

E.D. Dick Speaks Alumni Banquet

Fowler Chosen President To Serve Coming Year

"The Place of Union College in the World Today" was the topic of an after-dinner speech given May 24 at the annual banquet of the Alumni Association of Union College by Elder E. D. Dick, secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, located at Washington, D. C. Union's place in the past, according to Elder Dick, has been large. This is shown by the fact that, speaking in round numbers, out of the 5,000 missionaries sent out to foreign countries by the Seventh-day Adventists, 500 have been students of Union College. Union was founded on principles of service; and Elder Dick said the source of her past strength lay in the "adherence to ideals and objectives as envisioned by the founding fathers and made clear by guiding boards and faculties through the course of years."

If Union is to continue to do in the future as great a work as she has done in the past, then she should not allow herself to be tied by one thread of worldly policy. If she reaches the standards set by God she need have no fear of educational association committees.

The requisites for a successful school, Elder Dick said, are (1) a sympathetic board, (2) a united faculty, (3) a co-operative student body, (4) a satisfied constituency, and (5) a loyal alumni. The teacher in his work, he explained, should not consider his work finished when he leaves the classroom, but he should live before his pupils the ideals which he endeavors to teach.

According to Elder Dick the leaders of the denomination expect the worldwide work to grow larger when this war is over, and in order to be prepared for that time, the General Conference plans to set up centers of training and translation in the homeland where our youth may be trained for a specific field.

Elder Dick said that he had the interests of Union College at heart, for he himself is an alumnus and in two generations his family has spent approximately sixty-six years at Union.

Other speakers of the evening were D. D. Rees, editor of the Christian Record, who presented M. E. Kern, and F. E. Breese, principal of Union College Academy, who presented J. N. Anderson as honor members of the association. President Rulkoetter presented the senior class, and Clarence Duffield, president of the class, gave the response.

A short business session was held in connection with the banquet. The new officers chosen were: Ray Fowler, professor of Business Administration and Economics at Union College, president; W. A. Nelson, Educational Secretary for the Indiana Conference, first vice-president; David Bieber, principal of Maplewood Academy, second vice-president; Irma Watt, instructor of Secretarial Training at Union College, treasurer; Dr. Frank Lopp, of Lincoln, Nebraska, executive board member. The secretary will be appointed by the executive board. Mr. E. E. Hagen, superintendent of the Union College bookbindery, is the retiring president.

Chamber music was furnished by the Engels' Ensemble.

Elementary Teachers Making New Course of Study For Three Unions

A group of experienced teachers have been sent to Union College this summer for the purpose of working on a Course of Study for Grades One to Eight. This committee represents three unions, namely, the Central, Northern, and Southwestern.

Professor Cadwallader is in charge of this work, and his critic teachers, Maurine Peterson and Frances Stoddard, are working with him, representing the Central Union.

Inter-Union M.C.C. Camp Held At Union

The Central Corps Area Medical Cadet Corps Camp conducted at Union College May 26 to June 15 is the best such camp ever held since the beginning of the Medical Corps training program according to Major E. N. Dick, Director of Cadet Training for the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The officers in command were: Camp Commander, Major Everett Dick, General Conference Director of Cadet Training.

Second in command, Captain Walter B. Crawford. Adjutant, Captain Ansel B. Carrick.

First Aid Instructor, Second Lieutenant J. B. Ross, Camp Pastor of the Southwestern Union.

Chaplain, Elder Wilbur Holbrook, Bible Teacher at Sheyenne River Academy.

Special Lecturer, Elder Carlyle B. Haynes, Secretary, Commission on National Service and Medical Cadet Training.

Sixty men were in attendance at the camp, including seven candidates for officer's training. Six of those who took officer's training are now scheduled to conduct or assist with Medical Cadet training elsewhere. Second Lt. Ronald Streeter will teach at Shelton Academy; Second Lt. Wilbur Holbrook, at Sheyenne River Academy; Second Lt. John Lauer, at Forest Lake Academy, Maitland, Florida; Second Lt. Guy Overlees, a group at Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Second Lt. Allen Schwandt will assist at Plainview Academy; and First Sergeant Richard McBride, a student of Adelpian Academy. Second Lt. Lyle Christianson is from Ute, Iowa.

