No. 5

By E. M. Hause, Ph.D.

Flash! 1945! An atomic bomb more powerful than 20,000 tons of TNT wiped the large Japanese naval base of Hiroshima from the map. A few days later a smaller bomb, more destructive than the first, obliterated the city of Nagasaki.

Such is the record of man's fatal progress in military science. Six hundred years from the longbow to the atomic bomb have failed to halt the fiendish ingenuity of the human race for destroying itself. Now the problem must be solved; now the nations must either agree to forbid the destructive use of atomic power or annihilate civilization. A formula for peace must be reached. The world is not dealing with a theory but with a plain, simple fact. The longbow, the submarine, the "needle gun," the Dreadnought, poison gas, tanks, planes, were terrible weapons of destruction, heretofore; but now man has harnessed a lethal Frankenstein that can destroy its masters, the little men. Chiang Kai-shek may not like communism, the United States may despise British imperialism and resent Britain's maneuvers to borrow more money, Englishmen may suspect Stalin's intentions in Europe, and Stalin the British, and one-half the world may hate the other half; but the tragic facts suggest that we live together peacefully or seal our doom eternally.

The recent six-day conference in Washington of Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and President Harry Truman brought out the most sensible, practical plan yet made on the control of the A bomb. The secret of developing atomic power, with information on the manufacturing of all secret weapons of war possessed by all other nations, should be placed reciprocally under watchful control of an international board within the United Nations International Organization. This commission would seek to establish "the most effective means of entirely eliminating the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and promoting its widest use for industrial and humanitarian purposes."

Loma Linda Grad. Recognized In LIFE

Life magazine recently contained an article and a series of illustrations describing Dr. Marvel D. Beam's new push-button hospital bed which he expects soon to make available to hospitals. The streamlined, electrically powered bed includes features which almost make it possible for patients to take care of themselves with out any help at all.

Dr. Beam is a graduate of the College of Medical Evangelists. He took his pre-medical course at P. U. C. class of '22.

FORTY-ONE SENIORS IN RECOGNITION SERVICES

SENIOR CLASS — 1945-46

Class Presented
by Dr. Woods

An air of dignity seemed to penetrate into the hearts of all, as the Processional of Seniors marched down the isles of the Chapel on December 10, 1945.

After the seniors took their places on the platform, there was a piano solo. Mr. Fowler the sponsor of the class, asked God's presence and guidance.

Dr. Woods, dean of the college, then presented the class individually to President Cossentine, who accepted the Senior Class on behalf of the college. Joseph Barnes, junior class president, accepted the class on behalf of the student body.

The president of the 1946 class, Mackay Christianson, responded to the recognition. Elder Rowland, head of the religion of consecration. The program was concluded with the Recessional.

1889! Perhaps the first graduates of Union were not recognized as those of today—before the student body and faculty—but they were recognized by their fellow laborers and by God, and by the great work they have achieved.

Youth at Work
Chapel Theme
by Elder Bond

"The youth of the church are the trustees of the Advent Message," was the theme of Elder C. Lester Bond's chapel talk on Monday, December 3.

The men and women of the world today are skeptical, denying the fundamentals of religion. We should be ever careful of our words and actions and our testimony should always be of God as we are His witnesses and are to finish His work.

ness will not lie; but a false witness will utter lies," Proverbs 14:5, he emphasized the importance of always living as though we were in the presence of God and shunning questionable things.

FALL COUNCIL VOTES $15,000 TO MUSIC AUDITORIUM

Holmes on Board of Regents

Another autumn council has come and gone and new plans have been laid for the finishing of the work. President Cossentine, Mr. A. D. Holmes and Mr. H. C. Hartman attended the council which was held at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Union College feels especially thankful for $15,000 which was voted for aid in construction of the new music hall now underway. The Union College Academy is honored by having its principal, Mr. A. D. Holmes, elected to the Board of Regents. This committee is accrediting board for all the denominational academies.

Elder McElhany delivered an impressive address on the opening night. The men who were there were reminded of the passing of the years because familiar faces were absent.

Praise was given to the servicemen who had contacted our believers where missionaries had not been allowed to enter.

The council voted that General Conference be held in St. Louis, Missouri, from May 24 to June 10. Also that autumn council would be held in Grand Rapids again next October.

Marsh Discusses Trees as Related to Man's Life

"As compared to trees, the life span of all other organisms is short," stated Dr. Marsh in chapel on Friday, November 30.

Trees have always been associated with man as pointed out by Dr. Marsh as he referred to creation and to the part they have played in man's life. He gave several facts concerning the tallest and oldest trees and also the different varieties.

As a reflection of our moods and ability to change them, they have influenced some of the finest thoughts of the world. He quoted from Joyce Kilmer's poem, Trees . . . "Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree."

An organ solo of the familiar, "Trees," was played as the students left the chapel.

