological Seminary.

Elder Thompson began his ministry in the Southwest Regional Conference in 1969. Three years later he was awarded the Pastor of the Year commendation in his conference. He was ordained in 1973.

For the past eight years, Elder Thompson has been a public evangelist, first with the Central States Conference and later as a Union evangelist.

Elder Thompson is married to the former Janice Kelly. Mrs. Thompson is a graduate of Fisk University with a major in voice and minor in piano. She sang and traveled with the famous Fisk Jubilee Singers. She is currently completing a master's degree in vocal performance at the University of Missouri.

The Thompsons have three sons: Randolph, 7; Russell, 6, and Helvius III, 3.

H. M. S. Richards Improving Following Second Stroke

H. M. S. Richards suffered a second stroke on Wednesday, August 22, six days before his 90th birthday. Since his first stroke two years ago, he and his wife, Mabel, have resided at Ventura Estates, a retirement home operated by the Southern California Conference.

The recent stroke caused partial paralysis on the right side and some speech impairment, but major improvement was obvious later that day. Dr. Richards is being cared for at Ventura Estates. Hospital care has not been necessary.

Although Pastor Richards sometimes has difficulty forming words, he is able to speak with his family and physician.

"We are encouraged by the fact that he has no pain and is in good spirits," says Kenneth Richards, one of Dr. Richards' sons, researcher and program producer for the Voice of Prophecy. "We are hoping and praying that this improvement will continue."

Vegetarian Cooking School Scheduled for Eagle Rock

A vegetarian cooking school will be held at the Eagle Rock Church Parish Hall, 2239 Merton Ave. on four consecutive Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. beginning October 23 through November 13.

Classes will be taught by Marilyn Kemper, M.P.H., and Betty Jo Vercio, M.S., as follows:

October 23—"Vegetarian Meal Planning"

Sabbath, November 3, will be a day of celebration in the Southern California Conference as church members from as far north as Santa Barbara and as far south as Long Beach gather in Pomona for the Annual Conference Convocation.

Sabbath School will begin at 9 a.m., and the day's program are scheduled to conclude at sundown at the Los Angeles County Fair Grounds, 1101 W. McKinley in Pomona. No Friday evening programs are scheduled this year.

Liberty magazine Editor Roland Hegstad will speak for the worship hour on Sabbath. General Conference Youth Director Leo Ranzolin will present the adult Sabbath School lesson. Afternoon speakers are Dr. Benjamin Reaves of Oakwood College and Dr. Don Jacobson, director of outreach for the Southeastern California Conference.

Programs are scheduled throughout the day for children as well as adults.

Parking is free with a pass which may be obtained at your local church.

No food will be sold on the fair grounds, so bring a picnic lunch, your family and friends, and plan now to enjoy a spiritual feast on November 3!

Oakwood College Rally Will Be October 27

Californians for Oakwood College Alumni Association will sponsor its Seventh Annual Rally on Sabbath, October 27, at Tamarind Avenue Church, 417 South Tamarind Avenue, in Compton.

Henry Wright

The featured speaker will be Henry M. Wright, president of Allegheny West Conference in Columbus, Ohio.

Before Elder Wright was elected conference president, he was associate professor of religion at Oakwood College. Elder Wright will speak at the divine worship hour as well as during the afternoon Rally which will begin at 3:30.

The spoken word, special music and fellowship of Oakwood College alumni friends from all over the Union promises to make this a very inspirational event.

Vegetarian Cooking School Scheduled for Eagle Rock

October 30—"Make Breakfast a Better Meal"

November 6—"Nutrition in a Lunch Pail"

November 13—"Tasteful Meatloaf Entrees"

The cost is $5 per class or $15 for all classes. Anyone interested in vegetarian cooking is welcome. For further information and reservation please call (213) 257-5803 or (818) 246-0813.

Vietnamese Adventists Convene and Remember Deliverance

Vietnamese Seventh-day Adventists from as far away as France and Canada, as well as all over the United States, assembled in Loma Linda University's Burden Hall August 3 to remember their evacuation from their homeland nine years ago and to thank God for it.