Haynes Represents War Commission

Lectures on Adventist Position, Principles

Elder Carlyle B. Haynes, of the Seventh-day Adventist War Service Commission, conducted a series of sixteen meetings on the denominational principle of non-combatancy and governmental relationships during the Medical Cadet Corps camp held at Union College, May 26 to June 14.

Our position as non-combatants and the Biblical foundation for it were stressed by Elder Haynes in his meetings. The differences between non-combatancy as maintained by Seventh-day Adventists and conscious objection to war and pacifism were thoroughly studied.

Open forums were held in which the men were given opportunity to discuss Selective Service problems. Among the subjects discussed were registration, classification, physical examinations, induction, and military assignments.

Elder Haynes also spoke on Sabbath observance in the Army and explained the difference between voluntary enlistment and the draft. In connection with the latter topic he brought out the principles involved in applying for Army commissions.

Global Narration

This last month has seen more milestones of conflict passed by the Allies than any previous thirty days. The last six months have seen the Allies slowly retreat over ground strewn with the carnage of their worthy dead, the yoke of Herr Hitler press the heads of conquered Europe closer to the dust, the most vicious, terrible rapine forward march by the Japanese ever recounted since the days of the Huns, Russia paying dearly for every muddy mile won or lost. Slowly now the historic wheel of retribution completes its full swing. Allied production now equals and surpasses the combined outlay of Japan, Italy, and Germany. Vast Allied armies, now probably superior to those of the enemy, stand ready to retaliate in kind. June 14, Flag Day, saw 1,365,000,000 peoples in 27 nations pledge fealty to erase aggression from the earth and establish a just, inviolable peace for future security.

On May 22, the United States launched 21 big ships, a two-ship-a-day crescendo, a 500 percent increase in shipbuilding since Pearl Harbor.

May 27 saw the general recruiting of women in test areas in America for war work. This W.A.A.C. already has three different officers' uniforms with matching or contrasting skirts.

Memorial Day saw two prominent men, Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, make speeches pointing out U. S. policies and international duties in a post-war world.

Welcome to Union By New President

Definite Plans Being Laid Now For Fall Term

A sincere and hearty welcome to the host of our students who are coming to Union this year!

In the year that is before us we will face many issues, but there is one issue that even in these strenuous times cannot be passed by nor neglected, "College." Our government in many ways and in numerous pronouncements has urged that every young man and every young woman endeavor to secure more education. It has been emphasized over and over that those who are in our colleges today will be the leaders of tomorrow.

For all of us there is no time to lose. We do not know what the future will bring. We find many things trying to pull us away from college, many so-called opportunities, but all these are pitfalls in our paths and must not be permitted to obscure our real objective.

Union College is a Christian college with Christian teachers whose influence is toward that which is noble and high. Union College has a strong faculty well prepared for their work. Every department is well equipped to take care of your needs.

Just now we are in the midst of the largest summer school we have had for a number of years, and we are also busy getting everything ready for you next fall.

Have you sent in your application? If not, send it in at once. If you do not have a blank, write to us and one will be sent.

We believe that our young people can do no better than attend one of our schools. The call is more urgent today than ever before. We believe that the end of all things is near at hand. We have no time to lose. It is a time to think seriously of your future and what your responsibility is and then prepare definitely for your life's work. We expect a good school this year, and we urge every young person to be in training for God.

E. E. COSENTINE

Medical Cadet Corps Busy From Early Morn to Night

"Oh I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up this morning. I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up at all.

The Corporal's worse than the Private, The Sergeant's worse than the Corporal, The Captain's worse than the Sergeant, And the General's worse than 'em all."

Gaily the notes rang out as the bugler called the M.C.C. from its bed at 5:50 each morning to begin the day which was packed full of drill and classes.