"Tomorrow" Sponsors $1,500 Contest

A $1,500 prize contest open to all officially enrolled college students throughout the United States has been announced by TOMORROW magazine, which has consistently sponsored the work of new and young writers.

The best short story and the best article will each receive a first prize of $500, while second prize in both of these categories will be $250.

The choice of subject matter for both stories and articles is left to the discretion of the contestants, although no theme is actually prohibited. Manuscripts will be judged solely on the basis of literary merit and clarity of expression.

The board of judges includes Allen Tate of the University of the South; Professor William Blackburn of Duke University; Stringfellow Barr, President of St. John's College; and Dr. Elizabeth Manwaring of Wellesley College.

TOMORROW, a magazine interested chiefly in public affairs, literature, philosophy, education and science, with emphasis on their development in the future, will publish (Cont. on page 5)

Annual Sigma Iota Kappa Banquet Features Christmas

Entertainment a Complete Success

W. F. Tarr, Principal Speaker

Beneath a sky of blue and white crepe, surrounded by winter scenes reminiscent of white Christmases, the annual Sigma Iota Kappa Banquet, given Sunday evening, December ninth, was acclaimed by all to be a complete success.

At 7:15, p. m., the college auditorium began to fill with a formally attired group of students. Entering beneath an arch hung with mistletoe, they found their places at the long tables, marked with place-cards set in pine cones, adorned with red roses, and illuminated by the soft glow of candlelight.

On the walls which formed the huge pine-tree shaped banquet hall were painted realistic winter scenes. From behind the speakers table at the apex of the pine tree. A tall silver Christmas tree, decked with tinsel and artificial snow, cast a gentle blue radiance over the hall.

During the banquet, beautiful dinner music was supplied by an ensemble directed by Mr. Engel. A quartet consisting of Orvin Fillman, Robert McManaman, Frank Bietz and Arlee Torkleson rendered several vocal numbers.

After the diners had completed their delicious repast, the master of ceremonies, Orvin Fillman, presented Art Soper, president of Sigma Iota Kappa, who welcomed the ladies. Miss Betty Yarwood replied to his welcome on behalf of Kappa Theta. The speaker of the evening, Professor W. Fletcher Tarr, was then introduced.

After Professor Tarr's speech, the banqueters left the auditorium to view a skit presented in the chapel. The play, a humorous representation of the confusing Christmas experiences of one family, was written by Francis Knittel and Morton Juberg.

AS I SEE IT

SINGLE SENIORS SEEM SO SAD

by Martial-Minded Mort

(The opinions expressed here are those of the writer and any resemblance to the living or dead is not coincidental.)

As sixth assistant vice president of NO-STAGS (New Official Society To Aid Great Seniors), head of sub committee in charge of aiding the single seniors of South Hall, it has been my great desire to aid these noble, sacrificing men, who, having spent their four years in diligent study, have neglected their social relationships now having received their placement questionnaires, are exceedingly perplexed when they come to that section which treats of marital relationships.

I had not realized what a task lay before me until I saw one of these questionnaires. It was as follows: 1. Are you married? If not, answer the following questions. 2. Are you single? If so, why? Give four convincing reasons. 3. Do you contemplate matrimony? Answer in detail on separate paper. 4. If not, why? Also in detail. 5. Do you have a car? 6. If so, who rides in your car? 7. Do you have two symphony tickets? 8. Do you listen to the music when you go to the symphony? 9. Are you attending Saturday night programs? 10. Do you go to North Hall before going to the program? 11. Are you acquainted with the Dean of Women? 12. Name six good brands of right-handed wrist watches. 13. Do you know what triplicate forms are? 14. Do you go to the library to study or . . . ?

After reading this, I thought I'd better see the seniors and ask how they were getting along. In the South Hall I found Art Soper reading a letter written in a feminine hand. He said, "I feel (xxxx) I should work (xxxx) (Censored because of threatened libel suit). Further down the hall I encountered Orvin Fillman and Walt Webb who staunchly averred they were going to be bachelor missionaries to Africa. By this time, Wilford Burgess and Ed Beck had joined the discussion. They were very firm in saying they would be single when they began their summer's work. (This is an outrageous falsehood. Why, anyone can see . . . A. Soper).

John Herr pointed significantly to his questionnaire which read: "Married? No; Children? None," while Alvin Kroehle had no comment to make. There remained but one lone senior, Leroy Albers. Surely, I thought, here was hope, but he said, "Um, kaff . . . I shall never let a woman interfere with my career." It is disheartening to view this scene and to realize how hard it will be for them to get a job. Our hearts go out to these senior men in their hour of trial and tribulation.

There is another phase of this problem. This involves the illustrious, dignified, noble, scholarly, pulchritudinous . . . ahem, single senior women. However in a way this is n't quite such a serious problem. There are many vacancies in the preceptress and single school teachers are still in demand.