Le Cong Giao, last president of the denomination's Vietnam Mission, and now pastor of the largest Vietnamese-language Adventist congregation in America, said that several hundred participants in the first-ever Vietnamese convocation in this country slept over Friday night in Gentry gymnasium. It was there, he noted, that they were housed after arriving in the United States from their native country after the fall of Saigon to the Communists in April, 1975. Some persons, he remarked, sought out the exact spot where they first slept in America.

"We should not forget this experience," Elder Giao said, adding that the adults wanted their children to recall the experience which may have become a dim memory as they absorbed American ways. "Many of us would not be alive today if we had not gotten out in time," said Elder Giao, who himself took the next-to-last evacuation flight out of Saigon.

Not all of the participants, however, remembered the 1975 evacuation from the same perspective. A number of them remained in Vietnam and later became part of the exodus from Southeast Asia by boat.

Featured speaker for the convocation was Ralph S. Watts, Jr., president of the Southern California Conference. Elder Watts was president of the Southeast Asia Union Mission in 1975, and personally arranged and supervised the evacuation of 400 Adventist church members and hospital workers from Saigon in the last days of the Vietnam War. He also visited Kampuchea (formerly known as Cambodia) after the fall of the Pol Pot regime to offer the Church's humanitarian relief to the people of that country.

The last time many of the persons who attended the camp meeting saw Elder Watts was in Gentry Gym after he had overseen the final phase of their rescue from Southeast Asia.

Bob Scott New President of Medical Center

With goals for keeping the hospital an innovative leader in health care, Bob Scott began administration of Glendale Adventist Medical Center on September 10.

Mr. Scott replaces LaVerne W. Roth, who retired in June after 11 years as president.

"Glendale Adventist Medical Center must continue to be innovative in its approach to health care," says Mr. Scott. "We'll probably see 1,000 hospitals go out of business in the next decade as new challenges arise. I think the greatest test will be to develop new ways for hospitals to work with physicians, founding new areas of cooperation."

Mr. Scott, who has been a health care administrator since 1962, will direct the Medical Center's $100 million annual operation and oversee the welfare of the hospital's 2,300 employees.

"We're in the people business, not the hospital business. If we look out for the needs of people, both patients and employees, the by-product will be a well-run hospital," says Mr. Scott.

Since 1979, Mr. Scott has served as executive vice president for Adventist Health System-Sunbelt, where he oversaw the administration of six hospitals in Georgia and Florida.

Prior to 1979, Mr. Scott was senior vice president (1970-73) and president (1973-79) of Florida Hospital, a 920-bed medical complex in Central Florida.

Mr. Scott graduated from Loma Linda University, La Sierra Campus in 1962 with a B.S. degree in business administration. He received his master's degree in hospital administration in 1970 from Trinity University.

Mr. Scott's hobbies include flying, fishing, restoring old aircraft, as well as metal and wood working.

He is married to the former Betty Hamren and has four sons, William, Barry, Robert and Bengé.

Twenty-five Revelation Seminars Being Conducted in Conference

"It is the public's response that makes it such an attractive method of evangelism," says Richard Schwartz, Ministerial Director for the Northern California Conference, speaking of the Revelation Seminars.

There are 25 Revelation Seminars being held in the Conference through the beginning of November. "The majority of these," Schwartz comments, "are being led by laymen."

In Yreka, where layman Dennis Spiva is conducting the seminar, 85 non-Adventists attended the first session on Monday, September 10. According to Jeff Beasley, pastor of the Yreka congregation, these 85 individuals were the result of only 5,000 handbills being sent to the community.

In Pittsburg, the same number of brochures were sent out for their seminar that was conducted by Edison Nembhard, Black Ministries Director for the Conference. There, on Sabbath, September 22, eleven people were baptized as a result.