Immediately after rising and dressing, the boys prepared for quarters inspection, which was really an inspection. The officers looked under the beds and in the closets for any bit of dirt which might be lurking there. In fact they even inspected the mirror for the smallest water spot. After about the fourth day their search was unrewarded, for the boys had learned to do their own inspecting first. Next the bugle played the worship call and all gathered in room 202 of the administration building for worship. "Soupy, soupy without a single bean; Porky, porky (protose) without a bit of lean. Chow time."

And what a welcome sound it was to every hungry man's ears. They filed into the dining room through the back door, which ordinarily is never used, and each took his appointed place at a particular table. The part of the dining room referred to as the "annex" was reserved for the Medical Cadet Corps. A mess sergeant was in charge and army discipline was maintained.

After breakfast came the flag raising and then a half-hour of calisthenics. Next "Hep, 2, 3, 4, Cadets count!" rang out; and so lustily did they count that it was hard for the summer school teachers to compete with them, at least in volume of sound. Around and across the campus the "soldiers" marched and halted, right-about-faced and double-quickened.

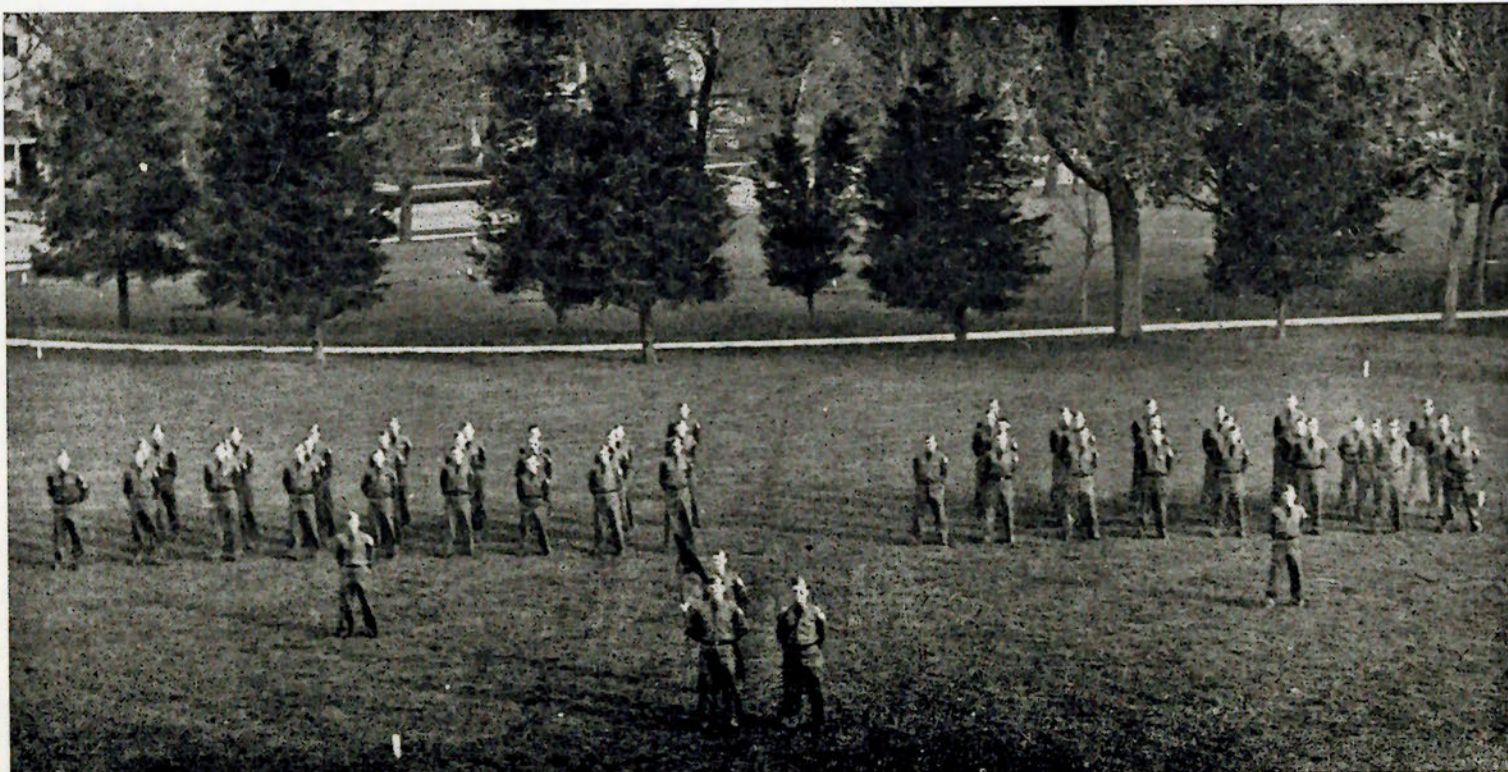

A while before dinner the marching and the counting ceased, and the "soldiers" learned how to administer first aid. After dinner an hour was spent in study, and then all listened to a lecture on "Military Medical Science." Next in order was more first aid, followed by a shout and a splash; the boys were taking a swim in the pool. Supper followed the swim. Then "Hep, 2, 3, 4" until time to the flag. The last activity of the day was another lecture on "Military Medical Science." Then to bed at 10:00 p. m.

That was the usual day's program, but the lessons might be varied. Of course litter drill, artificial respiration, and various ways of carrying the wounded were included. The maneuvers for one afternoon included a hike to Roberts Park. The "wounded" were picked up in an alfalfa field along the way. A part of the maneuvers included practice in cover and concealment from airplanes. Also, as every one on the campus at least knows, there were two nights of guard duty; and far into the night the otherwise peaceful slumbers of many a full-time worker were disturbed by "Halt! Who goes there?"