Editorial

The Clock Tower Staff recognizes and accepts its propagandizing position and as representatives of the student body we wish to reflect your ideals, desires, and hopes. With occasional modifications, may we present:

Our Platform

We want soon—

1. A stronger Ministerial Association.
2. A completed gymnasium — both equipment and furnishings.
3. Uniforms for the Union College Band.

For the future—

1. Our front campus unmarred by new buildings.
2. A Student Union Building.

Our Seniors

Senior Recognition Day has brought, in a very definite way, to our consciousness the existence of the Senior Class of 1946. If we could but read the pages of history that would reveal the long years of study and labor which have made possible this occasion we could better understand the joy and pride that comes to each member of this class. We rejoice with them in their accomplishment, but we are also mindful that recognition presents a challenge to every member of the class. Union College trains for service, and we shall expect to see marked evidences of that training in the days and years to come. We shall look to them for leadership in whatever capacity they may serve, and we have confidence to believe that their service in the pulpit, classroom, hospital, or office will be characterized by love for God and humanity.

Seniors of '46, we are proud of you!

R. W. Fowler
Senior Class Sponsor

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I've just had the most enjoyable time. For fifteen minutes I've been at Union, via the CLOCK TOWER. To prove that I really read it thoroughly, I'll mention the fact that I noticed the nursery rhyme in Strasheim's Food Market ad and the "Wedgies" at Miller and Paine's.

You see, progress stops momentarily at Maplewood for the McHenry's, Prudy Ortner and I when the CLOCK TOWER comes.

Just wanted to know that we who have left UC do enjoy and appreciate your efforts to put out a good paper.

RUNAWAY

The night is nodding
In the bayous now—
The owl is calling
From the cyprus bough.

I must awaken
From my hiding here—
The wind is moving
And the sky is clear.

The moon is smiling
On the dark lagoon,
And dawn will hasten
To the valley soon.

My arms were weary
Of the plow and tray,
The canefield wagon
And the market day.

And the cane to grow—

The "Mason Dixon"
Is a long way yet—
But men give wages
For your honest sweat.

My heart is heavy
For the Southern song
But night is calling
And the road is long.

GOLDEN CORDS LAUNCHES SALES CAMPAIGN

Loewen is circulation
Manager

"Through individual cooperation each student will help make the Golden Cords campaign a success," said Josephine Griffin, Editor-in-chief of the 1945-46 yearbook.

During chapel Friday, Dec. 7, a preview of the new Golden Cords was portrayed in pantomime. All phases of student activity will be included, making it a yearbook that every student will want their friends to have.

Merlin Pierson, business manager of the Golden Cords told briefly of the plans for the new book. He stated that it will have a padded cover in a two-color scheme. The cover has already been designed by Johnny McIntosh, art editor of the annual.

Mike Loewen announced the prizes to be given at the close of the campaign. "Every person who brings in ten subscriptions will receive a free Golden Cords," Mike said. Four subs will be enough for admittance to an entertainment to be sponsored by the staff.

Religion-History Teachers' Council Held Dec. 1-4

A Religion and History Teachers' Council was held at the college on December 1-4. The purpose of the council was to bring together the academy instructors of these two subjects for considerations of plans and problems.

Elders K. L. Gant and Fatic, educational secretaries of the Northern and Central Unions, respectively, were the chairmen. Speakers on the agenda were chosen from the college faculty.

Teachers from the Northern and Central Unions were present during the four day session. Many college students who are majoring in religion or history also attended some of the meetings.

Home Ec. Group Give Program in Omaha

A Home Economics group from Union College gave a program to the Home and School Association in the Omaha, Nebraska, church on Saturday night, November 17. Those taking part in the program were: Blossom Church, Janice Larsen, Agnes Lou Nichols, Marylys Owen and Mrs. Anne Dunn.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB HEARS FOWLER

"International Trade was the subject of Prof. R. W. Fowler's discussion in the meeting of the International Relations Club, November 19.

In explaining trade of nations, Professor Fowler stated, "Trade between nations is carried on to obtain a wider variety of goods, and to circulate goods at a cheaper cost."

Two moving pictures illustrating world commerce and the destruction of the robot bomb were shown at the conclusion of the lecture.

SERVICEMAN PAYS FOR SUB WITH 15 JAP YEN

Fifteen yen in Japanese currency, equivalent to the price of one CLOCK TOWER subscription, was sent in by Pfc. Pete Roehl, who is now stationed in Osaka, Japan. The subscription was received by Miss Floda Smith, librarian, and the money was on display in the second floor bulletin board of the administration building.

FORMER SENIORS FILL PLACES OF RESPONSIBILITY

EDUCATIONAL WORK CALLS MANY

Former UC Seniors who have joined the ranks of alumni of the "College of the Golden Cords" have gone out to fill important post in all phases of denominational work.

The education work is just one phase, but it is a broad one in itself. The limits of this article will give only an insight into the field of college work. It is found that Union's alumni are represented in all North American S. D. A. senior and junior colleges.