Individuals who have joined the Church through Revelation Seminars and those who have participated in holding them are invited to "Revelation Seminar Celebrations" that will be held in November. These will be held at the Vallejo Central Church on Friday evening, November 16, at 7:00 p.m.; the Carmichael Church on Sabbath, November 17, at 3:00 p.m.; and the Anderson Church, on Sabbath, November 17, at 7:00 p.m.

"This is one of the most effective ways of reaching the public that we have ever witnessed," Schwartz comments, "and if members are interested in how they can participate they should contact either their pastor or the Ministerial Department at the Conference Office."

Sacramento Southgate To Celebrate 10th Anniversary

On October 24, 1974, the Sacramento Southgate Seventh-day Adventist Church was dedicated. All past and present pastors, teachers, members, and friends are invited to help celebrate its tenth anniversary on Sabbath, October 27, 1984.

In addition to the special morn-

Needy Student Fund Established at Golden Gate Academy

Golden Gate Academy, in Oakland, will receive a special $15,000 scholarship appropriation for needy students from the Conference. In addition, churches in the school's constituency have indicated they will raise an additional $15,000 to add to the fund.

Ken Jackson, chairman of the school's board, is very optimistic about many aspects of the school's ing services, a musical program is planned for 2:30 p.m., featuring Rio Lindo's Brass Ensemble, under the direction of Russ Durham.

You are encouraged to bring food for the fellowship dinner which will follow the church service.

program for this year. He indicated that the leadership of the new principal is most gratifying.

Ron Williams, GGA's principal, comes to Northern from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where he served as principal since 1977. He has completed course work for his Ph.D. at Temple University, and is working on a dissertation. Mr. Williams and his wife have one son.

Napa Valley Korean Church Organized October 6

The Napa Valley Korean Church was organized as Northern's 118th church congregation on Sabbath, October 6. The 71 members of the new church are pastored by Dong Ho Kim.

The special service commemorating the organization of the new church was held at the Yountville Church. Yountville has served as the parent church for the group since it was organized as a company on November 7, 1982.

The Napa Valley Korean Church presently meets in rented facilities at 1908 Wise Drive in Napa.

Incidentally, at its September session, the Executive Committee of the Conference voted to organize the Weaverville Company into the Conference's 119th church.

Services Held For Elmer Schmidt; Served as Conference Secretary-Treasurer for 19 Years

Elmer A. Schmidt died on September 3, 1984, in Camarillo, California. Phillip Knoche and Waldo Hesseltine had the services on September 6.

Born February 10, 1909, in Rush Center, Kansas, Elder Schmidt (affectionately known as "Schmitt") served the denomination almost 37 years, more than 32 years as conference secretary-treasurer in the Pacific Union—Nevada-Utah, Southeastern California, and from 1957 to 1976 in the Northern California Conference. He completed the Professional Course in Business Administration at Union College in Nebraska in 1931.

During his service in Northern the membership grew by 10,000 and 19 additional churches were organized. Some of the projects completed under his administration include the construction of Rio Lindo Adventist academy at Healdsburg and the relocation of the conference office from Oakland to its present site in Pleasant Hill. He also helped the conference enter the Computer Age in the late 60's with the acquisition of one of the early enormous IBM machines.

His wife of 52 years, Irene (Wallace), lives in Camarillo. His son, Wallace, and daughter, Winona Ann, both live in Loma Linda.

Ed and Kathy Leon have been holding weekly Bible studies on their boat, the "Geisha." The Leons live on the boat, which is anchored in Noyo Harbor, near Fort Bragg.

Couple Witnesses While Living on Boat

An individual who was recently baptized at the Fort Bragg Church joined the church after receiving Bible studies on a boat.

Phyllis Shupe first became acquainted with the Seventh-day Adventist Church through her friendship with Kathy Leon. Kathy has been a church member for two years, and has been holding weekly Bible studies on the boat that she and her husband, Ed, live on.

Mrs. Shupe's husband, John, was baptized as a result of the Quiet Hour Prison Ministry. But he, too, first learned about the Adventists after he had been invited to dinner aboard the Leon's boat, the "Geisha," anchored in Noyo Harbor near Fort Bragg.

bedroom apartments which are now ready for occupancy.