Union College was happy to be host to this group of men. It was here at Union that the Medical Corps work began. The faculty of Union voted to have such a unit in the fall of 1933, and the first meeting of the Corps, with Mr. E. N. Dick in charge, was on January 1, 1934.

Garden and Friends

"Who makes a garden
Works with God."

He not only works with God but also makes friends of his fellowmen. Somewhere down deep in the soul of all civilized people at least is a love of the beautiful, and one way of expressing this love is by making a flower garden. And how many times when you have been working in your garden has a neighbor stopped and admired the flowers and perhaps offered some friendly, helpful suggestion, or maybe he has asked some advice of you.

Neither is it always a neighbor who stops to watch you work and pass the time of day. Sometimes it is a stranger, but he too is interested in flowers, and before he passes on another link has been forged for your friendship chain.

Then there are the bouquets. No one delights in making a beautiful garden but never picking a flower. Accordingly you send flowers from your garden to old Mrs. Peabody, who is a shut-in, and you send some to little Rsece when he has he measles. Moreover, you send some to cantankerous old Mr. Shultz when he fell and broke his leg. And thus it goes. Each in his turn rises up and calls you blessed. Yes, he and makes friends of his fellowmen, and that fills to overflowing his cup of joy in life.

Works with God."

POET'S CORNER

Laughter

Wisdom is the guidepost
Set beside the road;
Patience is the worker,
Bearer of the load.
Straight ahead Ambition
Leads you day by day;
Laughter is the comrade
All along the way.

Don't you ever lose him,
Don't you ever part
From the merry fellow;
Hold him to your heart.
There will come a moment,
There will come a mile
When the hill to master,
You will need a smile.

Wisdom may desert you,
Judgment may go wrong,
Patience in disaster
Is not overstrong;
Even your ambition
That may falter too,
But the gift of laughter
That will get you through.

M.C.C. Members Appreciate Camp

The boys in training at the Medical Cadet Corps camp have come and gone, and most of us are glad. Not because we were not sympathetic with their needs and appreciative of what they were trying to do, but because we did not like to hear the bugle morning, noon, and night—especially at morning. And I suppose that we did not appreciate to its fullest extent "guard duty"; therefore we are glad that it is all over!