Professor H. A. Morrison, '00, secretary of the Educational Department of the General Conference, is one of Union's own. Dr. W. H. Teesdale, associate secretary of the Educational Department of the General Conference is of the class of '13.

At the present time, two college presidents and college instructors hail from Union College.

Alumni holding places of responsibility in Seventh-day Adventist colleges are listed below.

SENIORS -- AFTER FOUR YEARS -- 1945-46

"I want to travel extensively before I become a dean of girls at an academy," was the answer given by Stacia Alexenko when asked what ambition she had. Stacia left her home in Killdeer, North Dakota, to attend Sheyenne River academy and Union College.

This little blond, who is continuously playing practical jokes on her first floor colleagues, lists home economics as her major and education and biology as her minor subjects. While at college she has served as Sabbath School Superintendent, secretary of the Ministerial Association, treasurer of the Senior Class, and prayer band leader.

Yet another aspiring missionary is Earl W. Amundson from Oakes, North Dakota. Earl reveals that he attended Roosevelt Junior High School at Aberdeen, S. D., and Plainview Academy, Redfield, S. D.

He has been a Sabbath School teacher, assistant leader of the Mission Band, leader in the Harvest Ingathering campaign and a member of the Nominating Committee. His major is religion; minors, history and speech.

Roland Babcock, a shy and pleasant fellow, plans to follow his father in the ministry. His father was Educational Secretary of South Dakota before going to Columbia, Missouri, where Roland was born.

He was a student at Plainview Academy in Redfield, South Dakota, before entering Union College three years ago. Roland lists religion as his major subject and history as his minor.

Betty Baker, an English and education major, has spent most of her life in Oklahoma. Although her home is in Banner, she attended the Union City High School before going deeper south to Keene, Texas.

At Southwestern Junior college, Betty was president of the Culture Club, a prayer band leader, secretary of the Sabbath School and a Progressive Class leader. She has been secretary of the Spanish Club, prayer band leader and a Sabbath School teacher at Union.

Whenever there's speechmaking to do, we quite often find Edwin Beck of Jamestown, N. D., doing it. A popular member of the class, he is finding himself frequently called upon to "put over" campaigns. Ed, a ministerial student with history and speech minors, hopes to be a minister.

Offices held include: Sabbath School chorister, deacon in College View church, prayer band leader. He is currently president and business manager of the Clock Tower and is to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

He attended Woodworth high school before coming here.

Virgene Westermeyer-Buck, Okeene, Okla., is perhaps one of the busier seniors this year. She is keeping house, going to school and acting as secretary to President Cossentine.

She is associate editor of the Golden Cords, was associate MV leader, has been a prayer band leader, Sabbath School teacher and vice president of the Business Club, and is listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." While attending Southern Junior College she edited the "Scroll" and was secretary of the Travel Club.

She has an English major and minors in speech and education. Besides S. J. C., she attended Pisgah Institute. In spite of all her extracurricular activities, her ambition is to be "a good wife."

Wilford Burgess is a serious-appearing chap, but not too serious to be a (Fort Worth) Texan. He has a religion major and history minor and plans to be a pastor-evangelist.

He has been a chorister for the Mission Band and for the MV society. He is a Sabbath School teacher, and sings in the male quartet, the male trio, and in the church choir. He has attended Southwestern Junior College and Union College Academy.

Harold Burr, of Wichita, Kans., is another senior who aspires to the ministry. He has the usual religion major and history minor.

He has held a variety of offices including being superintendent and secretary of the Sabbath School, chorister for the Mission Band, member of the Student-Faculty Council, prayer band leader and Harvest Ingathering leader. His name is to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," and he is at present directing Progressive class work.

Before coming here he attended Wichita High School East.

Mildred Caviness of Nevada, Iowa, is an even-tempered lass with a contented smile. The rest of the world may tromp on your feet and harrow your feelings, but never Mildred.

She will have an English major and religion and education minors and is prepared for secondary teaching. She has attended the Shipley, Iowa, high school, and Oak Park Academy. Mildred has been one of the North Hall prayer band leaders.

Mackay Christianson of Hinckley, Minn., has been honored by being chosen president of his class. A ministerial student with a history minor he is hoping to be sent as a foreign missionary.

He is also president of the Young Married Couples Club, a member of the church choir, on the religious activities committee and leader of the Mission Band, Asia division. He attended Hinckley

High School, Maplewood Academy and LaSierra College.

Hazel "Texie" Clifford of El Paso, Texas, probably has a wider circle of friends and acquaintances in Union and vicinity than most students have time for.

She has majored in home economics, minored in religion; attended Ysleta High School, and University of Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy. She took a year out to learn hair dressing.

"Gracious" is the word for Madelaine Douma of LeMars, Iowa. During her four years here she has successfully demonstrated the fact that a "lady" is not necessarily one of leisure. She has majored in secretarial science and has English and education minors.