Neither of the Gillbanks have much time to "retire" since moving to Yountville. Sylvia started a small prayer group in her studio apartment with a couple of other women.

"More and more people wanted to come," says Sylvia.

"We began to learn more about each other and to reach out to friends and relatives who are not Christians with our prayers and Christian books. Finally, we had to move into the worship room. About 25 now meet each Monday evening for prayer and fellowship. Clarence alone has given away over 250 books since coming here."

They have also been responsible for starting a Sabbath School class for those who are not able to attend church.

"Life is Good"

Four couples have followed the path of romance to matrimony since coming to the Napa Valley

Retirement Center. "That isn't why we came here," the Gillbanks say, "but life here is very good . . . and it will be interesting to see who the next bride and groom are! In the meantime we have a trip planned to British Columbia."

General

ATTENDEES FROM 8 UNIONS AND 15 CONFERENCES met with Pacific Press representatives at the recently concluded Signs Seminar in Mountain View, California. Plans were laid for distribution and advertising, and a goal of 500,000 subscriptions was voted for the 1985 Signs campaign. More than 410,000 subscriptions were received during the 1984 campaign. The group also heard a report from Roger McQuistan, personal ministries director for the Kansas/Nebraska Conference, on the telephone follow-up program he has developed to handle interests generated by the magazine.

Review and Herald Enters Home Computer Market

Modern technology will soon present a format beyond reading and games for Sabbath activity.

Soon young computer enthusiasts will have a variety of personal software.

Review computer Bible games are being developed for the Commodore 64, Apple IIe, and Radio Shack's TRS 80. The techniques used in developing these Bible games allow the computer programmer to make the games interactive and challenging.

"Random selection will allow the player to play a different version of the game each time," says Gail Hunt, research and development director.

"This takes the games beyond the memorization of answers to make learning about the Scriptures an interesting adventure."

The Review will market nine computer games this year. These games may be purchased through Adventist Book Centers after October 15.

Pacific Union Authors in Collegiate Quarterly

Pacific Union artists and authors were again contributors to the Collegiate Sabbath School Quarterly this summer.

Communicating the concepts of freedom and forgiveness through illustrations was the special task of Greg Thompson. Working with him was photographer James Lage. Both are members of the Eagle Rock, California, church family.

Commentary on lesson four was prepared by Jim Brock, Scott Britz-Cunningham, E. Irvin Legman, and Robert Zamora, all on the preaching or publishing staff at Mountain View.

Preparing materials for lessons nine and ten were Jim Ponder, associate pastor at Newbury Park; Ray Tetz, associate pastor at Eagle Rock and associate youth director for the Southern California Conference; Casey Bahr, associate at Glendale; and Gayland Richardson, pastor at Alhambra.

Modesto Central Church members developed the articles for lesson twelve. Along with Glenn Sayers, associate pastor at Modesto Central, contributors included Brad and Jeanie Benson, Frederick Mantz, Annett Pappas, and Sam Virgil, Jr.

CENTRAL

Plans Being Developed for 1985 Yosemite Church Program

Sabbath worship services in the Church Bowl at Yosemite National Park attract vacationing Adventists from across the continent and around the world.

Coordinator of this special activity is retired minister Henry T. Bergh. Each summer—as in the season just past—Pastor Bergh arranges for a full set of outdoor Sabbath services conducted in the setting of Yosemite Falls, Bridal Veil Falls, Glacier Point, Half Dome, and El Capitan.

Conference leaders think that 1985 attendance will be even larger. It's a General Conference Session year. People going to or returning from New Orleans are expected to visit Yosemite, which is in Central California Conference territory.

Needed as a housing base for the Church Bowl pastors is a travel trailer or motor home, which would be parked at Camp Wawona.

Persons interested in donating a unit or the season-long use of a unit are encouraged to write Vice President for Finance Gordon Bullock, Box 770, Clovis, CA 93613 or call (209) 255-7700.