There were boys here from all over the Central Corps area, and even some beyond. Some boys came from Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Michigan. Some came from Missouri, Wyoming, Kansas, Colorado, and Nebraska. Others came from Mississippi, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas. Even Florida was represented. These boys came in order to learn how to be better prepared for army life when their turn comes to go. What were their reactions to the camp?

Some of them said that they too were annoyed by the bugle blowing, but they obeyed its summons nevertheless. One boy in telling of the camp said that even though he came a week late he felt that he had gained a blessing. He said that when he looked forward to service in the army he felt "more thankful for taking time out to attend the Medical Cadet Corps camp."

Most all of the boys stressed the fact that they had gained a deeper Christian experience while here. For some of them it was the first time to come in contact with a large number of our believers and they were glad for that privilege.

In referring to future army service, one boy said, "Now I do not fear for what I shall say when I go before the Army officers, for I know what to say." Another said, "I know I am better able

Our Teacher

Who gives herself to mental toil
And often burns the midnight oil;
To study standards always loyal—?
Our Teacher.

Who sometimes has to "board around"
Where "peace and plenty" isn't found;
Where inconveniences abound?
The Teacher.

Who builds the fires, cleans the floor?
Who patches shades and mends the door?
Who does a hundred tasks or more?
'Tis Teacher.

Who uses textbooks worn and few,
And works to make the old stuff do?
Who seldom has a thing that's new?
Well, Teacher.

Who works for wages rather small?
Who sometimes has to for them call,
And even then can't get them all?
Your Teacher.

Who bears with patience our complaint
While we her failures boldly paint?
Who really ought to be a saint?
Why, Teacher.

Sometimes we think if we could go
Into the classroom thus and so,
Much good advice we could bestow—
On Teacher.

If grade cards give a poor report
How quick we are to make retort,
"Well, she's not worthy our support—"
This Teacher!!

"She thinks our Tommy is a fool.
Her discipline is really cruel!
He's better off in public school!
That Teacher!"

Oh Father, Mother, should she be Condemned for all the bad we see
Inherited from you and me?
Poor Teacher!

Consider how she lives each day
To guide her children in the way;
To show them how to work and pray.
Dear Teacher!

Who loves our wayward girls and boys
With all their nonsense, pranks, and noise
And shares with each their tears and joys?
Kind Teacher.

Who lifts her heart in earnest prayer
Beside her humble bedside there
To cast on Christ her heavy care?
Your Teacher.

Who in God's firmament shall shine
With starry glory, all divine
Surpassing brilliance of that of mine?
Blest Teacher!

—J. H. RHOADS

(Quoted from the Pacific Union Recorder.)

A Prayer

These are the gifts I ask of Thee, Spirit Serene;
Strength for the daily task,
Courage to face the road,
Good cheer to help me bear the traveler's load,
And for the hours of rest that come between
An inward joy in all things heard and seen.

These are the sins I fain
Would have you take away:
Malice and cold disdain,
Hot anger, sullen hate,
Scorn of the lowly, envy of the great,
And discontent that casts a shadow gray
On all the brightness of the common day.

These are the things I prize
And hold of dearest worth:
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forests, comfort of the grass,
Music of birds, murmur of little rills.
Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass,
And, after showers,
The smell of flowers
And of the good brown earth—
And, best of all, along the way, friendship
And mirth.

Elder Haynes Speak In Vespers, Church

"Uncertainty" is the keyword which expresses the state of mind of the world today, Elder C. B. Haynes, secretary of the War Commission of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, told a group of students and Medical Corps men gathered in the Union College chapel at the regular vesper hour on June 5. He said that like a rat in a trap, many in the world today feel that there is no way out. This feeling of insecurity is not only throughout the world, but also among the men who are to be inducted into the army. The very fact that both the serial number and order number are selected by chance gives a feeling that mere chance is ruling the lives of men.

Nevertheless this is not so. Just where we are God wants us; and, Elder Haynes said, the same God who watched over men of old can guide the hand of a blindfolded man who is picking opaque capsules out of a fish bowl. He knew this war was coming and planned for it. "His hand is still on the lever of the world," Elder Haynes said; therefore the "all" in Romans 8:28 is still as meaningful as ever. For we know that all things do work together for good if only we are following the Lord.