Besides Union she attended LeMars High School, Oak Park Academy, and one summer at Western Union College. Offices she has held include secretary-treasurer lower division K. D. L., secretary senior class, prayer band leader, associate leader of MV, senior representative on Nominating Committee, social editor of Clock Tower, secretary-treasurer of Business Club. Her name will be listed in 1945-46 "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Ida Edgerton of Casper, Wyo., has a special brand (maybe the Wyoming) of friendliness and good humor. She has a double major in education and Spanish, and secretarial and history minors. She attended College View High School. Other "schools she has attended" include a host of church schools where she was the teacher.

Her ambition now is to train young people (probably on the secondary level) for a place in the work of God.

Following in the footsteps of his father and brothers, Orvin Fillman also wishes to tell others of the "Third Angel's Message."

His singing and reading will be remembered by his many college friends. Orvin, who comes from Vinita, Oklahoma, lists religion as his major and history and speech as his minors. He reveals that he was a student at Oak Park academy and Southwestern Junior college.

Orvin's active college life has included such offices as circulation manager of Clock Tower, prayer band leader, Sabbath School teacher, president of the Ministerial Association, vice-president of Sigma Iota Kappa, and Deacon of the College View Church.

It is hard to believe that Jamie Chandler-Halverson of Stamford, Texas, can accomplish what she is. She is not only keeping house for her husband, who will receive his D.D.S. next summer, but she is also working toward her own degree and assisting in the home economics department.

Jamie has been the pianist for the Colporteur Club, a prayer band leader, secretary of Upper Division King's Daughters' League, and program chairman for the Home Economics Club. While attending S. W. J. C., she sang in the choir and was the circulation manager for the Mizpah, the college annual.

She has a home economics major and minors in history and education. Before going to S. W. J. C., she attended Stamford High School.

Vernon Heglund did not reveal his ambitions, but he did say that he was from the land of snow and 10,000 lakes. Yes, he is from Minneapolis, Minnesota.

He has been kept quite busy in college with his student work and other offices such as being the leader of the Seminar, prayer band leader, secretary of Sigma Iota Kappa, secretary of the Missionary Volunteer Society, and a member of the House Committee.

Vernon, a ministerial student, will graduate with minors in history and speech. Central High School and Maplewood Academy claim him as a former student.

John Herr is an engaging and lively young blood from McClusky, North Dakota. His past includes years at McClusky High School and Sheyenne River Academy. His present focuses on the ministerial course at Union, featuring a major in religion and minors in history and education and the holding of offices such as prayer band leader, Ministerial Association chorister, secretary-treasurer of Sigma Iota Kappa, Sabbath School teacher and treasurer of the International Relations Club. His future holds a full life in ministerial work.

Delmer Holbrook, with his sunny California personality, greets you. "Dink," the little man who is always there, has been an active leader and participant in many activities at Union. His name will be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

His other offices include: executive editor of Clock Tower, managing-editor of Clock Tower, secretary-treasurer of Junior Class, vice-president of Sigma Iota Kappa, lieutenant in M. C. C., and student supervisor of the college gym.

Delmer has a double major in religion and history and a double minor in speech and education. His home is in Fresno, California; his ambition is to be a dean of men.

Another quiet and unassuming gentleman is Lee Kretz, from Shattuck, Okla. Lee attended Shattuck

High School, Southwestern Junior College, Pacific Union College, and came to Union this year as a senior. Graduating with a major in religion and a minor in speech he has been a prayer band leader and a Sabbath School teacher. His life ambition is to be an evangelist.

Alvin Kroehle comes to Union College from the "show me state" of Missouri.

Alvin probably has the distinction of attending more colleges than any other member of the Senior Class. He has studied at Rollins College, St. Louis University, the University of Missouri and Union College.

Marion Lockwood, Harper, Kansas, is another senior taking the ministerial course. His major is in religion and his minors in history and business.

He is a serious-minded chap who plans to devote his life doing his part in the ministerial and evangelistic work of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination.

SENIORS -- AFTER FOUR YEARS -- 1945-46

He attended Harper High School before coming to Union College where he was appointed elder of the College View Church, the chorister in the Mission and Ministerial Bands, a prayer band leader and a Sabbath School teacher.

Raymond Lunt of Kansas City, Mo., is a genial and well-liked member of his class. He has a ministerial major and a history minor. His aim, he says, is to be a successful minister. He has been a Sabbath School teacher and is currently serving as College View church elder.

When thinking of a music teacher, one would naturally think of Lillian Mantz. Lillian, a senior from Bazine, Kansas, will be remembered as a pianist and organist of no little ability and imagination.

Lillian has a music major and minors in history and education; her ambition is to teach. She attended the high school in her home town before finishing at Enterprise Academy.

At Union, Lillian has been kept busy being the secretary-treasurer of Kappa Theta; pianist for the Sabbath School, Ministerial Association and Mission Band.

Joyce Lyon Marks, Brock, Neb., is also keeping house and finishing school. One of the quieter members of the class, her interests lie in secretarial training (in which she has a major), and music, in which she is minorning, as well as in education.