A SERIES OF MEETINGS conducted by Hispanic Evangelist Eliseo Brisenio (far right) in Watsonville resulted in the baptism of 40 persons. Also participating in the baptismal service were (far left) Assistant to the President for Hispanic Ministries Juan Rivera and Pastor Marvin Santos, now minister of the Hanford Spanish Church.

President Cook Will Address San Joaquin Forum Meeting

Conference President Charles Cook will address the opening meeting of the 1984-85 series sponsored by the San Joaquin Valley Chapter of the Association of Adventist Forums.

Forum officers have asked Elder Cook to present a report on the Annual Council of the General Conference which he is attending at this time. A question-and-answer period will follow the president's report on Annual Council agenda items.

Forum officers have indicated that the meeting, set for Sabbath, November 3, Fresno Central Church, 2980 East Yale, is open to all interested church members.

La Sierra News Notes

SDA EDUCATORS ATTENDING THE NAEYC (National Association for the Education of Young Children) convention in Los Angeles will have a full day of Sabbath activities during their stay. Early childhood educators from across the nation will attend the convention from November 7 to 11. On Sabbath morning, November 10, the Consumer Related Sciences department at LLU, La Sierra will dispatch a van to pick up Adventist representatives from the Bonaventure Hotel and take them to church services at the La Sierra Collegiate Church. The day will include lunch and supper, as well as a session discussing religious values for children. The participants will be returned to the hotel that evening. Call Toini Shobe or Marilyn Beach at (714) 785-2146 for more information.

ALUMNI GIVING AT LLU, LA SIERRA is up for the fourth year in a row. Unrestricted funds from alumni donors and matching BECA (Business Executive's Challenge to Alumni) funds resulted in a total of $134,024 for fiscal year 1983-84. Restricted cash funds from alumni reached $123,793 and gifts in kind totaled $27,308. The percentage of alumni giving has risen from 1.5 percent four years ago to 21.6 percent. Added to the donations of other groups, LLU, La Sierra has received $731,733, a gain of $227,712 over the previous year.

LLU'S MEXICO CITY TOUR DEADLINES are approaching. The first tour is December 18-24 and will include Mexico City and the Pan-American Youth Congress. The March 17-24 tour includes Mexico City, Cancun and the Yucatán Peninsula. For information call (714) 785-2257 or write to International Dimensions Honors Tours, LS 101, Loma Linda University, Riverside, CA 92515.

COLLEGE DAY for seniors in academy or high school will be held November 5 at La Sierra. Students will have a chance to tour the campus and the different academic departments. A morning workshop is planned for all students undecided in their majors. Lunch and supper will be provided. For more information contact the Recruitment office at (714) 785-2118.

"MAKING SENSE OUT OF GOD'S MESSAGES" is the theme for this year's Week of Devotion, featuring Bailey Gillespie, chairman of the Department of Church and Ministry, at LLU, La Sierra. Meetings are scheduled from October 22 through 27, with a Candlelight Communion in the Commons on Friday evening to complete the week.

Nursing Index Founder Honored by GAMC

"Nursing literature really began to grow when we began the index," says Miss Grandbois. "I think we might have had something to do with that, because the index makes the literature much more valuable."

Today the Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health Literature includes more than 200 nursing journals, and each annual volume holds more than 900 pages. Also, bimonthly updates are issued, keeping the index as current as possible.

More than 5,000 people and organizations in 40 countries subscribe to the CINAHL including the Surgeon General of the United States, Harvard University and the World Health Organization in Geneva and Cairo. GAMC still is copyright owner and publisher.

Miss Grandbois served as editor of the CINAHL from 1961 to 1977. Since then, she has been a consultant in the areas of public relations, circulation and strategic planning.

Before going to GAMC, Miss Grandbois was for 16 years a school teacher on the elementary, secondary and college levels in Michigan, Washington and California. She left teaching to serve as a secretary in the Spanish Department of The Voice of Prophecy (now La Voz de la Esperanza).