Elder Haynes said that there were approximately 2,000 Seventh-day Adventist boys in the army. Some of them are in Ireland, some in Iceland, others in Australia, and still others are in the United States. Fifty of these are former students of Union College.

Elder Haynes spoke, also, at the College View Seventh-day Adventist church the morning of June 6. He discussed the various stands taken during war time by different groups because of conscience. He said that Seventh-day Adventists are not conscientious objectors, but non-combatants. They are willing to help in the war effort in every way they can other than by killing. They will share the danger in order to save life and relieve the suffering, but not to kill. According to Elder Haynes they base their stand on the teachings and example of Jesus Christ and not on the Ten Commandments.

headquarters at Washington, D. C., spent nine days at the camp and gave a series of lectures on "Seventh-day Adventists and War." Also for four days two Red Cross instructors from the Midwestern Branch of the Red Cross, with headquarters at St. Louis, Missouri, gave a lay instructor's course in Red Cross work. Twenty-five men took the course and qualified as Red Cross representatives. Now their students can receive certificates for work taken under them.

Many of the men attending the camp did so at a personal financial sacrifice, but they were well pleased with the hospitality of Union College and the kindness accorded them while here.

This will be the last camp for Captain Crawford as he is to enter the Army soon. Several of the men either stayed to attend college or will return in the fall.

NARRATION (from page 1, col. 4)

made the statement that U. S. production of munitions of all kinds are pouring out in undreamed of volumes. In six months, since December 7, Uncle Sam has passed the rate of production that it has taken England 2 1/2 years to reach.

The first few days of June saw 1,130 British planes bomb the German city of Cologne into a million demisiquavers, 1,000 sweep France, 1,036 planes burst Essen into debris, 200 planes bomb Bremen, 200 (about) hit Emdem, 500 over the channel ports, 1,000 others fanned out for minor objectives. In all, from 6,000 to 7,000 planes, in eight days, swept over the continent.

From June 3 to 6 a mighty sea-air battle west of U. S. Midway Island in the Pacific Ocean saw a J-ape fleet beaten with the loss of three capital ships and eleven others heavily damaged, and the accompanying air arm wiped out.

These were all Allied milestones, but they were not the only moves. Germany steadily drove deeper into Russia, toward the oil fields which Russia must hold. The Japanese gained a foothold with an invasion force in the Aleutian Islands west of Dutch Harbor. General Rommel's forces in Lybia crushed the south wing of the Allied defense line, and slowly drove the defending British, Free French, and Indian troops back to the gates of Tobruk, back into the trap of the El Gazala salient. The Japanese moved further into China, slowly closing the circle of their giant sweep over the South Pacific, to the shores of Australia, and back up to Japan via Burma and the back door of China. A British convoy in the Mediterranean Sea lost several ships to an Italian attacking force.

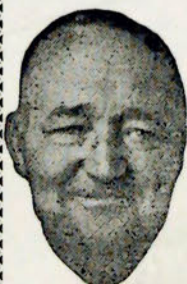

Behind the turning wheels of American industries lies the answer to the future progress of the war. "Keep 'em Flying."

Porch Party Given To Welcome Students

A party was given on the North Hall porch to welcome the summer school students the evening of June 13. The students gathered on the lawn just in front of the porch and the program was given from the steps.

The first number was a trumpet solo by Derryl Ogden. Mr. E. N. Dick gave a welcoming speech to the teachers and a farewell speech to the Medical Corps which was to finish its work the next day. Lillian Mantz played a piano solo. Mrs. Lowell Edwards gave a reading. Jewell Mohr sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." After that there was a short period for get-acquainted games.

to serve God and my country" because of the training given at the camp. Another said that the time spent at the camp was the most "profitable experience" of his life, both in a "military sense" and in a "spiritual sense." Still another said that although he did not gain a higher office, he gained a deeper Christian experience.

This is the fourth Medical Cadet Corps camp which has been held at Union College within the past three years.