She attended Brock High School. Her ambitions: to travel and to be a good housewife.

H. H. Mattison, the pastor of the Senior Class, is under appointment to return to India where he has spent twelve years in educational work.

Mr. Mattison, who is getting a major in religion and a minor in history, has revealed much of the culture, life, and ideals of the people of India in his talks on various occasions.

He was vice-president of his Senior Class at Southwestern Junior college. He went to Pacific Union college before enrolling for his senior year at Union.

His home is at Keene, Texas.

Marlys Plinke-Owen is one of these courageous girls who plans to combine a career with housekeeping. Now that she has done enough housekeeping to have it down pat, Marlys is back to prepare for English teaching. She will have minors in speech and education.

Activities here include being president of Kappa Theta, literary editor of the Golden Cords, vice-president of the Literary Club, and prayer band leader. Her name will appear in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

"Flashy" Marcus Payne is the forward on the basketball team who is always under the basket at the right time to "sink" the ball.

Like many ministerial students, Marcus wishes to go to a mission field. His major is religion with minors in history and education.

His college activities include: vice-president of the Education Club, treasurer of the sophomore class and Sabbath School teacher. Marcus attended Shenandoah Valley and Union College academies.

The president and business manager of the Golden Cords who is carrying much of the responsibility in making this yearbook a success is Merlin Pierson.

In addition to his work on the yearbook, he has served as secretary of the Sabbath School, Home Missionary secretary for the college, Sabbath School teacher, and member of the Nominating Committee. His name will be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

This capable ministerial student from Gatzke, Minnesota, has the ambition to go into the evangelistic work either at home or abroad.

Quiet Alpha Rahn, from the tall-corn state of Iowa, is one of the sweetest, most loyal and dependable girls in the Senior Class. Last year Alpha had one of the excellent worship records in North Hall. She was absent only when ill or out of town.

Alpha comes from a Council Bluffs' family of Unionites. Her father, brother and sister were former students here. Her major is biology; her minors are religion and education. She revealed that she attended Oak Park Academy and taught school in Missouri. She plans to teach again and "enjoy everything she does as she does it."

Alpha has been one of the North Hall prayer band leaders and is now doing an excellent job in committee work in the upper division K. D. L.

Hilda Fern Remley, of Dallas, Texas, probably takes more time out of school work to make friends than almost anyone else in her class. Even all of the freshmen are acquainted with her.

She is vice-president of the senior class, just as she was of the junior class last year.

She has served as president of Kappa Theta, superintendent of Sabbath School, and prayer band leader. Her name will appear in

"Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Hilda has an English major and a history minor and previously attended Southwestern Junior College. She says her ambition is "to enjoy life fully, which means to travel in Minnesota and live in Texas."

Charles Robbins is another religion major who looks to the far horizons of the mission fields. Whether it be India or another land, it is his ambition "to go where the Lord calls."

Charles, who lives in Lincoln at the present, went to Fruitvale High School and Mesa Junior College in Grand Junction, Colorado. He was secretary of the Speech Club in junior college and has taught many Sabbath School classes at Union.

He has taken his minors in history and foreign languages.

Roberta Pogue-Saunders, a native of Lincoln, is the class's registered nurse. She will receive her bachelor of science degree with a major in nursing and a minor in biology.

She has served as vice-president of Kappa Theta and as a Sabbath School teacher. Schools she has attended include Union College Academy, Shelton Academy and New England Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing.

Arthur Soper's public appearances take turns being awfully dignified and downright funny. The uncertainty keeps audiences on their toes.

The fact that "you can depend on good old Art" is always getting him on committees and into offices like these: president of Sigma Iota Kappa, leader of Mission Band, superintendent of Sabbath School, junior class president, prayer band leader, and advertising manager of the Clock Tower. His name is to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

He attended the high school in his home town, Medicine Lodge, Kansas. He is getting a major in religion and minors in history and biology and plans to be a minister.

Clarence Schmidt, who comes from the "big town," New York City, is one of the class's doctors-to-be. Having earned a biology major and chemistry and history minors, he will enter Loma Linda as a medical student next fall.

He has been a student here for three years, and before that attended Seward Park High School in New York City.

After teaching school in Florida for a short time, Esther Stout, Texarkana, Texas, has come to Union to get her degree.

Esther is taking a liberal arts course with a major in history and minors in Spanish and music.

She attended Southwestern Junior College and is waiting the return of her husband from overseas. She has been secretary of the Spanish Club, a prayer band leader, treasurer of International Relations Club, and a Sabbath School teacher.

Texas, literature and ambition are synonymous with the name of Coramae French-Thomas.

It is understandable that this senior from San Antonio is majoring in her favorite subject—English. Her minors reveal that she is also interested in speech and education. Coramae wishes to write a book, go to Alaska, be a doctor's wife, to graduate and on and on!