"I was supposed to be there only a year," says Miss Grandbois, "but I was having too much fun, so I stayed eight."

Miss Grandbois became GAMC's first professional librarian in 1956.

Earlier this year GAMC honored Miss Grandbois by placing her name on the hospital's "Wall of Honor." Dedicated a year ago, the wall honors those individuals who have made exceptional commitment of their services and influence on behalf of Glendale Adventist Medical Center.

"It was hard to believe when I saw my picture on the wall supporting those six important men," she laughs. "But I do appreciate what the hospital did, and I do feel honored and proud to be included."

"I also hope that the accomplishments of more Adventist women may be recognized in this way in the future. I'm just one of many women who have served the Church and wanted to see it succeed."

Christian Record Introduces New Publication

LINCOLN—Lifeglow, a large-print magazine for adults with a visual impairment, is being released by Christian Record Braille Foundation beginning in December, according to Richard Kaiser, editor of publications.

Issued quarterly, Kaiser says the purpose of Lifeglow is to "brighten, inspire and entertain," and will contain feature articles and stories, a "pen friends" column and a health-watch corner, all written on an adult level. The cost is free to anyone with a sight impairment.

"This is a need which has existed for years, but one that we simply did not have the budget to inaugurate," Kaiser explains. "Now, we feel the time has come to move forward with this much-needed project."

Lifeglow joins a number of other magazines Christian Record produces for the blind on a regular basis, including five in braille, three on flexible disc records and one other large-print journal, Young and Alive, aimed at teenagers.

Adults interested in receiving this free publication, may contact Editor, Christian Record Braille Foundation, 4444 South 52nd St., Lincoln, NE 68506.

Euro-African Division Focus of Fourth Quarter's Offerings of 15, and a mere four percent live beyond the age of 60. "That compares with 24 and 15 percent for those ages in the US," Elder Hardin points out.

Near the provincial capital at Beira is the "Theological Seminary—School for Future Ministers and Bible Workers in Mozambique," according to the signpost along the roadway.

One area of training is in a healthful lifestyle. "We need to train young people in public health so they can teach their people," says the lady who is Mozambique's director of the Ministry of Health.

"We don't just want handouts," she said. "We can use specific help to start us on the road to self-sufficiency." And that's what Adventists are trying to do there.

But each of the nations in Euro-Africa needs the family's prayers this quarter. "As you learn what's going on in the world family week by week," Elder Hardin says, "remember how they appreciate also the love we share through our gifts."

"Sabbath school is not just a service to generate funds," Elder Hardin emphasizes, "It's an opportunity to keep up with goings-on in the Church family world wide."

Of the weekly financial gifts, 16 cents goes to the special projects of the focused field. "Thirteenth Sabbath" offerings for the Special Projects are budgeted so that 25 percent will build a classroom building, living quarters for the students, and apartments for teachers at Beira, Mozambique; and a classroom-auditorium-teachers' offices building for the seminary at Collonges, France.

Member's Outreach Aided by Voice of Prophecy Logs, Courses, Soul-Winning Kits

Church members' outreach to their neighbors will be aided by several items available from the Voice of Prophecy.

The national radio log lists 250 stations carrying the daily broadcast and nearly 500 for the Sunday broadcast. This pocket-size booklet is especially useful when traveling or when writing to friends in another state.

This year's enrollment card features on the cover a photo of a father helping his little girl tie her shoelaces, along with the headline, "You Can Learn at Any Age." Inside, the reader is promised "answers to life's most important questions" about such topics as suffering, life after death, Bible prophecies, and healthful living. The card offers the New Life Bible Guides for adults, as well as other series for juniors and youth.

The Soul-Winning Kit includes several copies of the first lesson in the New Life series, a radio log, a "God Loves You" pin to wear as a conversation starter, and some hints on how to present the lessons effectively to friends or even strangers.

Radio logs, enrollment cards, and Soul-Winning Kits are available by writing: Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, CA 90053.