She attended Brackenridge high school and Southwestern Junior college. "Tommy's" name is listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." She has been the assistant editor of the Golden Cords, summer editor of the Clock Tower and a prayer band leader at Union. The responsibility as editor of the yearbook was hers at S. W. J. C. as was the leadership of the MV Society.

Charles Tidwell adds new color to the pattern by planning and preparing to teach mathematics and history, his major subjects. Perhaps to be a dean of men, too.

He has learned the theory and correct teaching procedures in his classes in education. Charles, too, has gained practical experience and added knowledge by grading algebra and trigonometry papers and assisting Dr. E. B. Ogden in the mathematics department.

From his home in Houston, Texas, Charles went to Jefferson to attend Berea junior academy before going on to Southwestern Junior College and Union College.

Ernest W. Voyles, Kansas City, Mo., is one of the many seniors who have families of their own in the village. A ministerial student, he has accepted a ministerial internship in Minnesota for next year. He hopes some day to be a foreign missionary, however.

While here he has been MV secretary and chorister for the Mission Band. This year he is advertising manager for the Clock Tower and a Sabbath School teacher. He has headed Harvest In-gathering bands two years.

Schools attended: Rosedale and Argentine High schools in Kansas City, Kans. He has history and speech minors.

Valerie Ware of Wichita, Kans., is still as exuberant as a freshman. A naturally sociable creature, Valerie enjoys life thoroughly and still makes good grades. She is getting a business administration major, and minors in education, history and biology. She has attended Enterprise Academy.

Offices she has held here include: secretary-treasurer and typist for Clock Tower; associate Sabbath School superintendent, secretary-treasurer for Kappa Theta, president of upper division K. D. L., and prayer band leader.

Not a dead serious gal, Valerie's present ambition is to be able to skate backwards, using only her skates! She'll grow up!

Walter Webb, religion major, claims Jefferson, Texas, as his home. After attending Jefferson junior academy, he went to Madison College, Southwestern Junior college and then to Union College.

His minors in history, education and music will be very beneficial to him when he begins his work in the ministerial field.

Walter was treasurer of the Junior Class last year. He has also been the chorister for the MV Society, Sabbath School teacher, prayer band leader, assistant circulation manager of the Clock Tower, and a member of the Social Committee.

The amazing thing about David Whetstone, a tall Texan from Keene, is that he has not only worked his complete way through college, but he has also worked part of his wife's way through.

His ambition to teach should also be realized in the near future. Before coming to Union, Dave attended the Valley Grande Academy in Weslaco, Texas, and Southwestern Junior College.

He has two majors in religion and history and a minor in education.

SENIORS AFTER FOUR YEARS 1945-46

The interests of Eugene Burley center not merely around his classwork but also on his home and small son.

Eugene's years of canvassing experience and his business major and religion minor will aid him in the work he wishes to do in the future—to be a manager of a Book and Bible House or a treasurer of a conference.

His earlier years were spent in and around the "big" city of Chicago. He attended Broadview Academy and was business manager of the academy paper when he was at Emmanuel Missionary College.

His home, at present, is in Lincoln.

Beth Cadenhead is another Texan who was graduated from S. W. J. C. before entering Union.

"Bethy" is the easy-going and cheerful senior who draws out a southern "goodnight" to her third floor cherubs at 9:58 each evening.

Her major is religion with education and biology minors; her wish is to be a dean of girls. Beth has been a Sabbath School teacher, secretary of the Ministerial Association, vice-president of Kappa Theta; she has been a member of the Religious Activities, Recreation and North Hall House committees.

Herbert Hill, a former resident of Redfield, South Dakota, attended Plainview Academy before moving to College View.

His is the usual religion major with a minor in history. However, he will do the unusual by taking a two years post-graduate course receiving an extra major in accounting and business administration and minors in speech and education.

Listed among Herb's extra-curricular college activities are: M. V.

leader, Sabbath School teacher, prayer band leader, a member of the Nominating Committee and the Student-Faculty Council, staff photographer for the Golden Cords, vice-president of I. R. C., Captain, Medical Cadet Corps, Commanding Officer for the Junior M. C. C., and associate Sabbath School superintendent of the College View Church.

From the small town of Clarksdale in the southern part of the very southern state of Mississippi, comes Vernice Jones.

Vernice, who will graduate with a major in religion and minors in home economics and education, plans to take dietetics, teach school, and "work directly with souls in the vineyard of the Lord."

She attended Greenwood High School in Mississippi and Oakwood College in Alabama. Vernice played in the band and orchestra at Oakwood College, was secretary of the M. V. Society, and secretary of the Ministerial Seminar. At Union she is now serving on the Personality Committee of the King's Daughters' League; she is also secretary of the Sabbath School and Missionary Leader at the Allon Chapel Church.

"I want to have fun in life," is the wish of a senior who will graduate in summer school and answers to the name of Betty Yarwood. Betty was a student at Benson High school in Omaha before coming to Lincoln.

She is majoring in English and minoring in history and education—with emphasis placed on elementary education. Perhaps she wishes to teach the elementary grades 1-3 because of her counseling experience with Camp Fire Girls at summer camps.

Listed among Betty's extra-curricular activities while in college are: president of Kappa Theta, girls' leader of the Clock Tower Campaign, Social Committee, secretary of French Club, literary editor of Golden Cords, sports editor of Clock Tower, and prayer band leader.

Clock Tower Union College ACADEMY

VARIETY IN CHAPEL SPEAKERS

Woods

Dr. Woods, the college dean, presented his "Secret of Success" on November 27. It is better to aim too high than too low because "the aim, if reached or not, makes great the man," and one must have a positive purpose to succeed.

Sundin

Elder Sundin, pastor of the Lincoln church, was chapel speaker on November 29. "As a man thinketh, so is he" was his theme. Joseph, Moses, and Timothy are examples of young men who were clear thinkers. The greatest need today is serious-minded young men and women who are not afraid to resist evil.

Buckwalter

Every successful person has an ambition. As the runners in the Thanksgiving race exerted their energy to gaining the finish line, so our ultimate goal or "Big Idea" should be a home in heaven. This was the thought brought out by Elder Buckwalter on the 30th of November.

NEWS NOTES

The following academy basketball players were in line-up that defeated the village team 28-22: Kenny Hill, Gene Reid, Don Tarr, Bobby Loomer, and Dick Warner. Good work boys! The academy can do things!

Franklin Risely has built himself a new doghouse—at least he says it's big enough so that he can get in. To hear him describe it, one gets the idea that it's a classy dwelling for a dog. It is roofed with four-ply roofing, has glass windows, and a real door, and is insulated against heat or cold with feathers.

Ray Yeakle says he has a new toy, a Harley Davidson motorcycle. He is enjoying spinning it and down the streets and is planning a long trip during Christmas vacation.

Ignacio Carrillo, student from Columbia, was the guest speaker at the Youth's Sabbath School on November 1. Lois Lowry was his translator.

ART SUTTON HAS FREAKISH ACCIDENT

Art Sutton's heretofore peaceful existence among friends was shattered several weeks ago when he found himself locked out of his room. In attempt to enter his own South Hall domicile, Art desperately climbed up to the open transom; then in his anxiety to get down, he fell, and great was his fall. A broken arm and broken spectacles spelled Sir Sutton's fate. The next day he was proudly displaying an autographed cast in a gay figured sling. Such difficulties did not end Art's streak of luck, however. He was in the hospital for several days recovering but is back in the dorm again feeling much better.

Campus Visitors

LaRue and Lorean Vercio were home from Campion Academy over the week end of November 21-25 to visit their mother and their brother Raymond, who was home on furlough. They like Campion very well.

Forrest Paap, class of '41, in the Marines, is home and up for a discharge. Dean Paap, in the Navy, was also here from Kansas on a visit.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL AND VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT DEC. 19

ACADEMY CAGERS DOWN VILLAGE IN 28-22 VICTORY

What a game! . . . you didn't see it? Say, you really missed something. That was one of the best basketball games that UC has had this year. Exciting!

There was a large crowd to see that game, Saturday night the 24th; and rightly so, for the Village played the Academy. The two teams put on a good "show" and it was close to the very last point. The final score stood 28 to 22 in favor of the Academy.

A fighting game with thrilling and hard-made baskets had everyone sitting on the edge of their seats. Maynard Versaw put 11 points through the net for the Village; Kenny Hill with 11 points and Gene Reed with 8 points for the Academy.

Say, why don't you come out to the next game and enjoy life with the rest?

Dwight P. Griswold, Governor of the State of Nebraska, addressing the student body and faculty of Union College in chapel on November 28.

SPINDLE BITS

With the "time on her hands" Miss Joyce Erickson is proudly and happily displaying "the time of her life." Two-timer!?

Those remaining at Union during the holidays enjoyed visualizing what Union College life would be like if textbooks were permanently abolished and the persistent class bells forgotten. "Intolerable montony after the third day!" declared one lonesome left-behind.

A little bit of Texas entertained Edwina Bowen as she spent Thanksgiving vacation here at Union. Her father and mother and small brother, Kenneth visited over the week-end.

We are happy and relieved to see that the "flu has flown" from the many who have been entertaining the popular influenza the past few weeks. Our sincere wishes for a speedy recovery of those to whom aching backs are still a reality.

"The Home of Good Books"

And then there was the absent minded professor, Elder Rowland, who was standing talking to his wife in the fruit room of their basement. Upon leaving the room he absent mindedly locked his wife in and went out-of-doors. Other occupants of the home heard repeated poundings on the door and came to her rescue.

Ellsworth Reile was leisurely putting on his coat in the lobby of the dinning hall. One of the visiting teachers of the recent council interrupted, "At which one of our academies do you teach?" (What did you say to that honest question, Ellsworth?)
